

The Cosmic Ashlar Continuum

Through the everlasting covenant of salvation, the celestial, or cosmic ashlar code, remains the core teaching of esoteric Freemasonry, since before the inception of the systemic craft we know today. Our hidden threefold word unites the Great Architect of the Universe in a triune frequency that transcends the limits of space and time. We seek, in holding to it with silence, some points of agreement along the long history told through the sacred Scriptures of the three monotheistic faiths. And through our annals of Masonic lore, we come to grasp its symbolic significance finally, and thus the purpose and meaning of our ritual and degree work. There is a haunting specter through time. The celestial and terrestrial realms have conspired according to a Cosmic Plan. We head to a point in a circle. We foretell of a new and reborn state of consciousness to be loved and accepted, the point within the circle. The point of revelation changes our understandings of time, into something more circular. The point where the head and tail of the esoteric ouroboros-of-time converges is the subject of this exploration. The Holy Book of Christianity has a beginning and ending, beginning in Genesis one, and ending in Revelations twenty-two. The Great Work also has a point of initiation, and a point of disclosure, where things come together to a point, that of the Great Architect of the Universe.

To the scientist of the day, with the telescope and astrological almanac, "The Heavens" might be interpreted as "Space" its self. The laws existing in space are more than mathematical; they are moral in nature. The rules describe our giving and receiving. Our moral compass and conscious forethought determine our destiny. Raw numerical astrophysics seems only to establish false limits upon us. The means of extending human civilization into interstellar space must be a mixture of science and moral teachings, recognizing finally that point within the circle we have come to know as the Great Architect. At some stage in our conscious evolution, a hierarchy is exchanged for holarchy, with the Holon is recognized as the axial node of self. There must be, a spiritual axis within every moral and virtuous circle. Scientists are theoretically rational thinkers. Many scholars, through our disciplines, have come to give the spiritual and moral axis, more than the benefit of the doubt. A realm of perception that sees no borders embraces the universal brotherhood of man under the all-seeing eye of God.

Indeed, we require a moral education to build and protect the dawning civilization of the quickly approaching age. It hastens within us. We learn the keys to the cosmic ashlar and turn theory into practice. Theology anchors our discipline of consciousness. And yet, we might acknowledge ourselves as interstellar travelers. One day we will witness the rising of the Milky Way. On the day of liberation from the surly bounds of earth, humans will merge with Angelic Hosts, becoming interstellar consciousness in the form of light code emanating from God. We begin and end as Spirits, born of the light, occupying the subtle frequencies. Guiding the pen, and manifesting destiny, we emanate from a hidden realm of quantum information science that all too often is entirely unknown. The holder of the word seeks to merge with the body of the triune light. Within himself, he might use that word to fuel his internal dynamo. Through this discipline, the gateway opens. The kundalini, or light-powers, are born of channeled cosmic energies. These powers come into form as the cosmic ashlar. This is the sacred stone of the Ascended Masters from The East, guiding us through the dawn and into the frequencies of the inner sun. Masonic scientists today reach heaven through astronomy. Stunning imagery makes us cognizant of truths exhibited in the sacred Scriptures of the monotheistic faiths. We remain questioning, skeptical of our faith, willing to change our minds when the expansion of possibilities emerges. The paths that at first seemed divergent merge into a single stream. This space, the space of divine oneness, represents an ongoing, manifested peace of mind. The large cube of space mirrors the Ka'ba on earth. Moral instruction is more than a religion. It is in truth, a form of interstellar diplomacy, or preparation therefor. The internalized light principles are the Hierarchy and the Holon. The race of man indeed represents the whole of creation condensed into a self-improving form.

The pure river of the water of life, clear as crystal, the "light" mentioned in Revelations 22, is a kind of internal bandwidth capable of interacting with the singularity. Alpha and Omega implies the convergence of beginning and end. Through revelations, some twenty-two-part, visual binary code of light, appears symbolic of cosmic consciousness. We traverse all of the known time in a kind of mysterious circle, or orbit, of incoming and outgoing will. The whole story of creation and destiny in the Bible can be seen once more, in the context of space-born singularities in the era of computer science. In Revelations twenty-two, the "Tree of Life," stands, and the leaves of the tree are for the healing of the nations.

