About us

What is ICFM?

In Christ Fellowship Movement (ICFM) consists of mission focused Christians who lead in today's high-impact Christian non-profit ministries, churches, educational institutions, and businesses. ICFM exists to unite, train, and equip Christian leaders to think higher for greater kingdom gain.

We move beyond good Christian management to empower Christian leadership that's catalytic in its transformation of people, their organizations, and ultimately the world.

ICFM collaborates with local and international churches to create events that directly impact and promote bonding between Christians. We believe we are better together, and that our shared ministry creates dynamic contexts where families, youth and children can encounter Christ.

Our Youth leadership Conference

ICFM Christian youths leadership conference is a high-bred youth event that combines powerful worship, dynamic teachings, as well as a mission's trip. We bring today's youth something that will not only teach them how to be Kingdom minded, but enable them go out and live it! We have top notch activities and promise a life changing experience that will last in the hearts of youth forever.

When and where is the ICFM Christian Youth leadership Conference 2017?

The conference will be held at the C3 church Manhattan, New York, USA from 3 – 5 April 2017. It will be the first ICFM Christian youth leadership Conference in the United States.

It is crucial to be constantly learning and exposing yourself to new ideas, concepts, strategies, inspiration, and new relationships. This conference will provide the finest of these things. If you aren't satisfied where you're at in your area of ministry or with your leadership team, this conference could be the breakthrough you need. ICFM Christian youth leadership conference will be a perfect blend of practical tips and training with powerfully inspiring and spiritually charging encounters with God.

We provide four key ministry thrusts throughout the weekend designed for long-term results:

Present Christ vividly and unmistakably.

Exhort, Encourage and Equip young adults' to actually walk out their faith in "real-life"

Create an atmosphere where the anointing of God can flow.

Provide hands-on learning opportunities so that young adults' can put their faith into practice immediately while seeing themselves in God's big picture.

Who is who?

Counsellors: church leaders who participate to lend stature and share expertise with delegates.

Candidates: Candidates apply to attend either independently, through a partner organisation or via a scholarship. Find out how to become a candidate.

Delegates: Young Christian leaders attending for the first time.

Ambassadors: Delegates who have attended ICFM Christian youth leadership Conference before and joined the international Ambassador network. All delegates become Ambassadors at the closing ceremony.

Observers: Representatives from partner organisations who accompany a delegation, participating in special networking sessions and sharing their thoughts on ICFM Christian youth leadership Conference

How is ICFM funded?

One ICFM is funded through a wide range of partnerships with churches, government departments, NGOs, philanthropists and foundations. These organisations support ICFM by funding delegates to attend events. Funds raised through delegate fees cover the cost of staging each event and the year round activities of ICFM. FAQ

How can I attend an ICFM Christian youth leadership Conference?

Attend with a partner organisation: We partner with many of the world's leading churches, institutions and foundations that support ICFM by sending delegates to the conference. If your organisation is interested in partnering with ICFM please contact us: partnericfmny@reborn.com

Attend independently: You can nominate yourself to attend the conference as an independent candidate or delegate. If your nomination is accepted the fee to attend is £1,975. You can pay this fee yourself or find an organisation or individual to sponsor you.

Attend on a scholarship: A range of scholarships are available to enable individuals who are not supported by partners to participate in the conference.

What is the delegate fee?

The delegate fee for the 2017 conference in New York is £1,975 plus VAT at the applicable rate.

What is included in the fee?

The delegate fee includes accommodation for four nights, ground transport and airport transfers, meals and catering for the duration of the conference. This also includes conference materials, access to all sessions, and conference speaking. Flights and any costs incurred travelling to the host city are not included in the delegate fee.

What is the age limit?

You must be between the age of 18 and 39 to attend an ICFM Christian youth leadership Conference as a delegate/candidate. It is at the discretion of the ICFM team to accept applications from those who are older than the specified age, pending demonstration of personal impact, initiative, and willingness to engage as a young Christian leader. We are not able to accept applications from those who will be aged under 18 at the time of the conference.

Scholarships

Who can apply for scholarships and where can I apply?

If scholarships eligibility status is not included in your invitation letter, to apply for a scholarship, you must show the following skills and traits:

- Be between 18 and 35 years old
- An evidenced commitment to effecting positive change. This commitment can come in many forms; ranging from a high level of involvement in church related activities or community development
- Leadership ability
- Concern for local or global issues

Also fill in the scholarship part of the registration form

How do I know if I received a scholarship?

After the deadline for Scholarship applications (15th January 2017) has passed, please allow one week for all applications to be reviewed. We will contact applicants shortlisted for the Scholarship directly. If you haven't heard from us in the one week after the application deadline, your application for a Scholarship has unfortunately been unsuccessful. Scholarship recipients may be required to pay a security deposit, which will be refunded during registration at the event venue.
