Complete a Jewelry Mission, Make the Cut with Agent Diamond

Get the Inside Scoop

Agent Diamond

Your mission, should you choose to accept it, is an intimate one. It starts with realizing that you have finally found the person you want to spend the rest of your life with, and now you are ready for the next step.

Many plans and preparations need to be implemented in order to make your mission to propose special, but you are going to need help. With Agent Diamond, you're sure to be successful. All it takes is the right person, the right diamond and one special night!

Building on the legacy of a family-owned and operated business, Agent Diamond evolved when founder and owner Linda Pan Chester stepped out of the "jewelry retail box." While discovering that jewelry and diamond engagement rings are more than what meets the eye, she came across a unique approach to helping people through every step of the process.

Essentially, finding the right ring to make a romantic night an unforgettable night is a mission. From beginning to end, each task is coordinated to be carried out with passion and enthusiasm. One of the best features in finding a diamond concierge service like Agent Diamond is the close attention to detail. You can rest assured that your soon-to-be fiancée won't suspect a thing, but more importantly, that you've made the right choice.

Linda received her diamond certificate from the very well-respected Gemological Institute of America and has developed a keen sense of jewelry fashion from her wealth of experience. With her expertise and a little bit of your creative vision, you'll establish a lasting memory of the day she said that important word, "Yes!"

Instead of simply buying your engagement ring at a traditional retail store, or the even less romantic approach – over the Internet – Agent Diamond will deliver a truly unique and personalized diamond shopping experience. From the behind the scene education and appreciation of how diamonds are purchased in the trade, to how your ring is designed, you can choose to participate in any part of your ring mission. Linda will even help you find the perfect ring box and offer you proposal tips and advice. Her celebrated Proposal Planner friend and partner in crime, Sarah Pease of Brilliant Event Planning, can also assist you in creating an unforgettable moment to remember!

Working with Agent Diamond would surely help take your proposal story to the next level, earning you additional points in the romance department. In fact, after everyone sees your spectacular ring, they will also be dying to hear the story behind it. You will be confident of having quite a unique and special story to tell.

If you are the romantic type, you may want to give Linda a call to see how her personal diamond concierge service works. For more information or to schedule a free consultation visit her website at Agent Diamond.
