

VAISHALI SHAH'S PROFILE

ABOUT ME

I am the founder owner of Shrivedant Foundation in Kenya. The foundation aims to bring forth the pearls of wisdom from ancient Indian scriptures. After building a Shiv Temple in Kenya with my husband, I moved on to fulfil my dream of promoting vegetarianism in Kenya, hence launched Kenya Vegetarian Club.

I have set up a team of geeks, researchers and New media professionals who help me to publish my researched content for website, mobile, books, journals and magazines. I also aim to open a university solely dedicated to Indian scriptures. Welcome to Vaishali Shah profile.

PROTECTING OUR HERITAGE

Vaishali Shah visited a few countries in the last couple of months. During her travel, she found how other countries are protecting their heritage sites and welcoming visitors to their tourist sites. It not only generates income for the country but also helps in popularizing the culture of that particular place.

When the visitors go back to their own places they are sure to describe their visit and the facilities available to their friends and relatives. This word of mouth advertisement helps in promoting tourism much more than any pamphlet or agency.

What is it that a visitor looks forward to while visiting such places? Cleanliness and hygiene are the two important things that come to my mind. The place should be clean and good rest room facilities should be available. It should be children and elder friendly. If there is provision for the differently ambled then that is a huge bonus.

Swatcch Bharat is not a campaign run on the streets alone. If each one of us takes it to heart and educate people and this includes our children, our workforce, people like our maids and drivers, then the message will go well. It cannot happen in a day. It takes some time but atleast we have made a beginning. People outside are so proud of their treasures, this feeling that it is all ours should be there within each one of us. We have to take responsibility and care for our rivers, beaches, water bodies and any other natural and manmade tourist spots.

EYE AND ENT CLINIC

It was a learning experience to be part of the Eye and ENT camp arranged by Shree Jain Youth League of Thika in Kisumu county. Though Vaishali Shah didn't do much to help them but she observed quite a few interesting things from the camp about the patients' registration, marketing the details of camp, logistics of the camp etc. It was worth spending four days in different locations for few hours.

The camp was conducted in four completely different locations around Kisumu; first day was at Ngere Primary school in Ahero, second was Konditi School at Peponditi, third was at Wagai primary school in Yala and forth was Jalaram School in Kisumu central. Dr. S.K. Savla was leading the camp with eight doctors from India; he has been coming to Kenya for last 37 years in April to serve the local community for the eyes related problems specially cataract.

INTERVIEW WITH KBC TV ABOUT VEGETABLE FARMING

Vaishali Shah was bit excited to go back to the farm where they had donated some seeds near Kisumu International airport with the team of media.

The farmers were excited to share their experiences and how the new crops are coming along. Though it is a small beginning of the vegetable farming in this region, it is still impactful as it has drawn some attention of people.
