OBJECTIVE

To secure honourable morally-based employment at a G-Dly Establishment where I can serve G-D while using the many abilities which HE Gave me to earn a dignified living wage.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Inspired Works In Different Categories 1983 — Present

Poet And Scholarly Writer Of Books And Papers

- I conduct traditional in-library book research or Internet research for the further product enhancement of the works that I write.
- I re-read and edit the works in their often hand-written rough-draft form, making the necessary corrections, prior to using the Microsoft and/or other Word Processing Programmes to re-write them in a typed format.
- I make either my own visual illustrations, or search for public domain images to incorporate within the original written work.
- I aptly design, in an often uniquely decorative fashion, the layout of the pages of the authored work using several programmes, and then convert the file of the finished work into a pdf format.

Private Residences

June 1997 — April 2004

Private In-Home Tutor And Occasional Governess

- I occasionally stayed babysitting the children within their houses in a very trustworthy manner.
- I helped the children with their homework and tested them on their given school curriculum.
- I would teach the children a wide variety of subjects (including the arts), and afterwards I would formulate individualized practice tests for the children, in order to evaluate what were their strengths, as well as their fragile areas requiring more concentrated resolution.
- I would assist the children with different school projects, including occasional science fair projects.
- I would prepare the children for upcoming school tests, and teach them study skills which I had learned through my own intensive personal self-study, and from reading child development articles in the numerous parenting magazines which I had at one time.
- I would help the children with school- requested research papers, likewise I would occasionally accompany them to the library to take out the necessary books, and at times I even supervised them while they engaged in indoor-library research. I would also supervise and often guide their online research for certain school papers.
- I would give the children Torah-based moral mentoring.

- I often taught the children placed under my care additional subjects which were not stipulated in their school's official curriculum, in order to place them way ahead of their classroom peers, and to implant in them a life-saving authentic love of learning.

Rite-Aide Pharmacy: 5901 Bay
Parkway Brooklyn, New York 11204
(718) 236-6366

April 2000 — May 2000

Cashier And Occasional Customer Service Representative

- I worked primarily at the cash register.
- I occasionally stocked the shop shelves, but only when the products did not violate Biblical Law. I would refuse to stock shelves with certain products which violated my Biblical Jewish Faith (examples of products that I would refuse to stock on the shop's shelves, would be pork and shell-fish "food" products, Easter products, boxes of condoms, and boxes of cigarettes, among other items).
- When I was required to provide customer service to any extent, I did in fact provide customers of different ethnicities reliable, ethical, and genuinely amiable customer service by assisting them to search for specific items within the shop.
- I ethically went beyond the anticipated customer service expectations of the Rite-Aid management personnel, and morally recommended to the customers to purchase stop-smoking kits (including the gradually weaning nicotine patch) instead of cigarettes, while explaining to them the dreadful perils of smoking. I also gave nutritional advice (and spoke about Holistic medicine) to any interested customers in an earnestly friendly and non-forceful way, when they spoke of certain food products. I likewise truthfully informed the clientele to avoid purchasing food products with small holes on the packaging within the establishment, because at the time there was a minor vermin problem within the shop, and I did not desire any of the customers to become ill.
- I did take the then necessary initiative to voluntarily resign from this position (which I held simultaneously while I privately tutored several children) because my religious beliefs were not being respected most of the time, and I was going through much tumultuous and extreme moral discomfort with certain things that I was, on a few occasions, forced to do, for I had to ring up certain questionable merchandise, even while protesting in an irritated yet civil fashion. I was never fired from the Rite-Aid establishment, but in truth I voluntarily resigned. I naturally gave the required notifications to the manager attesting to my upcoming voluntary resignation.

Cobble Hill Nursing Home Address:
380 Henry St, Brooklyn, NY 11201
(718) 855-6789

July 1993 — August 1993

Assistant Recreational Therapist Apprentice

- I worked within the recreation department at the Cobble Hill Nursing Home, providing clean, wholesome, and cultured musical entertainment to bed-ridden residents (who were mostly very elderly) as a form of musical therapy. I also provided clean and sober musical entertainment for the general resident population within the mentioned nursing home.
- I would sing primarily, classical music at recitals performed within the nursing home.

- I would play my wooden recorder (utilizing the sheet music of several selected works which I would independently choose before any given performance, for I would always carry with several music score songbooks which I owned, for this specific purpose) for groups of residents within different sections of the nursing home. I would rotate each day within the different areas of the nursing home (keeping records in meticulously kept hand-filled charts of both the exact number of people being entertained and the identities of those very spectator residents, likewise maintaining track daily of those being entertained at each nursing home section), and in this fashion I would entertain several groups of residents daily.
- I composed two short songs (both the lyrics and the music score) for a clean theatrical that was to be performed for the resident population. The songs became a hit with the residents!
- I, on very few occasions, assisted the permanent recreation department personnel with minor clerical duties, and would help them to sort out their own nursing home performance schedules.

