

W a i t F o r D a r k

P r o s e S c o r e s

Civilized

Desire

Flesh+tears

History

Imagine

Lost

Love

Pets

Spinoza

Civilized

For any social setting with food

File it in and never swallow.

Desire

For performer alone in a diner

Four maple syrup on everything.

Flesheaters

2015

Marinate the meat.

Help

2015

Please help to remind me of obvious things.

History

2015

Complete one of the following:

1. A history of rectal surgery.
2. A history of linguistic profanity.
3. A history of deep fried food.
4. An evolutionary account of The Orifice.

Imagine one.

Lost

For solo performer.

2015

Enter the woods. Carry nothing. Leave the path. Seek out the highest peak.
Climb as far as possible. Wait for dark.

Make love on the laundry.

Pets

2015

Floss. Feed it to your cat.

Spinoza

For solo performer at 4:00 a.m. local time on or near the winter solstice.

2014

Prepare for bedtime as usual. Once in your bedroom, get a little more high than you normally would. Open your computer to its system preferences. Ensure that the speaking voice selected in the "Text to Speech" section of "Speech" preferences is set to Victoria. Open the web browser and search for The Ethics by Baruch Spinoza. Raise the volume of the built-in computer speakers as high as it will go. Highlight the entire text of "Part I. Concerning God." Control-click the highlighted text and under the "Speech" sub-menu select "Start speaking." Ensure all window blinds are closed and turn off all lights before finally turning off your computer's display by pressing control-shift-eject. Get into bed and try to fall asleep.