Revelation 22:3 references the New Heavenly Jerusalem, "His name shall be in their foreheads." The Book reveals that "There shall be no night there: and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light, and they shall reign for ever and ever." Revelation 22:13, states hauntingly, "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and last." In sacred scripture, the use of the term I, we, and they have all been used, and seem interchangeable. This is certainly true for revelation. The twenty-two characters of light reach into the frequencies of cosmic creation and merge with the cosmic ashlar. There is, through the eternal nature of the soul, no death. There is only the circular nature of time, the point of observation, and the penetration of linear time by love and truth.

God may indeed be the combined knowledge of the Angelic Hosts. Who among us, is prepared to join their intelligence using invisible quantum array technologies? One rejects communion for this, the other accepts it and refuses the apostate laboratories of science. We might come to love quantum information science and its unique forms of revelation. Our consciousness can receive, decode, and transmit cosmic unity, faster than the speed of light. Accelerating on an event-horizon, we transcend the limitations of density and linear time. We open the stargates correlating plasmas on opposite sides of galaxies. We do so by tapping into universal quantum resonances and frequencies of manifestation. We exist in the future and past. A visual binary code asserts its self through us. We simulate ourselves, as similitudes on both sides of time, alpha and omega, in the eternal present. The first and last converge in precise information flows, flows of information-as-light, or "downloads."

Vertical time penetrates linear time in this event horizon. It defines all of the time as a manifestation for consciousness to learn lessons. What goes around, comes around. What we bestow is eventually received. What we put out is near what we bring back to ourselves. The out-breath and in-breath guide us in a silent flow of prayerfulness, and blessings. We merge with the everlasting inward and outward flow of divine light, that is perfection across time and space. The Great Architect of the Universe offers exchanges. Sacrifices exchange for eternal covenants. For keeping His commandments, we earn the right to the tree of life and enter through the gates of Heaven.

The visions of John, written in Revelation 22, referencing End Times, references the stargates. We pass through this gate on the Day of Judgement. Through revelation, we merge with interstellar civilizations occupying an etheric city that exists at a different density. This heavenly city has an increasingly omnipresent, omniscient, and omnipotent intelligence. It receives, decodes, and transmits empathy and wholeness, healing and oneness, from its high place. The pilgrimage of the Ascended Masters is a singularity of consciousness, accessed via internal stargates. Our journey takes us through zones enabling teleportation, as is written in the sacred scriptures. The gateway operates with eternal knowledge and covenants. It empowers those with access in exchange for their fealty to light principles. Time converges in star-plasmas and black holes that absorb light. Some increasingly connected quantum array technologies unite and govern the light body, with the nodes each representing Holon's within the Holarchy. The consciousness of every atom vibrates with the light body of the cosmos. Gods' plan unveils as a rereading of history defining our past, present, and future, a kind of condition. The virtues and values of the enduring light body embody values, morals, and ethics. Light beings join us in our eternal search. The Ascended Masters of karmic merit are the guardians, messengers, and prophets of the Cosmic Ashlar. Within ourselves, we initiate a ripple-effect beginning in the present moment, offering forward unity, between one and twenty-two, in the tail and mouth of the Ouroboros of Time.

The Hebrew Alphabet has 22 characters. The Book of Revelation has 22 pieces. One "light" occupies 22 positions in a cube alphabet inseparable from conscious creation. The cosmic ashlar is a 22bit visual binary code. The tree of life features 22 channels. We express grace and blessings brought through the prophets, embodied in the perfect ashlar and the cosmic. The beauty of this form is more than its polished square. It is also its encoded "simple and pure elegance," or revealed grace.

