By participating in the Silent Auction for the 2013 Black and White Gala, each bidder agrees to these Silent Auction Rules.

1. All items in the Silent Auction have bid sheets on the display table near them with a title that includes "item name and number" clearly printed at the top of each bid sheet. Be sure to read titles prior to placing bids to ensure you are bidding on the correct item. The start and close times for the Silent Auction shall be as designated by 2M Consulting and the companies and personnel running the auction ("Auction Personnel") and are subject to change without notice. All items are sold on behalf of the Beverly Hills Police Officers Association ("BHPOA") and sales and payments cannot be transferred to another charity.

2. All purchases are final and binding, and there are no exchanges or refunds. Certificates provided are the same as cash and cannot be replaced if lost or stolen.

3. Each Silent Auction participant will be assigned an auction bid number during registration. When you want to bid, do so by writing your bid number, phone number and other required information on the bid sheet opposite the amount you want to bid. You may bid on an item until the bidding on that item is closed. The initial bid must satisfy the minimum bid amount and each subsequent bid must satisfy the minimum bid increase in order to be a valid bid.

4. All items are sold "as is" and the Beverly Hills Police Officers Association, the Auction Personnel, and the Black and White Gala make no actual or implied representation or warranty regarding any of the items in the Silent Auction, including with respect to the authenticity or quality or condition of any goods provided. The Auction Personnel have attempted to describe items correctly based on the information provided by donors. The Auction Personnel are not responsible for any misstatements or failure in the description of the Silent Auction items, and no statement (written or oral, and whether or not in the Silent Auction catalog) regarding a Silent Auction item shall be deemed a representation or warranty.

5. Bidders are expected to read fine print included with bid sheets for any restrictions, exclusions, or exemptions related to the good or services being bid upon. Be sure to note any applicable expiration and/or blackout dates. With regard to trips and vacations, the winning bidder is solely responsible for making all travel arrangement and the Auction Personnel are not responsible with respect to any travel arrangements.

6. The values listed for Silent Auction items are estimates of fair market value as provided by the vendor or as reasonably determined by the Auction Personnel. Items have not been appraised and the BHPOA and the Auction Personnel make no representation as to value. Please consult your tax advisor to clarify the amount of permissible tax deduction related to your purchase.

7. Winners will be notified the night of the Black and White Gala and must purchase and take their items that night. Any items not paid for and taken that night may be resold to another bidder. Payment must be made by check (made payable to "BHPOA") or credit card (Mastercard, Visa or American Express only).

8. Neither the BHPOA nor the Auction Personnel nor the Black and White Gala shall be responsible for: (i) any failure or cancellation or breach by the vendors providing the goods or services, nor (ii) any failure by a vendor to fulfill the terms of a winning bid, even if the result of a closure of the business, nor (iii) any event beyond their control which affects any travel arrangements or services purchased at the Silent Auction. No failure or delay or breach by a vendor shall relieve the winning bidder from the obligation to accept and pay for purchased items.

9. In the event of a dispute regarding any matter related to the Silent Auction, including what party is the winning bidder, the decision of the Auction Coordinators is final.
