Gardens by the Bay

Gardens by the Bay (Chinese: 滨海湾花园; pinyin: bīnhǎi wān huāyuán) is a park spanning 101 hectares (1,010,000 m2) of reclaimed land[1] in central Singapore, adjacent to the Marina Reservoir. The park consists of three waterfront gardens: Bay South Garden, Bay East Garden and Bay Central Garden. The largest of the three gardens is Bay South Garden, standing at 54 hectares.

Gardens by the Bay is an integral part of a strategy by the Singapore government to transform Singapore from a "Garden City" to a "City in a Garden". The stated aim is to raise the quality of life by enhancing greenery and flora in the city.

SKU #0000001

Bay Central Garden will act as a link between Bay South and Bay East Gardens. It stands at 15 hectares (37 acres) with a 3-kilometre (1.9 mi) waterfront promenade that allows for scenic walks stretching from the city centre to the east of Singapore.

Bay East Garden is 32 hectares (79 acres) in size and it has a 2-kilometre (1.2 mi) promenade frontage that embroiders the Marina Reservoir.

Nearby Places of Interest

Vibrant and dynamic, Yangon (Rangoon) is situated on a spit of a land surrounded on three sides by water. Named Yangon - "end of strife" - by King Alaungpaya in 1775, it is one of the most charming and the most beautiful of capital cities in South East Asia. Yangon continues to be the hub of economic activity, and the gateway for most international visitors.

Shwedagon Pagoda

The stunning Shwedagon Paya is the centrepiece of the city, a gleaming golden stupa visible from all over town. A leisurely walk on the grounds of the compound of Shwedagon is simply awe-inspiring especially at sunset. Shwedagon, which is surrounded by 64 smaller pagodas and numerous temples and pavilions, is full of sweet air with the perfume of the incense and flowers, the sound of the voices of young Buddhist nuns chanting prayers in the ancient Pali language and the melodies of the countless small brass bells that adorn the pagodas.

Kandawgyi (Royal) Lake & Karaweik Palace

Kandawgyi (Royal) Lake is one of the most beautiful parts of Yangon - it lies in the midst of the city, but is fairly quiet and is surrounded by parks and gardens. It is a nice place to go for a stroll, or if you just want to get away from the crowded marketplaces in Yangon. Try to get there a little before sunset - the locals say that the sunsets of Kandawgyi Lake are perhaps the loveliest you'll get to see anywhere. Located on the eastern shore of the Kandawgyi Royal Lake in the city of Yangon is the Karaweik Palace.