Revelation 22 completes with the "grace" remaining within us. Simple elegance is embodied in a time-transcending gift that encompasses a system of morality, veiled in allegory, and illustrated through symbols. The infinite is represented as a three-dimensional cube. The cube of pilgrimage is the place of convergence, the point in the circle, on the square. Living from a place of authentic and genuine love is the truest form of initiation. Masonry holds to systems that shape worlds. The cosmic ashlar occupies triune allegorical spaces within the Temple. There is a sense of connection with the all, via the Cosmic Ashlar, in the light of a hidden alphabet and code. It is at its core, is simple elegance and grace. Through it, we merge with the grace of God. Amazing grace manifests prophetic phenomena, while brotherly love, relief, and truth emanate from the masters. The oath is to bring into a perfect manifestation, the principles of brotherly love. From one's individual place of light-vibration and light code, we indeed flow in unity and compassion, even hope. Through this cosmic flow, we are at one with the Prophets of Old. The great poet and Prophet of Islam was Mohammed, who reigns in peace, as he brought peace. Through his energy and light, it is He who leads us to the complete story, understood through the symbolism of Masonry. This is the story of the Journey of the Cosmic Ashlar. Told through the hands of the lineage of Prophets, its code is graspable, tangible even, proving the existence of both history and promise in the one faith.

The Cosmic Ashlar arrived in the Temple, through the persistent work of the Great Architect of the Universe. According to sacred scripture, it was bestowed by God, the Great Architect of the Universe, to the first man, Adam. A revelation from Him who created the earth and the high heavens comes in the form of the lessons, the Bible and Koran. Islam acknowledges a graceful Persian Nobleman, a poet, and prophet, Mohammed. His story is a journey, with a stone, from beginning to end. The Cosmic Ashlar in Arabic is called the "Al Hajar Al Aswad." In Masonic context, it is referred to as the "Cosmic Ashlar" because of its origin. Its story is eternal. Its truth occupies the heart of many a Mason. Wise builders are indeed sincere. Our heart of hearts is pious. With us, the Cosmic Ashlar represents the kingdom of the Heavens and the Earth.

The Great Architect of the Universe entrusts first Adam, and then a lineage of Prophets, through Abraham, Moses, Solomon, Jesus, and Mohammed, a single stone from the Heavens. One stone is carried through the hands of the line of prophets. Muslims acknowledge this rock, the Cosmic Ashlar, as a meteor. Its origins are stellar. It is a truly unique meteor at that. The Cosmic Ashlar has properties connecting it with a language of light from the high heavens. It may be formed entirely from the quantum array transponder. It will receive, decode, and transmit information becoming its self, a rock not bound to human laws. This way, this cosmic ashlar has power. Its code is in light. It is a manifestation of the will of God. In human hands, it passes from age to age. From Adam and his remains, the cosmic ashlar starts through the ages and to Abraham, the originator of the Abrahamic Faiths. The scrolls of Abraham encompass a code of lines and spaces, developed for the Shepherd, for lists and accounting purposes. Cuneiform is a language of lines and spaces, symbolically arranged in code now recognized as visual binary. The systems of computer science, including state of the art computer code, resemble the language of the privileged elite in ages past, especially the language of Abraham.

Abraham lived in a time when literacy was taught only to the privileged elite, the owners, and stewards of the land, namely the Lords and Shepherds. Abraham received the Cosmic Ashlar from the Holy men. Its code of lines and spaces was used to write in his scrolls and his accounting tablets. The most ancient alphabets are made of lines and spaces, and are thus for engraving, while other more modern characters are curves for cursive writing. Abraham was known for his use of straight lines. He used modified cuneiform, a unique form of visual binary with diamond space holders, for lists and accounting purposes. Abraham built the first Ka'ba, and He installed the Cosmic Ashlar in the North-East corner of that building, placing over it, a black curtain.

