

Watch For Me NC Free Tactical Training Workshop

Enforcement for Pedestrian and Bicyclist Safety

As part of the Watch For Me NC safety campaign, the North Carolina Department of Transportation and UNC's Highway Safety Research Center are offering "Enforcement for Pedestrian and Bicyclist Safety." This free workshop will be offered to participant communities throughout the summer.

This workshop is free and open to members of law enforcement agencies and university police ONLY in Watch for Me NC Partner Communities.

Course Description

This course provides law enforcement officers with the special traffic management knowledge and skills they need to improve pedestrian and bicyclist safety in their communities. Sgt. Brian Massengill with the Durham Police Department will present the latest pedestrian and bicyclist safety enforcement information. Topic areas include:

- Where pedestrians and bicyclists fit in
- Engineering for pedestrian/bicycle safety
- How pedestrian/bicycle crashes occur
- The role of education and enforcement
- Relevant laws and enforcement practices
- Mock crosswalk enforcement operations
- Crash investigation and reporting
- Potential law enforcement partners

The course will include hands-on, in-the-field training on how to conduct a Pedestrian Crosswalk Enforcement Operation.

When & Where

Trainings will be offered in many of the partner communities throughout June, July, and August. Some communities may be asked to travel to nearby communities for trainings.

To learn when trainings will be held in your community, go to www.watchformenc.org/events.

Refreshments will be available during the courses. Lunch will be provided for all participants attending the full day course.

The exact address will be provided to registrants about a week before the training.

How to Register

Registration is available online at: www.watchformenc.org/events.

Space is limited and classes will be filled on a first-come, first-serve basis.
