

MEDICAL MARIJUANA MARKETPLACE

BUDTRADER.COM, THE LARGEST ONLINE MEDICAL MARIJUANA MARKETPLACE, ANNOUNCES TODAY THAT THEY HAVE OVER 750,000 REGISTERED USERS ON THEIR PLATFORM. THE SITE ALLOWS USERS TO POST ADS FOR MEDICAL MARIJUANA PRODUCTS, SERVICES, DELIVERY, DISPENSARIES AND STOREFRONTS, EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES, REAL ESTATE LISTINGS, AND MORE.

BudTrader.com CEO Brad McLaughlin says he is excited about the huge growth that BudTrader.com has experienced in 2017. “BudTrader is giving people a safe place to advertise and access medical marijuana products and services, something that nobody else is doing. The huge numbers we are seeing are no surprise to me! 93% of Americans now are in favor of medical marijuana legalization. We listen to our audience and we just give them what they want, and they are responding.”

BudTrader.com has seen exponential growth in the first 2 quarters of the year, adding more than 250,000 registered users in just a few months, and now receives about 7 million page views monthly. The site allows users to post ads in the 29 states where marijuana is medically or recreationally legal, as well as Washington D.C.

Reaching the 750,000 user mark is only the most recent indication of the growing influence of BudTrader.com within the legal weed industry. Most recently, a survey of current and former NFL players conducted by BudTrader received serious coverage in publications like High Times Magazine by revealing potentially serious issues with chemical painkiller use in the NFL, and the need for access to medical marijuana for professional players.

BudTrader.com’s rising profile in the online cannabis industry has led to their acquisition of former Weedmaps CTO Grant Koeneke, and the company is scheduled to begin production in June on a reality TV show centered on the day-to-day operations of the brand. BudTrader also plans to produce their own online network of shows, BudTrader TV, which is expected to launch this summer as well.
