

1st YEAR COMPUTER PROGRAMMING MENTORING

Date: 1-2-2016

Duration: 50 Mins

Volunteers:

Venue: CS - 1 (I - A)

Spoorthi Raju (2-A), Brijit Joshua (2-A)

Objectives:

This event is volunteered by ACM Student Chapter members of 2nd Year B.Tech CSE, as part of a Series of interactive session on Mentoring the 1st year CSE students to create interest and orientation towards C Programming and computer science career.

- Bring awareness regarding the present situation in computing field.
- Inculcate interest towards competitive programming and logical thinking in students.

Description:

- Introduction about college environment and student clubs. Mentioned about the student friendly environment in CSE department and about the experienced faculty.
- Importance of strong basics in "C Language" and its use in learning and understanding other crucial languages.
- Importance of getting recruited in product based companies to CSE graduates rather than service based companies was mentioned.
- Introduced them to the basics of "C Language".
- Some common doubts related to the C language were discussed and clarified.
- At the end of the session, Participants were asked for Feedback.

Event Pictures:

Explaining the importance of C Language by volunteers to 1-A students.

