Notes and Tips

Tips: Using the SKIP button on the in-game interface will allow you to skip already read text.

By default the game is set to pause when the window is minimized or not in focus. You can change that in the settings menu (Settings > System > Continue playing in the background)

You can actually add notes to save files. It's a little awkward, but if you hover over a save to activate it, then carefully mouse off the screen so that you don't hit any other saves in the process and then mouse back onto the game screen where the big save display is and click on it the game will let you edit the text displayed in the save box.

Hint mode becomes available once you play through one route (Menu > Play style > Hint mode). It'll only 'spoil' things you've already completed.

Spoiler mode options become available on a per-route basis on the character options tab (under body hair settings). It's automatically set to on once you complete a character's route (Haru spoilers get turned on after you complete any route). Turning it off hides 'spoiler' scenes and lines.
