

Why consider learning from George and Martha Washington?

Bill and Cara Elder are retired educators who taught in both Pennsylvania and Florida (Bill taught High School History and Exceptional Student Education; Cara taught Computer Applications and elementary).

They have been reenacting the Revolutionary War for 15 years and belong to the 2nd Pennsylvania Regiment of the Continental Line and His Majesty's 43rd Regiment of Foot. They explain and demonstrate colonial life, military life (American and British), and portray George and Martha Washington

Here are 10 great reasons to have them speak!

- 1 - They look like the Washingtons
- 2 - They have been reenacting the Revolutionary War for over 15 years
- 3 - They dress like the Washingtons
- 4 - They are affiliated with the Daughters of The American Revolution
- 5 - They are former educators that know their stuff
- 6 - They are affiliated with the Sons of The American Revolution
- 7 - They are able to effective role play as the Washingtons in First Person
- 8 - They are active in the living history community
- 9 - They have presentations and are willing to travel
- 10 - They really love doing this
