Parents of autistic children have reported such gains as:

- Anger control
- Reduced stimming
- A great reduction in self-injurious behaviors
- Reduction in bizarre behaviors
- Bladder and bowel awareness and control
- Easing of obsessive compulsive behaviors
- Normal appetite control
- Less picky eating
- Increased sociability
- New self-awareness

Yes, There Is Help For Alzheimer's!

Anyone who has ever watched a friend or loved one's personality melt away from the terrible effects of this dread disease is well aware of its dire prognosis. Victims lose their short and long term memory, become irritable and abusive, unable to take care of themselves, suffer incontinence and eventually wind up in diapers in a nursing home, oftentimes drugged into insensibility to keep them quiet.