Henry Street Settlement-The Abrons
Arts Center:466 Grand Street, New York, NY 10002 (212) 598-0400

January 1993 — June 1993

Receptionist/Clerk

- My employment within this one-time quite respectable establishment thankfully predates, by many years, their somewhat recent tragic involvement (commencing in the beginning of the twenty-first century) in certain so-called "art" presentations (both visual and theatrical) which in truth shamefully constitute pornography. At the time of my employment at the Henry Street Settlement Abrons Arts Centre (Center) in the year of 1993, the establishment was overwhelmingly respectable, and as such, the then truly educational institution, catered in their varied stimulating artistic activities and fascinating events to nuclear families, many of whom had small children. There were exhibitions, for an example, of gifted children's visual art, and of urban photography uniquely captured by conservatively-driven yet visually avant-guard adult photographers, representing through their creative lens colourful New York City scenes, all expressively displayed on the walls of the spacious arts centre. The arts centre at that time was a place where children could walk about anywhere within, and look at any of the artistic displays while attending their visual arts, dance, or music classes, or while assisting to any arts event being hosted for the more widespread New York City community.

- I would make deliveries for some of the supervising administrative office personnel at the Arts Centre, by carrying mostly parcels (or at times envelopes with important information) from one building of the Henry Street Settlement Complex Network to another (sometimes a building which constituted a part of this building network could be several blocks away).
- I would do traditional non-digital filing, and I would also frequently handle the xerox-copier in the daily performance of administrative office tasks.
- I would prepare in very large quantities the much-needed brochures for upcoming artistic events (events that were then, all completely family-friendly) in anticipation of their awaited mailing, while also overseeing the mailing lists.

- I would sort out office documents.
- I would prepare xerox-copies of sheet music into multiple stapled thick booklets (by pressing down on the compiled sheets quite forcefully, with very large and potent office staplers) for the rehearsal sessions which took place within that very arts centre.

Medical Billing And Office Administration 2004 — 2004

Career Quest Technical/Vocational School - 500 8th Ave # 908, New York, NY 10018 (212) 695-2429

- I finished this course with the highest grade in the class (100%).
- I helped the Medical Billing teacher in the capacity of assistant teacher by assisting other fellow students who did not comprehend the material being taught, for these students could not be immediately tended to on a targeted individual basis by the teacher.

Pre-Medical Biology (Undergraduate Studies)-

1999 — 1999

<http://www.liu.edu/brooklyn>

Long Island University-Brooklyn Campus- 1 University Plaza, Brooklyn, NY 11201
(718) 488-1011

- I enrolled at this school (with the intent of becoming a Holistic Practitioner Physician) at the very young age of twenty-one years.
<http://www.liu.edu/brooklyn>
- I was literally forced to renounce these highly valued certified medical studies because the Brooklyn Campus of Long Island University unlawfully denied me the scholastic aide which I critically needed for purchasing books in order to successfully complete the varied classes without having to unnecessarily bother fellow alumni to share their books with me on a daily basis, and for every single class (something that was incredibly uncomfortable, especially during the laboratory class)! Fax Number Of Admissions (718) 780-6110
- They did give me the general financial aide for tuition and for assisting classes (which did not include giving me a cash stipend for school supplies, I only received each day a small amount of cash for the cost of transport, to and from school, for use on the public underground train system) while refusing to give me a crucially needed stipend for the usually costly university books (or at least a book voucher), and they denied me access to the campus work-study program, that I at least could work on the campus itself to pay for those very expensive books on my own.
- I took mostly science classes in addition to some humanities classes (such as literature and music history, etc.), as I had applied at the time to be a full time student.

Vocal Music along with other music studies- <http://laguardiahs.org/>

1993 — 1996

La Guardia High School- 100 Amsterdam Ave, New York, NY 10023 (212) 496-0700

- I was accepted into this famous ultra-specialized New York City school for gifted youth within the two vigorously audition-tested categories of vocal music and visual arts. I decided to major in vocal music, as each accepted student could only choose a single artistic discipline to study.
- At this school I was placed in Social Studies Honours and was responsible in that class for university- level assignments. <http://laguardiahs.org/>
- I took various general academic classes in addition to several music classes on a daily basis.

After-School Archaeology Course

1995 — 1995

American Museum Of Natural History- Central Park West at 79th Street New York, NY 10024

- I assisted to this free archaeology course which was given to students interested in the sciences during typical after-school hours (from 5 PM TO 7:30 PM) at The American Museum Of Natural History.
<http://www.amnh.org/> Phone: 212-769-5100
- I completed the course successfully and received certification at the time.

