Interpersonal Communication Video Clip

Analysis

Find a short video clip, 3 to 10 minutes, that demonstrates an interpersonal communication failure that had a negative outcome. Consider publicized or historical communication breakdowns, or film or television scenes. Please be sure to describe where the clip comes from in your assignment (for example; the local news, story about ...); or a shorter scene clip in a movie; a YouTube video; etc.

Write a 750-1000-word paper in which you describe your perception of the nature of the relationship, the communication failure, and the resulting negative outcome. Include detailed answers to the following questions:

- Was this a fictional or nonfictional situation? What is the significance to the audience?
- What communication barriers existed in this situation?
- How did the listening habits of both parties negatively affect the interpersonal relationship and, ultimately, result in a negative outcome?
- How might empathic listening have improved interpersonal communication in this situation?
- What intercultural communication barriers were evident? Consider gender, class, ethnicity, age, and so on. How could both parties have demonstrated better intercultural communication competence?
- What essential interpersonal communication behaviors could have prevented the negative outcome?
