Does your child suffer from allergies, autism, diabetes or some other serious medical condition? Keep them safe as they head back to school this year. Medical Alert Bracelets can be a great way to keep your loved one safe while they are away from home. Chic Alert Medical ID offers a wide variety of Fun ID Bracelets for Kids and teens. Stylish Medical Bracelets for Kids include Paracord, Silicone, Leather and Velcro athletic strap designs, great for sports and active types; Available in an array of colors and size choices. A must have for your child or teen heading back to school.

With Children's Allergies on the rise, up 20% over the last 10 years, it is crucial that these children stay protected while in school by wearing medical alert bracelets. Major allergies such as Peanut, Tree Nut, Fish, Shellfish, Dairy and Eggs need to be identified. Approximately 6 million children are affected by a food allergy and the numbers are just on the rise. If a child with an allergy was to eat, or in some cases just come in contact with that allergen the child could go into Anaphylaxis or anaphylactic shock. Teachers, school administrators and nurses should be aware of the child's allergy and action plan. ID bracelets for kids are a great way to offer yourself or your loved one extra piece of mind. Prompt diagnosis is critical to effective treatment. A brief description of your contact and vital medical information engraved on your ID ensures appropriate and timely Medical care. Allergy Bracelets will provide responders with information on the Allergen, an emergency contact phone number and other vital information about the patient. Many medical Bracelets for Kids will also state if the child carries an EpiPen and states the severity of the Allergy, i.e. if they are Anaphylactic.

ID Bracelets for Kids are also an excellent way to keep children with Autism safe. Autism has become the fastest growing developmental disability in recent years and affects approximately 1.5 million Americans. Children with Autism have limited and or no ability to communicate, so wearing a medical id will communicate their message if needed.

Chic Alert Medical ID is passionate about providing all of those living with a medical condition a jewelry line that is fashion forward, trendy and cool, while at the same time serving as their lifeline in case of a Medical emergency. Just because you have a medical condition you shouldn't be limited to poor design and non-stylish products just to make you feel worse about yourself and your condition. Chic Alert Medical ID is here to change that by offering truly fashionable on-trend ID jewelry for children, men & women. Allowing the wearer to feel confident that they will be properly cared for in a medical emergency, but while doing it in style!
