INTRODUCTION

I am 27 years old IT/Technical Support/Online Advertising specialist with a college degree in Multimedia design and Communication. I studied in Business Academy Aarhus (Denmark) for 3 years where I had acquired a lot of team work, communication and problem solving skills. Furthermore, it gave me a broad set of knowledge and awareness in IT, management and design fields. Being in multicultural and global company had always fascinated me due to its thrill and challenging environment. Also, I have studied Danish language in Denmark for 2 years. After my studies I came back and settled down in Vilnius, Lithuania where I am based now.

I currently work in digital advertising company called Adform. I have been working in Adform for 3 years, so I have learned a lot about online advertising, programmatic rich media banners, real time bidding. Now I work in technical support position where I help global clients to solve any issues related to Adform creatives and tags. Daily responsibilities include extensive use of JavaScript/HTML/CSS as well as debugging tools, fiddler for troubleshooting, fixing and QAing rich media. Generating tags for direct and real time bidding ads. Working cross-functionally with multiple teams across global regions to ensure successful campaign performance from technical perspective
