UTEZ student contributes to the Sustainable Campus

Students from the Emiliano Zapata Technological University of the State of Morelos donated containers for aluminum cans, PET and screw caps, as part of the campus sustainable program on February 12, 2017.

Committed to the environment, young people donated 12 containers that together have the capacity to store 600 kilograms of solid waste that will later be delivered to non-profit civil associations such as ECOCE or the bank of child cancer tapes.

Half of the containers will be used for the storage of aluminum cans, which are also destroyed by a mechanism created by students of mechatronics that allows to crush the can making them take up less space.

Thus we can help improve our university with these activities and On average, the university community generates 120 kilograms of solid waste of which 70% corresponds to PET and 5% to cans
