Melinda Warren, the witch who began the Warren line, was born on October 31, 1670 in Salem, Massachussetts. She practiced three powers: she could move objects with her mind, see the future and stop time. She was betrayed by her lover, Matthew Tate, a warlock who stole her powers and turned her over to the witch hunters. Although she trapped him in a locket and retrieved her powers; she did not save herself with magic to protect her daughter, Prudence. In 1692 Melinda Warren was burned at the stake. As Melinda hoped, the girl survived to marry and have a daughter, thus continuing the Warren line. Before Melinda was burned at the stake, she vowed that each generation of Warren witches would become stronger and stronger, culminating in the birth of three sisters destined to be the most powerful witches the world has ever known: the Charmed Ones, Good witches, protectors of the innocent.

A nexus is a geographical point equidistant from the five spiritual elements: earth, fire, water, wood and metal. It is a place of incredible energy that can be persuaded to be either a source of undeniable good or undeniable evil.

After the earthquake of 1906 in San Francisco, the Halliwell family constructed the manor on a spiritual nexus that, because of the location of the five spiritual elements, is a Wiccan one as well. Building the manor on that spot, claimed the nexus and its power for good.

The Hollow

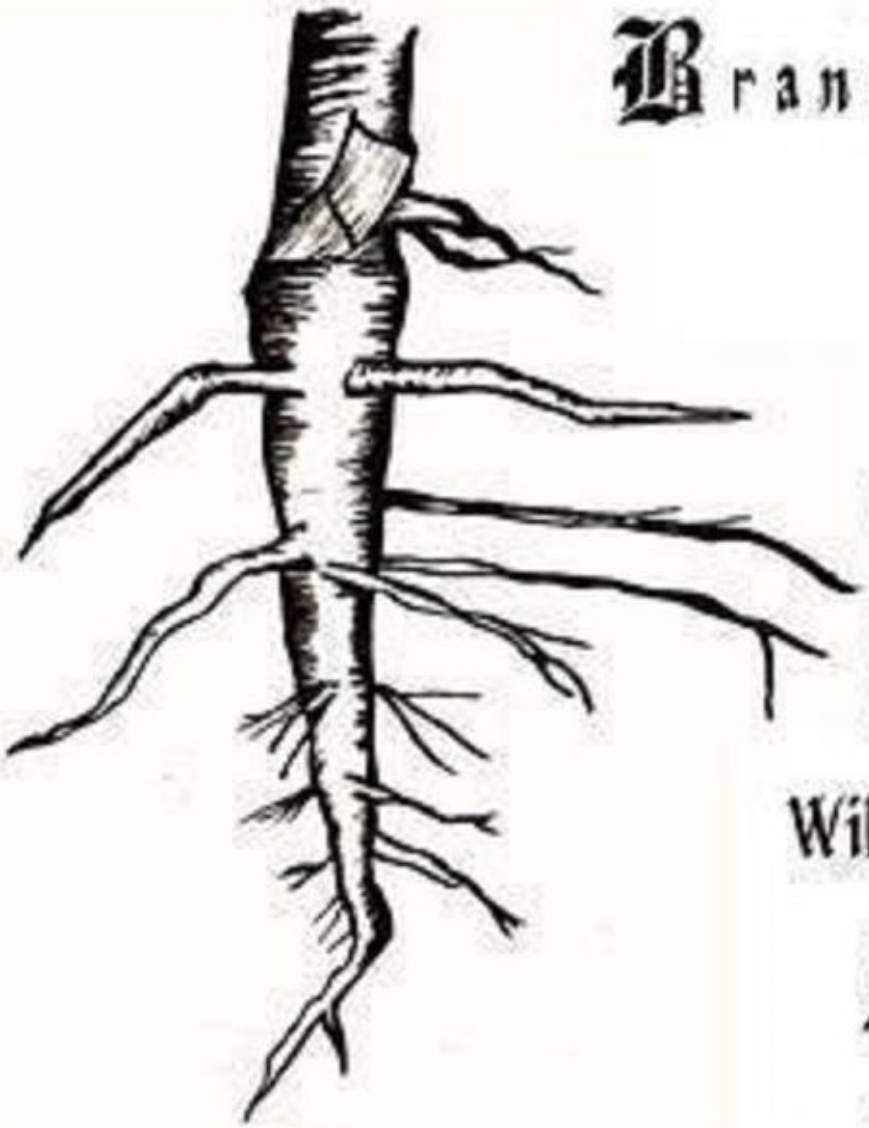

Ancient beyond measure,
The Hollow is the most powerful and unstable force known to magic. For an eternity, both good and evil have guarded the release of The Hollow's un-stoppable, all-consuming hunger for power.

