

Beautiful Things You Can Do with Fairy Lights

Fairy lights are an extremely popular decoration at Christmas, from colourful lights strung around the tree to icicle like blue lights hanging from window ledges and roof edges. Everyone loves them and they are relatively cheap to run, especially the newer LED lights, so here are some great ideas on how you can enjoy fairy lights all year round, not just at Christmas.

Create a Sparkling Flower Display

You can create a stunning visual display using silk or real flowers laced with beautiful outdoor

fairy lights. Find an unusually shaped branch or two and pop them in an eye catching vase. Then wrap around some colourful fairy lights and fill in the gaps with a multitude of fake flowers. Choose battery lighting if possible with the battery case hidden inside the vase, which will look much better than having a cable trailing from the vase to the wall. For an elegant display try white flowers with clear or pale blue fairy lights, or for something altogether more eye catching opt for a spray of multicoloured blooms with equally colourful fairy lights.

Drape over Paintings

Add a unique touch to your home decor with sparkling fairy lights draped around works of art or your favourite ornaments. The fairy lights will draw attention to the decorations and are the perfect alternative to a bright ceiling light in the evenings, to create a warm and homely atmosphere. LED fairy lights are very cheap to run and so can be used as decoration all year round.

Create your Dream Wedding Venue

Fairy lights add magic to any event and there are plenty of ways that you can incorporate them into your wedding decorations for an unforgettable venue. If you are planning to marry outside, pick a location surrounded by trees, fill them with twinkling fairy lights and have the ceremony in the evening for best effect. Alternatively, if you are going for a more traditional wedding you can still create a stunning reception venue with the help of some fairy lights. Choose a marquee or other indoor venue, dim the lights and cover the ceiling with a spread of net lighting. You will have all the warmth and comfort of the indoors but with a very beautiful, starry sky above your head.

Decorate the House for a Party

Indoor Fairy lights can be enjoyed at any age so whether you are organising a birthday party for your daughter or for your partner, there is no need to splash out on an expensive venue for the event when you can easily create the same atmosphere at home. Pick out one room, tidy it to perfection, add some nibbles on a table and string multi coloured, flashing fairy lights around the walls for your own mini disco at home. Battery lighting can also be used to decorate tables, chairs and anything else that takes your fancy, and the fact that these lights do not need to be plugged into a wall means there is no danger of guests tripping over cables.

Bring the Stars Indoors

Children will love to fall asleep watching the stars on their bedroom ceiling. A large sheet of net lighting is the perfect choice for bringing the outdoors in, whilst the fairy lights will also work as a night light for children. It is the perfect solution for children afraid of the dark as the lights have a low energy consumption so can be left on overnight, whilst providing just enough light for the child to sleep easy.

These are just some of the many things that can be done with fairy lights. From red lights to set a romantic mood at Valentines to sparkling white lights at Christmas, they are perfect for any occasion and purpose. When you want to decorate the ceiling net lighting is ideal and very quick and easy to install, creating the effect of a starry night sky right above your head. For outdoors events when there will not be a power socket to hand, or if you simply want to minimise the number of cables on show, battery lighting allows you to bring the magic of these twinkling lights to any celebration, in any location, at any time.
