

Taser Pulse Device – The Future of Home & Business Defense

The Taser pulse device is an electronic controlled device coming equipped with field-tested Taser technology to provide you high level take-down power to immobilize attackers from a safe distance of 15-foot. Use of Taser pulse device in a great way by the police department, law enforcements and military gives a sense of reliability and confidence to the consumers that the devices are a great option of self-defense.

How Taser Pulse Device Works?

The law enforcement officers use Taser Pulse device frequently everywhere which is remarkably biting the stun gun market today. Upon firing the Taser pulse device, it emits two probe darts attached to insulated conductive wires that travel a distance of 15 feet to reach the foe or attackers and immobilize them for at least 30seconds, giving you sufficient time to make a self-escape from the situation. The device delivers an electric pulse to the target that overrides the sensory and motor functions of the central nervous system. However, anyone can use it directly like stun gun devices also to ensure self-defense.