Armed with her deadly sai, this shapeshifting demon known as Katya has a long, unfulfilled history of evil ambitions. Serving for centuries under dark, demonic rulers of the Underworld, she watched as what she considered lesser evils advance past her in the line of succession to upper-level demondom. Determined and crafty, Katya consolidated her abilities until she was ready to initiate her own plans, and become an unpredictable and powerful rogue player in the Underworld.

And thus the Lord of War, his army invincible, swept through the Crimea leaving nothing but ashes in his wake. The cause would have been lost had it not been for the appearance of an unlikely savior in the form of a woman.
Her face lined with years of wisdom, her hands the fountainhead of a power beyond belief, the Warren witch.
Brianna appeared unarmed before the conquering army. Underestimating his foe, the Lord of War ordered her summary execution, but his plan was not to be.

Holding aloft her hands the channel and source of her tremendous energy, her mind focused, and her will strong Brianna did what no man, no army could: she sent the Crystal Sword of the Lord of War high into the sky, and hundreds of miles away.
Separated from the weapon that was the source of all his power, the Lord of War was quickly defeated, his armies crushed and his campaign ruined.
Moreover, the fall from grace of this Lord of War was made even worse in the eyes of those who stood in judgment by the instrument of his destruction, a simple witch.

Whitelighters: the guardian angels of good witches have the power to heal, hover and orb from one earthly or mystical location to another by turning into a stream of sparkling light. Their identities and purpose are supposed to be kept secret from their charges. Love relationship between Whitelighters and witches are forbidden. Whitelighters "dust" a powder that makes people susceptible to suggestions, is sparingly used to erase painful or dangerous memories. Whitelighters cannot heal dead people, animals, themselves, self-inflicted wounds or non magical ailments and they cannot heal demons too: attempting to do so causes a recoil, throwing the Whitelighters away from the injured demon. Clipped wings render a Whitelighter mortal and susceptible to sickness, aging and death. Whitelighters communicate with each other through a clicking language. If in the mortal world, Whitelighters cannot sense witches who are in the Underworld; If in the Underworld, they cannot be contacted by witches in the mortal world. Whitelighters can speak the language of their charges and they can hear their voices all the time. Whitelighters can also assume the physical appearance of someone else. When they orb, they travel through the Neutral Plane.

Darklighters exist to kill Whitelighters and future Whitelighters using a crossbow with arrows dipped in a poison for which there is no cure. While Darklighters may have individual powers and agendas, they all dress in black, mimic voices, and travel as streams of black ash. Whitelighters can overpower and orb Darklighters to an unknown fate. Darklighter poison is fatal to Darklighters as well as Whitelighters.

Lost Souls

Lost Souls are spirits of the dead, unable to move on because of spiritual confusion, such as dying a violent death together. When souls die at once, they will hold each other back, and good and bad souls will be unable to move on. The souls will remain trapped in a time loop, reliving the day of their deaths over and over again, unaware of their tragic fate. Although there are spells to allow a witch to see the moment when souls became lost, it is very rare that the lost souls can be saved. It should be noted, however, that such spells are dangerous, and can easily leave the caster trapped amongst the lost souls.

