- A. Oldfield, Teacher, NSW

Improves learning outcomes

Schools using LiteracyPlanet achieve higher NAPLAN results.

LiteracyPlanet is proven by independent research to provide a significant effect in improving reading outcomes for children who are poor readers.

McArthur G. et al (2015), 'Replicability of sight word training and phonics training in poor readers: a randomised controlled trial.' PeerJ 3:e922.

“ Scientific studies show that learning depends on attention, repetition and immediate feedback. LiteracyPlanet provides all of these things in a highly entertaining and rewarding environment that motivates children. ”

Professor G. McArthur, Head of Department of Cognitive Science, Macquarie University

Based on a national sample of schools using LiteracyPlanet in the year groups tested, for a minimum of 12 months prior to the 2015 NAPLAN tests. Equitable representation of state, independent and Catholic schools.

What Educators Say...

“ LiteracyPlanet is like an extra pair of hands in my classroom... The versatility of having both the website and the app can't be beat. ”

- D. Jarrett, Teacher, NSW

“ LiteracyPlanet allows students to explore fundamental literacy skills in a fun and engaging way. By providing an engaging game-based program with challenging tasks, students are encouraged to achieve a high level of accuracy in all areas of literacy. ”

- J. Wong, Teacher, VIC

“ There is clear evidence over the years since we began with LiteracyPlanet that our NAPLAN results in particular have strengthened. ”

- Dr. I. Lambert, Principal, NSW

“ We have seen a dramatic increase in our students' literacy levels and we believe that LiteracyPlanet has been a major factor in this improvement. ”

- J. Cameron, Vice Principal, VIC

“ LiteracyPlanet gives students the opportunity to progress at their own level without pressure, while having fun at the same time. The program is interactive, educationally sound, sequential, colourful and inviting. ”

- G. Prescott, SPELD, SA

“ I have never in my whole teaching career come across a program that so excites and motivates children to want to learn. ”

- S. Hall, Support Teacher, QLD

“ Every week I speak to a new principal, teacher, parent or community member who wants their child to have access to LiteracyPlanet. I have never encountered an educational program that children are so eager and willing to take part in. ”

- C. Kennedy - Literacy Support Teacher, NSW
