Born in union, New Jersey on the same day as Lucille Ball and Andy Warhol. Not the same year. Son to Jack and Edna. My love for actors, photography art and beauty began when I was just a boy, enraptured by the captivating images of television and film. I believe this industry and everything it encompasses has had a profound impact on me and the world, Thus upon landing in Los Angeles, I began my journey and life's work. I have been shooting actors for the last 24 years. I have seen the rise of many careers, and it brings me great joy to be a spoke in the wheel of a tremendous dream. I've shot Amy Adams, Kristen Bell, Angie Harmon, Peter Facinelli, Jim Caviezal, Taraji P. Henson, and upwards of twelve thousand passionate, fascinating, richly textured actors between Los Angeles and New York. What I like to bring to the table is my exacting eye and experience in knowing what shot will capture the best you.

He's Still Paul, still has the same integrity and great taste!

Now, his work actually sets us apart from the rest. So many newbie's are having a friend or their mom their headshot with a great digital camera. Or just going cheap. And they look cheap, like they don't care. When you have quality and a picture that speaks to you, you stand out. I got my first agent with pics from Paul and I will always choose Paul, until I don't need a headshot anymore lol.

Then I'll just come visit. He's the real deal!

THINGS PAUL SAYS

"Your head shot is the key to opening the door to your dreams."

"If the question is where do I fit in? The answer is: combine your dreams with reality. could you really see yourself hanging with Leighton Meester, and Penn Badgely, or Jim Caviezel and Angie Harmon: Then let's get that look and feel in your photo. The actor's journey is figuring out who they are and how they fit in. the challenge is to fit in with the rest of the cast but to still stand out as an original."