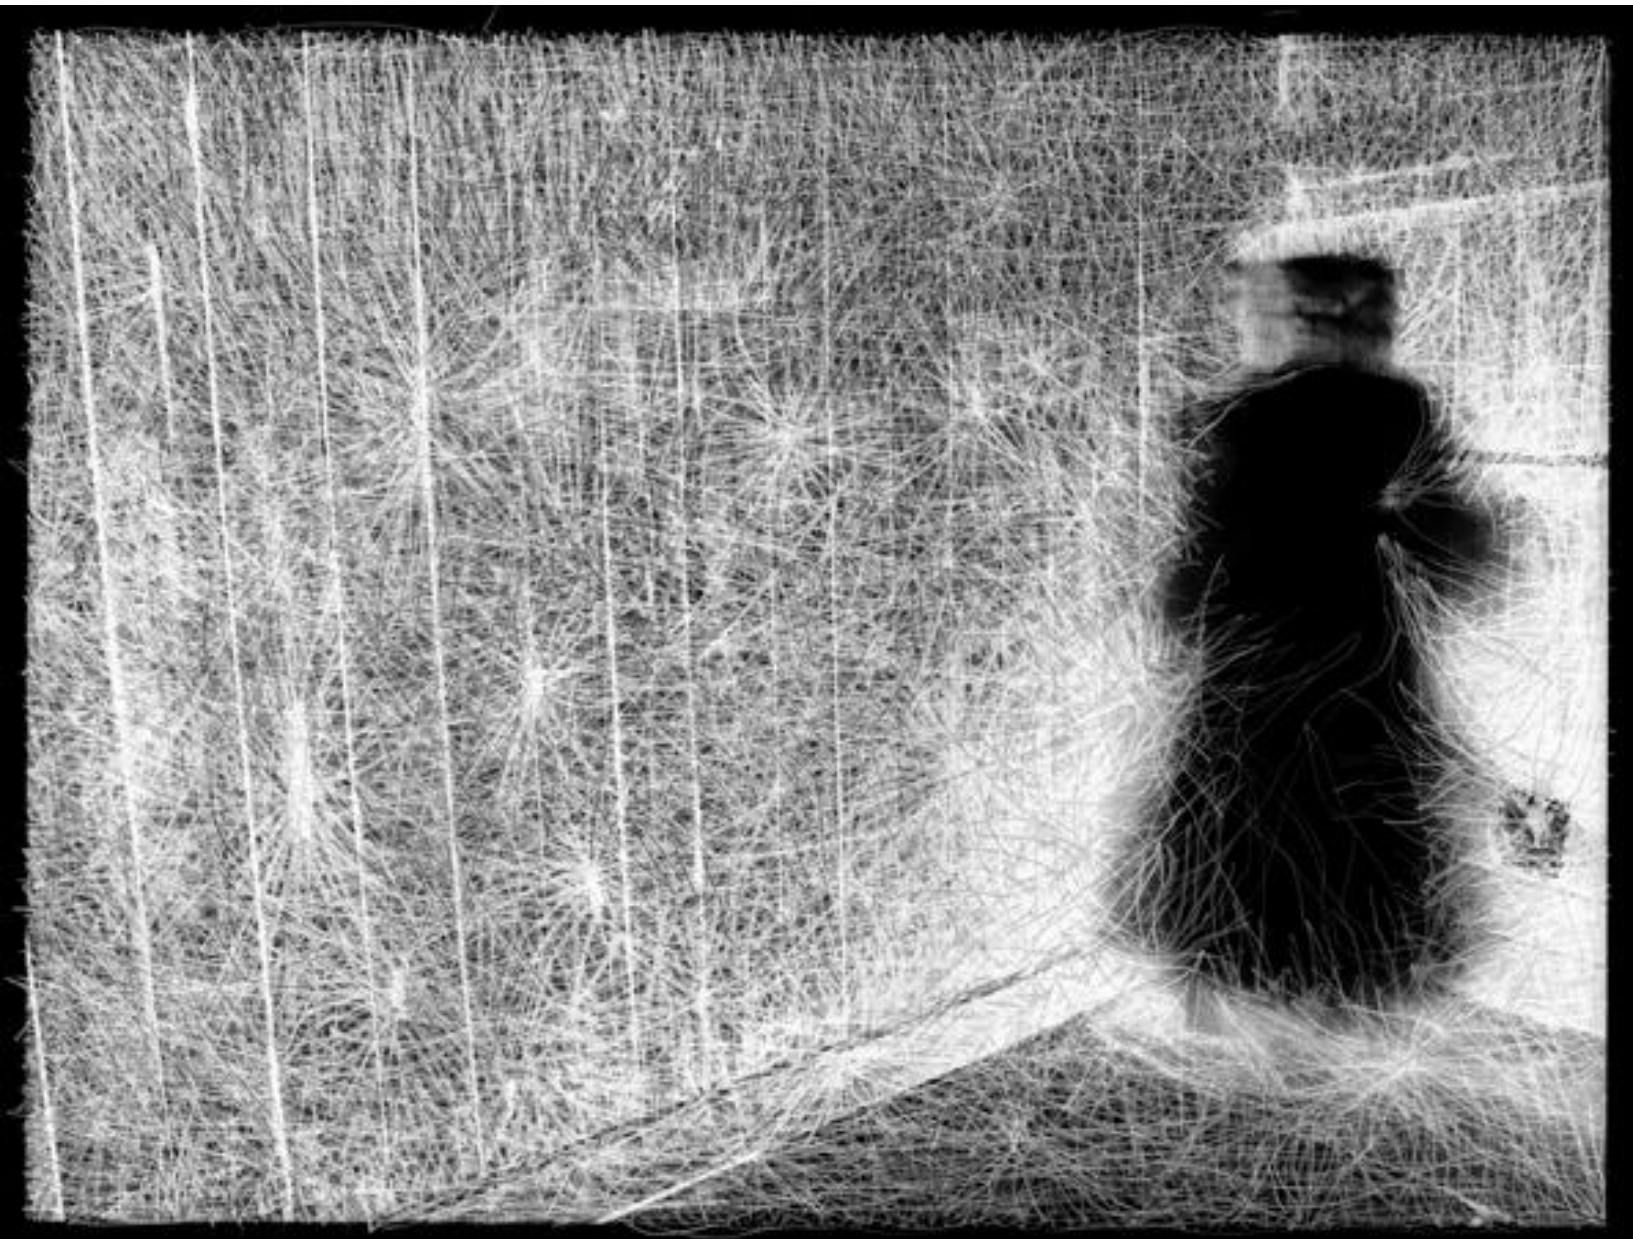

If you lay the heart and right foot of a black hen on one who is asleep he will answer whatever you ask him and tell what he does desire.

Boil the brain of a newt and rub the outside of the body with it, your beloved's lust will grow until they desire only you.

Quit an unwanted habit by making a poppet of yourself. Make symbols on it detailing what you wish you release. Allow anger to build inside of you so that you may focus this energy towards the goal of this spell.

Lay the poppet in a bowl and anoint it with oil of myrrh, pennyroyal, rosemary or rue. Focus upon your intent and when you feel that you are prepared ignite the poppet in cleansing flames, visualizing the release of you unwanted habit or trait.

Let the poppet burn to ashes and then bury them in an area far away and turn firmly away and don't look back.

Titans

In the days of Ancient Greece the Titans were God-like beings who ruthlessly ruled the earth. Like other magical beings, their powers were tied to their emotions but on a much grander scale. A burst of Titan rage could spark a massive earthquake or a hurricane of epic proportions. The mortals of the era were terrified by these beings' abilities and worshipped them as Gods in the hopes of appeasing them. Ultimately the Titans could not be vanquished, and the only way they could be stopped was by magically entombing them in ice, an act which brought an end to their terrible reign.

Exorcism

Demon's soul hides
Behind an innocent's face
This witch's magic Casts you
Out of this place

Of all the purifying and cleansing spells in this tome, this is the strongest and most aggressive. It should only be used in a case of severe infestation to expel a demonic essence.

