

Copper for architectural applications, roofs and facades

Aurubis is a leading integrated copper group and the largest copper recycling company in the world.

Over the last few decades, Aurubis has developed a range of factory-applied surface treatments to provide the various stages of oxidation and patination straightaway. NORDIC PRODUCTS offer designers and architects unparalleled design freedom.

Aurubis works closely with architects in developing special individual levels of patination of Nordic Surfaces, custom-made surfaces and other techniques in order to meet their design requirements or to match historically patinated copper on existing buildings.

The new NORDIC DECOR product range includes various surface treatments such as grindings on rolled untreated or pre-oxidised copper sheets.