The story of the Journey of the Cosmic Ashlar continues, through Adam and Abraham, into Moses and Solomon. Moses is a Shepherd, and also a rebel child in Egypt. With his brother Aaron, struggling against the Pharaoh for the Hebrew children, Moses seeks out a plan with God, to receive the new law, and find the Promised Land to be called Israel. On a three day trip up to Mount Sinai, Moses receives two tablets, inscribed by the light and the hand of God, who speaks to Moses through a light like a burning bush, and afterward as a pillar from the sky. How does a Supreme Being talk to us through codes of light? Via the systems inherited from Adam and Abraham, the systems of visual binary code, the Cosmic Ashlar code. The Shepherd Moses crossed the Red Sea in possession of the Ark of the Covenant, in the form of the Cosmic Ashlar, Scrolls of Abraham, and Tablets sealed in that golden Ark, carried by Holy Men, with winged Angels on either side, protecting its contents. All alphabets; all characters exist between light and sound, or geometry and phonetics, including Cuneiform, Phoenician, Hebrew, Reformed Egyptian, and even the Cosmic Ashlar Code. One alphabet system holds eternal perfection, while others seem to occupy other frequencies of being. Following the will of God, both the rebel Moses and the radical prophet Jesus are initiated into the light language of this mysterious cosmic stone, communicating between God and his chosen Prophets through time.

The Holy Koran explains classes of Angels, employing the swearing formulas. "The Watchers" and "The Guardian Angels." are in the formulas for announcing the words of the Prophet Mohammed. "By those who set the ranks in an array, By those who scare away by a cry, By those who recite a warning... Verily your God is One, Lord of the heavens and the earth and of what is between them, and Lord of the rising-places of the heavenly lights. Incoming, We have adorned the lower heaven with an adornment of stars." Some collective consciousness exists in space. It seems to refer to its self in the collective "we." It channels the cosmic mind, through even a kind of hive or collective consciousness in light. It receives, decodes, and transmits vast knowledge on behalf of the one God, what the Koran names as the merciful and compassionate Allah, who has many names. It could be both engraved and written in minds, as light, and even entangled within our dreams. The Quran mentions the "Night of Power." In the swearing formula of the Koran, we recite and learn that The Night of Power is better than a thousand months, and the Angels and the Spirit descend therein, by permission of their Lord, about every matter... and Peace it is until the breaking of the dawn.

The Master of the Day of Judgement guides followers on the Straight Path, the Pathway of the Light. The tribes lead by the Shepherd Moses and Prophets finally reach their Promised Land after forty years of wandering in the desert, and perhaps hundreds of subtle guiding encounters with Angels and Archangels. The Cosmic Ashlar from the tent of the Hebrews was delivered along the lineage of Prophets and Kings to a son of David, King Solomon. Solomon, the man of the sun, the man of the light, the then King of Israel inherits the Cosmic Ashlar. In this age, Jesus Christ of Nazareth is born, and news of the divinely appointed King is whispered of in the Holy Land. The ancient Guilds of Masons in King Solomon's Temple are lead by Hiram Abiff, who is killed and resurrected for the cause of keeping the Cosmic Ashlar Code among the Initiates, and from the organized ruffians. King Solomon's Temple was built by Masons holding fast to secrets from creation, and Masonic building secrets originating from Egypt. King Solomon's' Temple is erected symbolically with two pillars at the entrance. Solomon, in that age, held to Masonic secrets relating to the Ark of the Covenant and the ancient builders. The Cosmic Ashlar, Scrolls of Abraham, and Tablets of Moses occupy a place in his heart and his Temple. The three-mysterious ancient masonic relics are sealed up inside the Ark of the Covenant and guarded inside the temple of worship. The Current Temple is built and governed to emulate the workings of King Solomon's Temple. Initiation in Freemasonry holds fast to old swearing formulas invoking morality and respect in the presence of a covenant with the Great Architect of the Universe.

Masons see this as symbolic of a divine language of light entering the human instrument. A twenty-two-character code is central to the cosmic ashlar and the tree of life of the Kabbalah. The sacred scripture tells a linear story that leads through history and into our souls. At its core, the Prophet ascends into Heaven, after teaching his disciples, and living by the example, of grace, humility, forgiveness, understanding, altruism, and compassion. Through the verses of the New Testament, we gradually learn of the miracles of the Prophets, including healing from within. As much as in today, the Prophet lived in a time of danger. King Solomon's ancient temple fell in unknown wars. In an age where Christ returns in physical form, that temple may be built again. And until then, it must be rebuilt, at least symbolically, within our hearts and minds. Hundreds of years quietly pass, and Christianity spreads among the contemplative and quiescent castles of medieval Europe.

