the colour

"Sunlights is the prefect technique for creating a summer glow all year round. Working around the hair line, we created fine weaves with foils to frame the face. With the remaining hair we left a natural root and then proceeded to lighten the lengths and ends. We have achieved a perfect balance and a relaxed colour result."

the style

Jayne Littler, Andrew Collinge Art Director explains how she created the hairstyle: "This is a great style for the client who is inspired by looks seen on the catwalk. It works well for long hair and is perfect for the girl who likes her hair to get noticed, but not look 'too' done". Jayne created the look by blow-drying the hair to give a casual wavy finish. BED HEAD Superstar Queen for a Day was applied to the wet hair section-by-section and sprayed from root to tip. This helps to create volume and holds the waves in place. A medium round brush was used to create height at the root and movement throughout the length of the hair. The hair was then divided into sections and the mid-lengths were waved using a large wand. Hair was pinned throughout the process and left to cool completely. Once cooled, the pins were removed and the hair was raked through just with the fingers, allowing the style to simply fall into shape.
