Welcome!

Hello. Thank you for reading the first issue of the Curious Volume newsletter. We hope to use this newsletter as a way to keep you updated on what we have going on, as well as a few extras.

Big D Show

We are excited to announce that we will be playing a show on Saturday April 28th, 2012 at The Studio at Webster Hall as an opening act for Big D & the Kids Table! If you want a ticket to this show ($13), you can either contact someone in the band OR order a ticket through our web store (and we'll ship it to you for free!) You don't want to miss this show--aside from Big D playing--because we'll be playing some NEW songs that you won't be able to hear anywhere else for a while.

Contact Help

While we have no definitive plans yet, we do want to be able to hit the road this summer--to play in places we've never been to before. As you might imagine, planning shows in far off parts of the country takes an awful lot of hard work to pull off. For some places, we already have some connections to help us out, but in others, we are practically flying blind. In those areas, we need all the help we can get--and even a tiny amount helps!--which is why we are turning to you. Below, to the left, is a list of cities that we want to hit. You may be thinking, "How exactly could I help? I don't know any bands, promoters, or venues in some city across the country...", and that is a fair point. But maybe your cool friend from your childhood summer camp who lives in the area might be able to put us up for a night (we clean up after ourselves, we promise), or maybe you know of your cousin's friend's former room mate's band that happens to be from the midwest. We've been at this long enough to know that, sometimes, the truth is stranger than fiction regarding how a show gets landed, and that every thread is worth following up on. So, if you have anything that may help, please let us know, we'd be eternally grateful. Thank you!

In the Studio

Starting in mid March, we took to the studio to record our song Rock Bottom. We are still in the middle of tracking it at the time of this newsletter, but we hope to finish it up soon. So far it is sounding somewhere between an A and an A+. We're not at liberty to announce too many specific release details just yet, but we're hoping to have it out in time to coincide with our summer plans, whatever turn out to be.
