

Xander

I would like you to meet Xander. His mommy and three siblings were rescued late on a Saturday night. No one knew that he was out there on his own until Thursday. Hurt, he had gotten separated from his mommy. This brave little guy was found on Thursday, with a badly broken leg. He managed to survive almost five days on his own, hurt and scared, with no food or water. He was rushed to the vets, and the kind people at S.A.I.N.T.S., a non-profit charity organization dedicated to helping homeless and abused animals in Sudbury, agreed to take him on and help save his life with an emergency amputation. Any donations you can give to help with the costs of his hospitalization is greatly appreciated.
