Survey Finds Relationship Tension and Anxiety are Hidden Costs of Debt

Recent data shows outstanding household debt reached a record high of $12.84 trillion, making this survey timely. With U.S. consumer spending growing at its fastest pace since 2009, it appears the frugal habits many Americans adopted directly after the Great Recession are a thing of the past. The old saying goes, 'money can't buy happiness.' It should also say 'and debt can make you anxious, keep
