

THE CLEAREST PATH TO CAREER FULFILLMENT STARTS WITH PAREXEL

Come on board and join our team at PAREXEL as an Intern (f/m) in Recruitment Marketing EMEA in Berlin, Germany.

JOB DESCRIPTION

You will work closely with the Senior Recruitment Marketing Specialist and support the Talent Acquisition (TA) team with the execution of internal and external marketing projects, such as:

- Dive into market research: External labor market, macro-economic and competitive intelligence for specific regions in order to build an effective external TA strategy.
- Get active on events: Participate in the planning and executing hiring events and conferences, whether they are in-person or virtual.
- Influence our social employer brand: Actively create content for social media channels, engage with communities and social media monitoring.

KEY QUALIFICATIONS

You put an emphasis on Marketing Communication in your university/college study course. Thanks to your first experiences from project team work during studies or previous internships, you bring along:

- A flexible and change oriented mind with respect to work assignments and new learning.
- Creative thinking and the ability to manage multiple tasks.
- Excellent interpersonal, verbal, and written communication skills in German and English.
- You are flexible and you can work a minimum of 40 hours per week over the duration of a 3-6 month internship.
- Ability to work independently with good organizational skills.

- Experienced with Microsoft based applications and general knowledge of PC functions (Adobe software, i.e. Photoshop and InDesign is a plus).

If you bring these skills along and you are interested — we would like to take you on our journey.
