A Life Worth Living

www.lifeandspirit.org

To live the way one chooses to live his life seems the best freedom ever to be desired. But the question is: How have I chosen to live? Have I chosen to add meaning to life or be a part of the meaningless? Have I chosen to shape or wreck lives? What kind of life am I desiring? Is it a life worth living?

The average person wants the liberty to live just as recklessly and void as possible. Many are seeking to explore everything dirty and criminal but history is full of past questions and answers. What has been the profit of wasteful, purposeless living? If the life you have chosen to live is that which has an end of pain, silent tears, and deep regrets impossible to share, then it is not worth living.

What joy is there in being a child whose name rings sadness in the ears of his parents, a wife whose life emits an odour of infidelity or a husband without any sensible responsible relationship with his family. Society has been destroyed by purposeless people. The good life many despise hasn't hurt anyone but the evil many desire is the reason why the world is full of hate, cruelty and everything wicked. You don't have to be a part of the mess!

I'm also well aware of the fact that you are trying to be good, but seems like you are helpless. Truth be told, you are helpless in yourself. But God is able to help you in the most simple way.

What if you can have a better future where there's no self inflicted problem? I mean having the power and strength to resist and break every destructive habit and living an authentic life that expends its energy on productive activities. I'm talking about a life of great impacts. I'm talking about the kind of life that makes your death a loss to the world. I'm talking about a life that counts in every way. Do you desire this life?

Let me further speak of this life. It's a life in which you can live without worries and anxieties. It's a life in which death ceases to be a threat. It's a life in which you stop being a victim and start taking charge of every oppression around you. It's a life in which the very power to stay healthy and not be a victim of the doctor's needles and knives is available to you fully. It's a life beyond living right, rather it's a life of being right in essence. Your very nature and whole being cries out for uprightness. You become a free man indeed. Free to live right because you are right. Do you desire this life?

You can have that life freely today. Now I know you might have heard about Jesus, but I'm not sure you heard right about Him. He was the best confidant sinners ever had. The friend of the common man. The strong arm stretched out to the weak and fainting. He is the only one who never sinned yet never pointed fingers or cast a stone. He ultimately went to pay for your sins on the cross and has made a way for you to be reconciled with God. Yes, you! No matter who you are or what you've done.

He did it just for you. His friends as we read in the bible were those He picked up from the dirtiest states. He had prostitutes, thieves, drunkards, and name them. Listen to Him yourself: Matthew 9:13; '...for I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.'

And hear what they said about Him : Mark 2:16; 'And when the scribes and Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, "How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?"

That's the Jesus of the Bible, your Savior and helper. He condemns no one. He came to save. Have you believed these reports? If you have, you have received a new life. You can believe now and you should and be saved. The only thing left after being saved is a renewal of your mind. Read your bible daily, fellowship with believers, and have a great time in the new life you have found. It is worth living!
