Free Dog Training Tips - Expert Advice

By Lindsey Jenkins

Often times when a new pet is introduced to the family, there are some issues that will need ironing out. This is especially true if you get a puppy that hasn't been trained for anything and just wants to play all the time. In order to get your new friend to be obedient and enjoy life with moments of lucidity, you'll need to look into free dog training tips. Often times, you'll find that experts write blogs, post articles, and try their best to communicate ideas for pet lovers that are looking to train their latest addition to the family. If you or someone you know is in search for some ideas, consider the following free advise as some of the highlights that you might see from online forums and more.

Never Stop Training - The first thing that you'll need to know in regards to training your pet is that you never really stop. You need to continually shape your dog's future by showing them lessons and when they accomplish the tasks, give them a treat. You'll be able to first train them, then reinforce rules, introduce them to other things, and have a best friend that is well behaved. However, there are going to be times when there is a relapse of old behavior, and to curb that, you'll need to remember to not throw in the towel, but to continue to train as time goes on.

Exercise - When you're seeking out free dog training tips, you'll probably see experts recommending that you exercise with your pet. This is a great idea, and the more you exercise with your friend the closer they will become to you and will be more prone to obeying your commands. They'll naturally turn submissive and will be confident at your side because you are sharing a special designated time with them. Reward them at the end of your exercise routine, and they'll be docile and loyal over time.

Play Time - Make sure that you don't spend all your time trying to train your pet. You might find that this method is a bit out of the ordinary in some eyes, but it truly does help them out. As the old adage says, "all work and no play..." the same can be true for a puppy. Don't just train all the time when you're with them, take some time to play and have fun, let them know that you care and treat them with great care.

The aforementioned free dog training tips are just a handful of ideas that you can take with you in the process of teaching your pet new ideas, reinforcing old ones, and simply loving them. You will find that there is nothing quite like having a newfound friend joins you in this world. You can have an obedient companion that looks out for you and is truly loyal. It starts with training them from the first time you bring them home, through their adult years. With time, and effort you will find that you can train them to be quite fun.

Dog Training Tips To Maximize Your Success

By Agusta Santoso

Dog training is really not as complicated as you think it might be, actually it is rather simple even with no experience. If you have recently added a new member to your family, you might be wondering how to begin training them. Well, if this is the case you have come to the right place. This article will give you some great tips on dog training to help you be ultimately successful while training your dog. Remember that your dog will get big quickly, and not properly training your dog can lead to a number of problems.

Just as it is hard for a small child to stay focused for an extended period of time, the same is true for your puppy. Long dog training sessions can end up backfiring by burning out your pooch. By training your dog in several short sessions each day can help to keep them focused and eager to learn. Try not to overwhelm your puppy and remember to go slow. After all, it is your puppy that is learning the new task so allow them to do it at their own pace.

You should avoid using negative reinforcement when training your puppy. Dogs respond best to positive reinforcement such as treats and loads of praise. Giving your dog positive responses will encourage and motivate them to keep learning and making you happy. Using negative reinforcement will more than likely only teach your dog to be timid and fear you, which will lead to issues in the future.

To have a well-rounded dog it is important to properly socialize them around other people and animals. Dog parks are a great way to expose your dog to social situations. Dogs that are not properly socialized at an early age can become fearful of people, or aggressive towards other animals. Take your puppy out with you as often as possible and they will learn to love the attention, and make friends with other dogs.

If it is more than just you living in your household, you want to make sure your dog listens to everyone, not just you. This is why it is so important to get the whole household involved with the dog training. This will also teach the dog to respect the other members of the house, even if they are not seen as the alpha.

It is okay to admit that you need help from someone with more experience. Sometimes puppies can be particularly hard to train, so seeking the help of a professional can work wonders. This can also be necessary if you rescue a dog that is overly aggressive or fearful. Knowing your limitations will help you to ultimately be successful.

Use positive reinforcement with your dog. When he displays a desired behavior reward him. You can reward him with treats that he does not get often. You can also give him extra hugs or praise him. Your dog wants to make you happy and when he sees that his behaviors please you, he will continue to do that behavior. Positive reinforcement works much better with dogs than screaming or yelling.

Discipline your dog when he does something he is not supposed to do. The discipline should come right after the undesired behavior so your dog can connect the discipline with the behavior that he just displayed. Waiting too long will not help the behavior.

Be patient with your dog. A dog does not have a long attention span so his training sessions should be kept short. The younger the dog, the less time he will be able to focus on learning a new skill. If you see your dog is no longer interested in the training that is going on, stop and resume at a later time. Trying to train a dog that is not into it will do nothing but overwhelm the both of you. If your dog is not getting a certain skill fast enough, use your patience and remember that he does want to disappoint you.