Non-Certified Highly Intense Private Academic Study

- Since I was a small child, I have undertaken of my own immense initiative (even under at least partially permissible circumstances) a blissfully strict regime of daily self-study in multiple academic areas, primarily with textbooks, but also with more generalized books, and later in life with more advanced multi-media laden options such as pdf-format electronic books and instructive educational websites on the Internet.
- I would study independently (this was completely apart from the mandatory formal United States free-school-system-issued curriculum) several hours a day. The time allotted to these daily independent self-education academic studies could range from a minimum of two hours to up to eight hours of intense study a day!
- Even while going through truthfully much undeserved, extraordinarily trying times in my life, I continued vigorously pursuing my independent academic studies, but in a less strictly structured study regime, due to those very challenging oppressive life circumstances.
- During all those years of extremely rigorous self-study I acquired a large variety of skills, as well as much diverse knowledge which often, many university graduates within the United States do not possess.

INTERESTS

- I am an avid reader and writer (a veritable Bibliophile!).
- I am a Visionary Torah scholar and I have written original Torah studies of my own, analyzing portions of Holy Scripture.
- I write poetry and literary-prose, as well as academic works, and am fond of some Classical literature, while also preferring primarily credible historical fiction.
- I have always been deeply interested in moral activism since I was a teenager, and I am greatly active in activist work which truly promotes Torah-oriented social justice.
- I am highly skilled in counseling due to my great knowledge of Biblical Ethics, psychology, analytical science, my huge experience with honourable crisis management and prevention, and my sincere profound compassion and desire to do good unto others.
- I skilfully, and with much experience, write my own books, and I compose my own music (both instrumental and vocal). I can compose music the old-fashioned way with music paper, pencil/pen, and access to a keyboard, or I can compose music using digital composing programs on the computer, which require both a knowledge of computer science and of music theory.
- I have been involved in the performance of varied instrumental and vocal music.
- I am interested in, and have likewise been involved in, Classical music, Early Music - Medieval and Renaissance music, and Jewish folk music (primarily Sephardic music in Ladino).
- I have some basic gardening knowledge, acquired primarily from hands-on experience.
- I am interested and well-versed in all kinds of Torah-compatible arts and crafts.
- I am interested in the morally conservative design of modesty-oriented clothing, and in making clothing by hand using the sadly vanishing ancient methods of tailoring. I can also make, with much skill, hand-sewn curtains, pillows (and pillow cases), and I can uniquely design textile-formed objects.

- I am competent in some basic forms of upholstery, sometimes inventing my own unique designs for the layout of chair covers, and other furniture covers.
- I am interested in advanced-level culinary pursuits as both a scholarly/scientific and artistic discipline, incorporating Biblically-based nutritional science, food history, culinary-related global geography, and innovative edible visual art. I am a food scholar who has studied about the history of food. I have also invented my own original culinary Kosher dishes. I am an expert in Kosher-compliant cookery, and as such I understand all of the Holy Laws of Kashrut pertaining to the preparation of true Kosher food.
- I have always been deeply interested (and involved in various ways) in the sciences since I was a small child. I have been involved in the gradual study of Holistic medicine, and nutritional science since I was literally a teenager.
- I am fascinated by the G-D Sanctioned diversity of varied global linguistic expression, as languages are very much linked to the studies of geography, history, and literature, in addition to their obvious utility for practical communication. I have been very active in the self-study of different languages, using books, since I was a teenager.
- I am interested and personally very experienced in morally-guided mechanical-skills driven pursuits (diverse home repair tasks, home decoration, the competent assembly of things, inventing unique creative things for functional household use, and science-related experiments and crafts).
- I am interested in (and have applied operative computer knowledge to a considerable, almost advanced level) computer science, and in the varied technological applications of that discipline to perform multiple creative tasks on a computer.
- I am fascinated by the artistic and scholarly study of historical dances, and have studied and rehearsed, on my own, historical dances in past years, in addition to even choreographing some dances of my own, that are based on uniquely created variations of genuine classical historical dance steps. To choreograph my own original dance, I would write down the chronologically sequenced steps of those choreographed dances on paper in well-detailed descriptive phrases.
- I am very fond of walking, and am naturally very athletic. Therefore, I am attracted to some genteel sports which require the use of strategy.
- I am extremely fond of board games which require the vigorous use of one's intellect, and this life-long fascination with board games led me to invent my own educational board games in the past (both for children and adults).
- I am a visual artist, and am greatly fond of making unique visual art in different mediums when I am able to do so. I have been painting serious works since I was twelve years old. I also have done sculpture in the past quite competently.
- I am overwhelmingly interested in all Biblically-functional academia, and in learning all academic disciplines that are truly beneficial in the Torah-promoting functionally-progressive sense.
- I am fascinated by thought experiments and analytical exercises, and always swiftly link the fertile result of such mentally agile diversified musings to the Torah-based moral philosophy in which I am an active conscience-participant and author-teacher (having written my own original books in moral philosophy, containing my own original visionary thought-based Biblically-compatible teachings).
