The FEDCO chain, known for its perfume and appeal products in Colombia for over 30 years, is proud to make Burt's quality items readily available to its consumers. Like FEDCO, Burt's Bees shares a passionate commitment to durability and social duty.

Burt's is taken into consideration the leading all-natural appeal treatment brand in the United States and has actually been offering environment-friendly charm products for over 25 years. The firm's viewpoint is determined by producing all-natural products to make the most of elegance and wellbeing as well as its commitment to social duty and the setting.

The business determines itself as an "Earth friendly, organic individual treatment brand." This approach is in keeping with FEDCO's longstanding commitment to offering quality products in a socially responsible and eco aware way.

Burt's generates different line of product for the hair, face, lips, body, mother and infant, as well as guys and outside treatment. All of their products are accredited as organic and are clarified with such active ingredients as pomegranate draw out, imperial jelly and aloe vera. Parabens, petrochemicals or sulphates are not utilized and none of Burt's Bees products are animal tested.