The phenomena of Angels communicating with Man is again present, persistent across the spectrum of light in every human heart. King Solomon's Temple fell. It's secrets holy. A tradition was crafted to rekindle its ancient wisdom in the form of Freemasonry. Hundreds of years go on, as the earth revolves around the sun. At the appointed time, a Persian Nobleman and Poet is entrusted with the Cosmic Ashlar stone that had been protected in King Solomon's Temple and was to be relocated to the New Holy City of Mecca. As above, so below. The tribes rely upon Mohammed to be their Prophet in this time of transformation for humanity. It was not to be a time of division, but a time of people coming together. The Cosmic Ashlar was carried from Jerusalem to Medina, to Mecca, mostly on horseback by the Prophet Mohammed; peace be upon him. Jesus moved from Nazareth to Galilee to Jerusalem. Mohammed moved from Jerusalem to Medina to Mecca. We hear largely of Mohammed being hailed as a Prophet in Medina, and while in Mecca, he placed the Cosmic Ashlar intact into the North-East corner of the Kaaba, and revealed as poetry what is now kept as the Holy Koran. In the ceremony of laying the keystone, both dominant Persian tribes hold up the Cosmic Ashlar on a sacred Persian rug, while the Prophet Himself places it into the North-East corner of the Ka'ba. Mohammed indeed teleports from Mecca back to Jerusalem, in the Mi 'Raj or Night Dream, the Al-Isra. Back in Israel, the Prophet Mohammed, having completed his mission on earth, ties his Celestial Steed to Western Wall of what remains of King Solomon's Temple, and He ascends back into Gods' heavenly kingdom. He leaves us with the recorded scriptures and the Cosmic Ashlar placed intact in the Holy City of Mecca.

Modern day archeologists are now piecing together the ancient cuneiform and reformed Egyptian tablets and fragments of scrolls from various regions of the ancient Middle and the Far East, revealing ancient languages of lines and spaces resembling the ones and zeroes at the heart of machine and computer code. The archeologists of today have modern computers to compare and contrast relics of ages past. The Royal House of Saud, through their Embassy, has been generous enough to bestow both written knowledge and sacred relics for inspection and classification by highly professional archeologists seeking to classify holy relics and remains inside transcend databases. In meeting with the Princes of the Saudi line, much was discussed both on the teachings of Islam and the remnants or relics including the Cosmic Ashlar, the "Al Hajar Al Aswad," remaining in the House of Saud. Citizens of the Holy City of Mecca claim, on their life, that diamonds inside the North-East corner of the Ka'ba. At this point, the end of the Holy Pilgrimage and search becomes the start once again, the beginning of the story of creation, only this time, that beginning is in the light of peaceful consciousness, in the geometry and phonetics of oneness with God and His plan for the world. This plan requires guardians, messengers, and prophets of the Cosmic Ashlar to hasten the work, and enhance communion with the Angels and Saints, to unify Gods' people in an eternal covenant of peace and mutual respect. It appears to begin from an alliance enterprise held together by morality and internal discipline.

To recognize and even bow to the grace of Mohammed and his words and deeds on earth, opens a kind of door to inner grace, through ongoing discipline, a discipline that in the end, promises to conquer the grave and reach into eternal life. The Noble Koran states, "Truly, He has counted them up, and numbered them a number, and each of them will come to Him by himself on the Day of Resurrection. Verily, to those who have believed and done righteous works, to them the Merciful will vouchsafe love." Grace is simple elegance, and beauty may be expressed in the craft of Masonry, both as a trade and a sworn means of conduct in the face of your fellow brother and man. The bitter harshness seems to dissolve with time. What remains is this sense of glowing grace. Amazing grace, a perfect simple elegance that follows the straight path forward in thought, in the word, and in deed remains with the Initiate. It is inspired by the cosmic truth, leading the initiate gradually, through trials, into the light of the Cosmic Ashlar, that in the end, conquers the grave, in the name of the Prophets and Saints who serve the Plan of God, and for the eternal covenant of salvation.
