

Schedule Meetings in Record Time with Doodle

So you're scheduling a meeting. Better start up the email, messaging and phone carousel—then take a seat and watch your timeslots whirl past.

Sometime between now and next Tuesday, you get to thinking: Wouldn't it be lovely to focus on my event's what, who, and where rather than the when? Thankfully, scheduling work events is quick & easy with Doodle's handy productivity software.

Millions of professionals have enjoyed instant productivity improvement with Doodle. Anyone can take advantage of our clever features without having to sign up or share personal information.

Meeting up is as easy as one, two, three

Just by visiting the Doodle website, you can create an event for your next meeting. The next step is to share a poll with your invitees together with a variety of suggested dates. Your invitees can vote on their preferred times and then respond to your invitation with Yes, Maybe or No. That way, you'll always know exactly when your colleagues or associates have time to meet, and who to expect the on the day.

Thanks to Doodle, agreeing upon a suitable date for a meeting is now hassle-free. So, if you've been puzzling over how to improve productivity in your office or on your own time, then this is the solution you've been waiting for.

Productivity improvement without the headaches? Hallelujah!

That's right, there's no need for aspirin with Doodle's software improving productivity for your whole team. With our app, you can create invitation lists from the contacts stored on your phone and participate in polls on the go. Making changes to your event or discussing details with colleagues is also simple and can be done anytime, anywhere. So, you enjoy maximum flexibility whilst keeping upcoming team events and important meetings in check.

Premium Doodle for professionals and businesses goes beyond scheduling and is an invaluable tool for people the world over. This version allows you to sync your calendar with your Doodle polls so you see suggested dates and fixed meeting times mapped onto your personal schedule. This feature eliminates worry about double-booking lunch or crossing client wires. With our productivity software on your side, life is simply easier for everyone at the office.

Looking to improve productivity? Doodle, naturally

Whatever kind of event you're planning – from boozy holiday party to a meeting with the board of directors – Doodle makes scheduling a breeze. There are a bundle of stellar features that will increase productivity in your communication structure from day one. For instance, you can ask your invitees to provide additional information so you can contact them later via email or phone. You'll also see who's missing out on the action, which means you can follow up personally on any stragglers in your team.

When you're planning far in advance of the date, or if things are hectic at work, Doodle's intuitive productivity improvement features are there to support you. You can set automatic reminders to advise your team about upcoming events. This is just another way our powerful productivity software is jettisoning lengthy email threads and cross-fire messaging for millions of professionals.

Sign up with Doodle and let us take care of the 'when'. You can use your newly minted spare time to schedule drinks with your colleagues at the pub – all in a few clicks.