

Modern Farmer just described us as "the Nest for your indoor farm"

<http://modernfarmer.com/2016/08/motorleaf/>

Tedx Talk - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nh89hKil-8M>

We are currently looking for candidates with a strong foundation in AngularJS and System Administration.

You will head a small team responsible for delivering updates, testing, and bug fixes.

You'll be an integral part in creating the infrastructure for our future developments, which go far beyond hardware and an OS....

Requirements

- Minimum 5 years experience developing production-ready code
- Experience with System Administration in Linux platform, Bash Scripts, Services.
- Experience in AngularJS, NodeJS
- Strong Understanding of C/C++ language
- Strong understanding of Python
- Strong understanding of SQLite and MongoDB
- Experience with cloud native architecture preferably Microsoft Azure
- Proficiency with IDE's and debugging techniques
- Ability to assess risks, scope, and obstacles as they relate to development deadlines
- Ability to explain functionality and decision-making behind development projects that you've worked on
- Experience with GitHub versioning, merging.
- Post-secondary degree or equivalent experience in computer science, user experience, information architecture, or related field
- Excellent verbal communication
- Experience working on Asana and JIRA, self-organizing, managing high performance teams
- Strong understanding of Code Documentation
- Lean Agile and Continuous Delivery knowledge and passion

NICE TO HAVE >>>

- Experience with HTML/CSS
- Working knowledge of Machine Learning Algorithms
- Experience with Microsoft Azure
-

OTHER STUFF YOU SHOULD KNOW

Our team is full of humble yet confident people with lots of experience building companies. We are fast moving and believe in planning and great execution. In 9 months we built our product, sold 200+ units, and applied and completed the FounderFuel Accelerator Program (only six companies out of 400 make the cut).

We are looking for people that would like to make an impact in society. We offer an opportunity for you to change the way people think and experience agriculture, changing forever how and where your food comes from. We are looking for someone with a sense of humor, a keen eye for detail, and the tenacity to have read this far and send us a message – right NOW. We are looking for someone who's willing to join our team and influence the future of farming.

Perks and Benefits

- Company Options
- Flexible hours
- Remote office possible
- Generous vacation allowance
- Family friendly environment