Dog training is an important aspect of pet ownership. Ensuring that your puppy develops into a happy and well rounded dog is completely up to you. A well trained dog will make your life much easier, and make for a great lifelong companion. Follow the tips shared in this article and you will find that your dog training efforts can be successful.

Looking To Train Your Dog Online - Read Here For Some Free Dog Training Tips

By Mike Hartmann

Are you a new dog owner looking to train your new found friend? Here are some interesting training tips to get you started. There are a couple different options available to you. Either you can train the pet yourself or look for a qualified obedience instructor.

Dog instructors can differ as far as fees are concerned. Also another thing to consider is where the classes are located. If you are the trainer, the whole thing can be done for no money and at your home. The only trick is this will require a little more time. I guess you decided to become the trainer. We will give you free dog training tips and some knowledge on dog training to begin.

The main three basic commands to start with and build off are - sit, come, and stay. We will start with the sit command All these tricks require some type of treat. I like to use cheerios, since they are small and don't affect the dog's weight long term. Any treat will do. I recommend to split them up into smaller bites since training takes a little bit. Please select a "distraction free zone" so the animal will be more attentive. Instruct the dog to sit while your hold the treat above is head but not too high.

This will make him turn his head up to look at the treat and will be waiting for it.

Some dogs require a little more attention and require you to push gently down on their backside. As soon as the action is performed, sitting, praise him/her and give them a treat. Repetition is required and your dog will familiarize "sitting" with getting a reward. The next "trick" is to teach your animal how to stay. Teaching the dog how to stay is requires more repetition and can be a litte difficult. This action is tied into "come" which is the next part of this trick. Have the animal sit in place or in the same area

Make sure you repeat the word "stay" while moving backwards slowly. This part is especially tricky. Keep in eye contact and look at the dog in the eyes. As soon as he rises to follow you, use a firm "no" and start over. This does require patience I must say. You can also try have a friend or family member hold him back if he does not "stay"

Some dogs will require a tweak or two to the trick.

Here is another way to try the "stay" command. Start walking away from the dog with your back facing the dog. Chances are he will rise and follow you. Instruct him with a firm "no" and repeat the process using the "stay" command. When your dog has passed, now move on to the "come" command. Start with the "stay" command and call his name in a friendly voice and then hit your knee and you repeat the word "come". As soon as he comes to you, reward him and praise him.

The main focus of this training is to praise the dog and not to punish him. Animals in general respond to positive reinforcement. Keep in mind that these three basic commands are a great base to a well behaved animal.

If you follow these free dog training tips, you will be the proud and happy owner of a great animal that everybody will praise and love.

These free dog training tips will point you in the right direction if you want to train your animal the right way. Everyone loves a well behaved dog.

by Jack

Check out this dog training online review written by writer Dove Cresswell. But if your desire is an obedient, well behaved doggy, you've got to visit the dove cresswell review. Dove's courses, e-books and internet based information provides everything required also it would not cost you an arm or a leg like those highly-priced schools or even pricey dog trainers.

The way the Dove Cresswell Review sees it, everybody should be able to afford a well behaved dog. Doesn't downloading tips and training your dog yourself make more sense than driving somewhere to pay an over priced trainer? Having everything you need at the tip of your finger without having to leave the comfort of home certainly is appealing.

Based in Hollywood, Cresswell has extensive dog training experience.

Educate yourself before you get started. Learn what mistakes other dog owners make. Here is a list:

1. Don't pull the collar at the same time you're telling your dog to "Heel!"

What you are doing is sending your dog the wrong message. Dogs that are trained this way will expect the collar to be moved everytime the command "Heel!" is given.

2. You must be specific when using the commands "Down" and "Off":

The dog needs to learn to lie down when it hears the command "Down". However, when you say the command "Off", then that means you want your dog to get off of something. The easier you make it for your dog, the quicker it will learn.

3. Be close to your dog when making a command:

Dogs don't particularly enjoy learning commmands. Some dogs become fearful of people.

Complaints:

It would have been better if more real life examples were used so that the statements would be more relevant.

Refund:

Anyone not satisfied with this material can return it within 60 days for a full refund.

Conclusion:

Dog trainers are more expensive than our online course. They can also do the program at their own pace since all the content of this guide are easily downloadable online anyway.

My Opinion:

Click below and train our dog in your own home at your convenience.

Is your dog a real problem? You have to step-up to the plate and browse our dove cresswell review.
