maybe even many times, keep coming back to your breathing, keep striving to breathe better, you will have it easier in life when you are able to handle stress heaps easier and handle life events better – Danny Milivojevic

Quote 835

As soon as you stop improving yourself, is the moment you start falling into bad habits, you start creating problems, you fall back into old ways, and you start being more negative, because things are not turning out the way you want them to be, but you need to understand in these situations, that these are the curve balls life throws at you, always come back to your breathing patterns, your breathing holds you together, understand your breathing, your breathing will lead you to success – Danny Milivojevic

Quote 836

When you are present with your breathing you are much more aware, also your heart and mind communicate to each other in positive ways, and you create more of a positive vibe as you are present with your thoughts and the people around, you are also much more confident when you know how to control your breathing, feeling the way you breathe at all times, knowing how you breathe is the key essential to knowing what negative circumstances are affecting you, when you see something is stressing you out, it is not the circumstance but it is how you are perceiving that situation, and in these situations your breathing is off touch, so to remove the stress focus on the way you breathe, start breathing to a song, or in a faster tempo, little fast chunks, see the stress and breathe into it – Danny Milivojevic

Quote 837

To be self aware is to smash any addiction, the way you smash any addiction is to be present, and be present by breathing with your body, when you breathe good you also are more confident and have heaps less anxiety and you perceive situations positively – Danny Milivojevic

Quote 839

Be a role model for your kids, always boost their energy, motivate them, never talk them down, always communicate with them, listen to them when they talk, show them empathy, support them by communicating with them, if they do something uncalled for, ask them can you explain to me why you did that? Do you think that was a good idea? Why do you think that was a good idea? What can you do to better your way of thinking? This shows you are thinking about them, but if you say, Oh My God, don't do that, naughty boy, or idiot, or hit them, they will feel unloved, same goes with when you give them silent treatment, always be motivated to cheer them on in life, not just when they are kids, even when they are grown ups, talk ideas with them, they will grow up loving to brainstorm with people on ideas or concepts that are motivational, and will also become more positive when they are grown ups, they will love leadership because they will see you as the person who motivated them, who motivated them when they were upset, angry, happy, they will always know you were the one who motivated them to become a positive thinker, and they will see that, they will love it, they will love you for it, and they will spread the love you gave them, never let it get to the stage where your child has to be out of touch with you, but when you keep motivating them, by firing them up, by giving them empathy you become an outstanding parent, because you are teaching your kid to have these skills in life, also whatever you learn, teach your kid so you have that communication, remember you want to talk ideas with them, make your kid talk ideas, and all of this I just gave you are ideas – Danny Milivojevic

True compassion is sharing what you know, it is also giving, whether that be knowledge, money, a lift, a favor, or lifting people up – Danny Milivojevic

Long Quote 1009

Not being able to control your thoughts, being scared of thinking and freaking out that your mind is racing is unhealthy, calm down, relax, recompose your self, shift your mentality into a positive vibe, know how you think, I think and think and I do not suffer as im using my thoughts, I accept them, I accept the way I am, thinking becomes a disease when you become depressed, and when you are depressed it is your way of thinking, No one likes me, or I am fat, or I will kill, or Im a loser, these thoughts are unhealthy, but when you vibe with what you think you can change negative thoughts, yes I thought negative, but it does not define me, also how you are as a person, about your looks, where you are at, when you are composed, confident, good in your shoes, know heaps of information that has bettered you in life, you become a better thinker. That is why I say breathe, for when you breathe, you are calm, you are present and able to think, if you fill your mind with scare tactics, things that scare you, could be a horror film, or the news, TERROR, ATTACK, BOMB, KILLER, these things terrorize you, just depends how you go about it, I turn off the television, I hardly ever watch the news, i'm all about positive vibes, no drama, my ego hardly ever has control of me, I don't say Fuck You KUNT, or go kill yourself, or lets go, i'm not into violence, i'm a peaceful guy, and filling my mind with negative information will cause me to become more ego driven, everything you read here is how I use my thoughts, how I put together sentences, I write and what comes next comes, I write a word and the next word or words come to me, usually by a thought I think about, I craft it into words, it is all signals in your brain, your thoughts are signals, your thoughts are energy, you are made of energy, you cannot shut off your mind, you will always be thinking eventually, why not use your thoughts if you cannot shut it off forever, every time you move you are creating thoughts, and it will always be I am therefore I think, not I think therefore I am, you are bigger than your thoughts, your thoughts are just one aspect of you, you are awareness, you can also choose to give your mind peace and quiet by listening to silence, this is meditation, breathing is also meditation, you breathe all the time, but are you aware of it all the time? Or do you lose track? I'm just the type of guy who likes to put my thoughts out there, but every time you speak to someone you are thinking, all this I wrote is critical thinking, which is a form of self discipline, self discipline to write correctly, speak rightly, think rightly or In positive ways, and all these things have reasons to them, problem solving methods of how to be more positive in life, how to think positive, be positive, and you can also feel great and feel positive, which are also reasons, you can act out of thinking or out of feeling, it is totally up to you, when I was schizophrenic and depressed, I was not writing at all, but when I decided to self improve my thoughts, I suddenly overtime just became more of a happy person because I was thinking better, faster, more accurately than I have ever been, as I have said, I accept thinking, I accept the thoughts that come to me, before I used to fight against my own thoughts, therefore creating a lot of confusion for myself, I use strategies on what will make my life better, I'm much more happy when i'm in positive thoughts than thinking scary thoughts. I also love thinking about things, figuring out the missing pieces, and you bet I will learn something everyday, learning is growing, and when you are learning you are thinking thoughts, and this is all a style of teaching, a style of thinking, out of creativity, and also this not the whole picture – Danny Milivojevic
