Just like other businesses, online ad agencies also have their secrets. And it is surprising to know that some agencies are quite transparent, while others work in a veiled manner. Your search for a reliable SEO company will take you to different websites with each site having its secrets. A search marketing company can help in achieving high ranks; advice in terms of keyword and content and up your brand for success in digital marketing. You need an agency that is more like a business partner than a service provider.

Here are some dirty secrets of online advertising agencies

Secret #1 –Some agencies like wearing black hats

Virtual world remains shady even after using filters like SERPs and popularity on social media and it is because of black hat SEO tactics like link-trade and spam blog contents. Even though Google and other search engines have put many tabs over sites using black hat SEO, these strategies are still out there. An online ad agency that relies on black hat SEO for results will sell its services with guarantee and it will deliver results but these tactics will make your site vulnerable.

Secret #2 - Some agencies are light on results

SEO companies make and break promises to get business. Some make tall claims while others say that they are result oriented. But what matters most is work and not words. It is result that matters most. When you talk to a SEO marketing agency India for first time, ask for clients it is presently service and case studies of past work. Also ask how it measures success like with cold satisfaction or with the hardcore data.

Secret #3 –Some agencies assume that clients won't do background search

When you deal with a SEO agency, you actually deal with its marketing executive that can keep you engaged without letting you know about the track record of the agency. A great way to search background of an agency is to contact its ex-employees. LinkedIn has a feature that allows searching ex-employees of any company.

Secret #4 –Cheap agencies do cheap work

Cheap is always tempting as you've someone that is ready to do the entire job at a very affordable price. Since experienced SEO agencies charge huge amount for their services, cheap looks tempting. But in the long run, cheap service could prove to be very expensive.

Secret #5 –Some agencies outsource work to freelancers but don't

While there's nothing wrong in outsourcing work to experts but you should know where your dollars are going. When you're looking for best SEO services India, you should keep a tab on every dollar spent so that you get maximum return on investment. You shouldn't pay an agency for hiring an expert.
