

GNOMES

BY JOSEPH SKARTHBORGH

RACIAL BONUS

Any one trait +1

Gnomes are a small race of humanoids that call the dark underworld caverns their home. There are several species of gnomes, such as Oak, Marsh, and even a rumored branch known as the Littam Devunari, (lil-devils) who have chosen to follow the dark gods of other races.

Gnomes are known to be mischeivous, fun-loving, pranksters. Highly intelligent beings and wise beyond measure. The magical arts come natural to them, although it is just as common to follow the path of weaponry.

OAK GNOMES

This variety of gnome prefers living in woodland areas. Some can be found living in hollow oak trees or even constructed tree houses, although most can still be found in below ground dens within the forest. Forest gnomes are the most commonly interacted with type by other races and are very friendly with elves (+1 in dealings with elves) They usually stand 2 1/2 - 3 1/2 feet tall, and prefer earthy colored clothing.

MARSH GNOMES

Found in reptile infested swamp lands, the commonly called Marsh Gnomes are rarely seen, but abundant.

These gnomes are a wild variety and more tribal, wearing little to no clothing, and mounted upon giant toads and other reptililes.

GOLD GNOMES

Highly greedy and covetous of gold and riches, the Gold Gnomes are found in mountainous regions and are excellent miners. Guardians of the fruits of the earth and hard workers, yet fun loving tricksters that will stop at nothing to gain access to your shiny goodies.

LITTAM DEVUNARI

Often spoken of as the "Lil Devils" . The Devunari Gnomes are denizens of the deepest parts of the world and devoted to their evil lords.
