Fire rated doors

Fire rated doors and frames play a vital role in keeping people safe and minimizing property damage during a fire. Hollow metal doors are excellent at limiting the danger and damage of fires. In fact, hollow metal is the only material widely available with a 3-hour rating.

Green World offers temperature rise doors, which are commonly used in stairwells of high rise safety oriented buildings to prevent heat transformation and ease fire evacuation.

We pride ourselves in the way we can adapt to your project. While projects may be similar, no two are identical and bearing this in mind, we provide a quality service that is tailored to exactly what you need right from the start

We also offer an after sales service that is both flexible and reliable. This is an important part of our company policy and is equally important to our customers, both commercial and domestic.

Continuous improvement @ Green World

We drive performance and quality assurance through a relationship management and governance approach. Our approach includes:

Clear communication structure that identifies each team member's direct responsibility or accountability, and those team members that need to be only consulted or informed.

A process to continually circulate subject matter experts, senior managers, and specialists into the relationship to address continual improvement opportunities and ideas.

A way to measure client satisfaction at all levels of the organization.

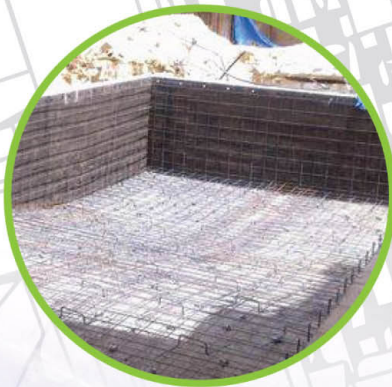

Alignment of interests through performance metrics tied to incentives and penalties and a method to continually evolve metrics to our clients' changing objectives.

We attribute much of Green World's continued growth in industrial and commercial services to our investment in comprehensive, environmental, health and safety programs. At GreenWorld, safety and environmental compliance represents more than a set of policies and procedures.

Property health and safety compliance requires ongoing expertise that drives a culture of safety. Our team is truly world class and is integral in the transformation and ongoing operation of our integrated facility solutions.

Moreover, our environmental, health and safety experts are integrated throughout our organization with both geographic and facility or product focus.
