Key Recommendations

When working with ROSIE MILLER, DEBORAH MILLER should remember:

- that human arms can bend forwards but not backwards
- to give back the train now, give it to me, that's a no, give it, give it, MOMMMMMMM
- that sharing is a good idea, except for influenza

When working with DEBORAH MILLER, ROSIE MILLER should remember:

- to offer DEBORAH MILLER a certain amount of time to put on pants, because sometimes everyone has trouble with pants
- to avoid isolating DEBORAH MILLER socially or throwing shoes at her head
- that DEBORAH MILLER does not expect, or want, excessive exposure to group involvement, especially when there's a perfectly good bowl of macaroni and cheese at the table getting cold

YOUR POSSIBLE CHALLENGES

DEBORAH MILLER, the following statements are generated from your Component Stress scores. Carefully read each statement and check the ones that are most significant to you. Remember, a statement appears because it may be significant for you, not because it is significant. Only you can decide which statements are most relevant for you.

- Can often overlook routine matters like eating, drinking, wearing clothes
- May place too high a value on that cookie on top of the microwave
- Can tend to undervalue following a planned approach, like sitting down to put socks on
- Can become domineering, which she learned by watching her father
- Too tempted by short-term payoffs; again, the cookie on top of the microwave
- Prone to sudden lapses in energy, can fall asleep after only a few hours of flipping around in crib
- May find it particularly challenging to run downhill in flip flops
- Can find it hard to concentrate, except when doing the wrong thing
- May be upset if anything remotely bad happens at all ever
