

I work in a supermarket.

I grew up in the beach.

I like save lives.

The position appeals me for several reason.

I have always want to be a lifeguard.

I am a hard-work student.

I approved a first-aid course during the summer.

Wind-surf is one of my favorite sport.

I greatly enjoy to interact with others.

I will attend a competition of iron men.

Physical education was my career at the university.

Most people that go to the beach are in very good shape.

Saving lives is very satisfied.

I have two brothers, Samuel and Theresa.

My parents growed up abroad and move to Chile in the 1980s.

Doing artificial respiration is one of my specialties.

During the Tsunami warning in Viña del Mar, I help many person to get to high ground.

I like being in the outdoor and would like to work there as well.

Wading in the water is usually less danger than to swim.

It is a good idea to use a life-coat when on a small boat.

Many youngsters plays volleyball in the beach.

A lot of people is not concerned about their safety.

I learn a lot about first-aid when I was a child.

Please call me for an interview.

I am free for an interview whenever you like.

My schedule is wide open at the moment since I was fired from my last job.

When I saw your advertisement in the local paper, I knew I have to response.

My experience make me a strong candidate for the position.

I was raised with the protestant work ethic and has never be late a day in your life.

Like our customers, my co-workers appreciates my helping attitude.

Bagging groceries, I have decided, is not something I wants doing for the rest of my life.

My people skills are the product of having worked in client service for a long time.

To the surprise of many people, the beach can be a dangerously place.

Athletes likes to show off their body at the beach.

Young children need to be accompany at all time by their fathers.

Fishermen appreciate how danger is the ocean.