

Inductive Bible Study

Inductive Bible Study helps you find the central truth of a passage and build that truth into your life.

When you open God's Word, expect to meet with Him and to learn something about Him. Expect to find more of who He is and what He wants you to be like. In a wonderful way you'll grow to understand God and His ways if you are open to being changed by what you find in the Scriptures. Each day as you begin, open your heart to the teaching of the Holy Spirit; ask Him to give you understanding and to help you think and act in God's way. As you conclude a day's study, apply to your life one truth God has shown you as you relate to Him. Do as much of a step as you are comfortable with each day.

Book Overview

1. Read the whole book, if it's brief. If it's long, skim it. If it's a narrative, jot down a fact about one or two of the main characters; list a few major events. If it's a letter, note a few facts about the writer and those being addressed. If it's another kind of literature, list some facts that impress you.
2. Write down a few of your major impressions of the book.
3. What helps do you think you'll get for your life from this book? Write down one or two and ask the Lord to move in your life in these ways.
4. Look through the book to find which chapters can be most naturally grouped together, either by main characters, events, or by geography. On a simple chart, write the 2 or 3 or 4 major divisions of the book, the natural groups of chapters. Give each division a short title.
5. What seems to be the main theme of the book? Write it in a short sentence over your chart.
6. How does that theme apply to you personally? In what part of your life do you need to act on that truth? Write down a specific way you can begin to do that and ask the Lord to strengthen you in it.

Step One: Observation

1. Make a list of facts that you observe in the chapter (or part). Note who, when, what, where, and how. Note also any interesting things about people, places, situations, atmosphere. Include things that are emphasized, like words that are repeated or contrasted. To cover a passage, make just a few observations on each paragraph.
2. Write down your major impressions of the passage. What "hits" you from this passage?
3. What does this passage teach about the Lord? What difference does it make to you that He is like this? Take sometime to praise Him.

Step Two: Interpretation and Meaning

1. Choose a short title for each paragraph.
2. What connections can you find between paragraphs? Look for a few, such as repeated words, similarities, contrasts, cause and effect. What significance or meaning do you find in each of these connections? Jot down the meanings.
3. Then, look at the meanings, connections and facts and ask yourself: What is the main thing going on this passage? In other words, what is the central truth this passage is teaching? Write that truth in a sentence.

Step Three: Application

1. What is the main thing the Lord is saying to me through this passage? Here are some possibilities.

Select just one:

- Something to obey or an example to follow or avoid? What is it exactly? How can I soon practice it?
- A truth about the Lord I can rejoice in? In what part of my life is this truth especially encouraging?
- A promise I can take for a situation I'm in? Are there conditions in the promise which I need to fulfill? What are they? What does the Lord say He'll do? (Memorizing the promise will help in the days ahead.)

Concluding a Study:

RELATING THE MAIN PARTS TO EACH OTHER:

When you finish studying the chapters, notice how their main truths connect with each other. As you connect these main truths, you are beginning to put together the teaching of the Bible. See if from these you can write the theme of the book in a sentence. How does it fit with the theme you saw at first? Share these with a Christian friend or group studying the same book. See how your theme compares with that in a study Bible or commentary.