In order to exorcise an area of evil influence you must combine together Rosemary, Sage, Eucalyptus, and Whale Oil.

Burn the ingredients of the spell and allow the smoke produced to fill the affected area while you are ringing a blessed bell and chanting the following repeatedly:

Eimo
Dama
Sayto
Mundo

Familiars

Familiars are enchanted creatures who follow and guide new witches to protect them while they learn the Craft. While they are often cats, other animals, like dogs, rabbits, horses and snakes can be familiars as well. Familiars are naturally attuned to the seasons and phases of the moon and can be helpful in teaching the young witch a heightened awareness of her environment.

Muses

Beings of Pure Light who's sole purpose is to inspire people's passion and creatibity.

Like angels, they guide us with an unseen hand of Inspiration.

Unlike Whitelighter's, Muses are inbisible eben to their charges and can only be seen by other angelic beings.

Time Loops

A Time Loop is a Period of Time that repeats itself over and over again ad infinitum. Sometimes a Loop is localized to a specific place or group, but at other times a Loop's effects can be felt globally. A few magical beings are powerful enough to create Time Loops, such as Tempus, the Devil's Sorcerer. But the causes of a Loop can also be more Cosmic. For Example, certain spiritual traditions believe that a great Evil or great Injustice can be cursed into a Time Loop until righted. Once the evil has been eliminated or the injustice has been corrected, Time will stop repeating itself and again move forward for those who were trapped in the Loop.

Cast a spell over siderite crystals and place on the floor around the object chosen as bait. When an entity for it may also affect humans enters the area of influence, the remote warning crystal will glow. CHAKRA

CLEANSE

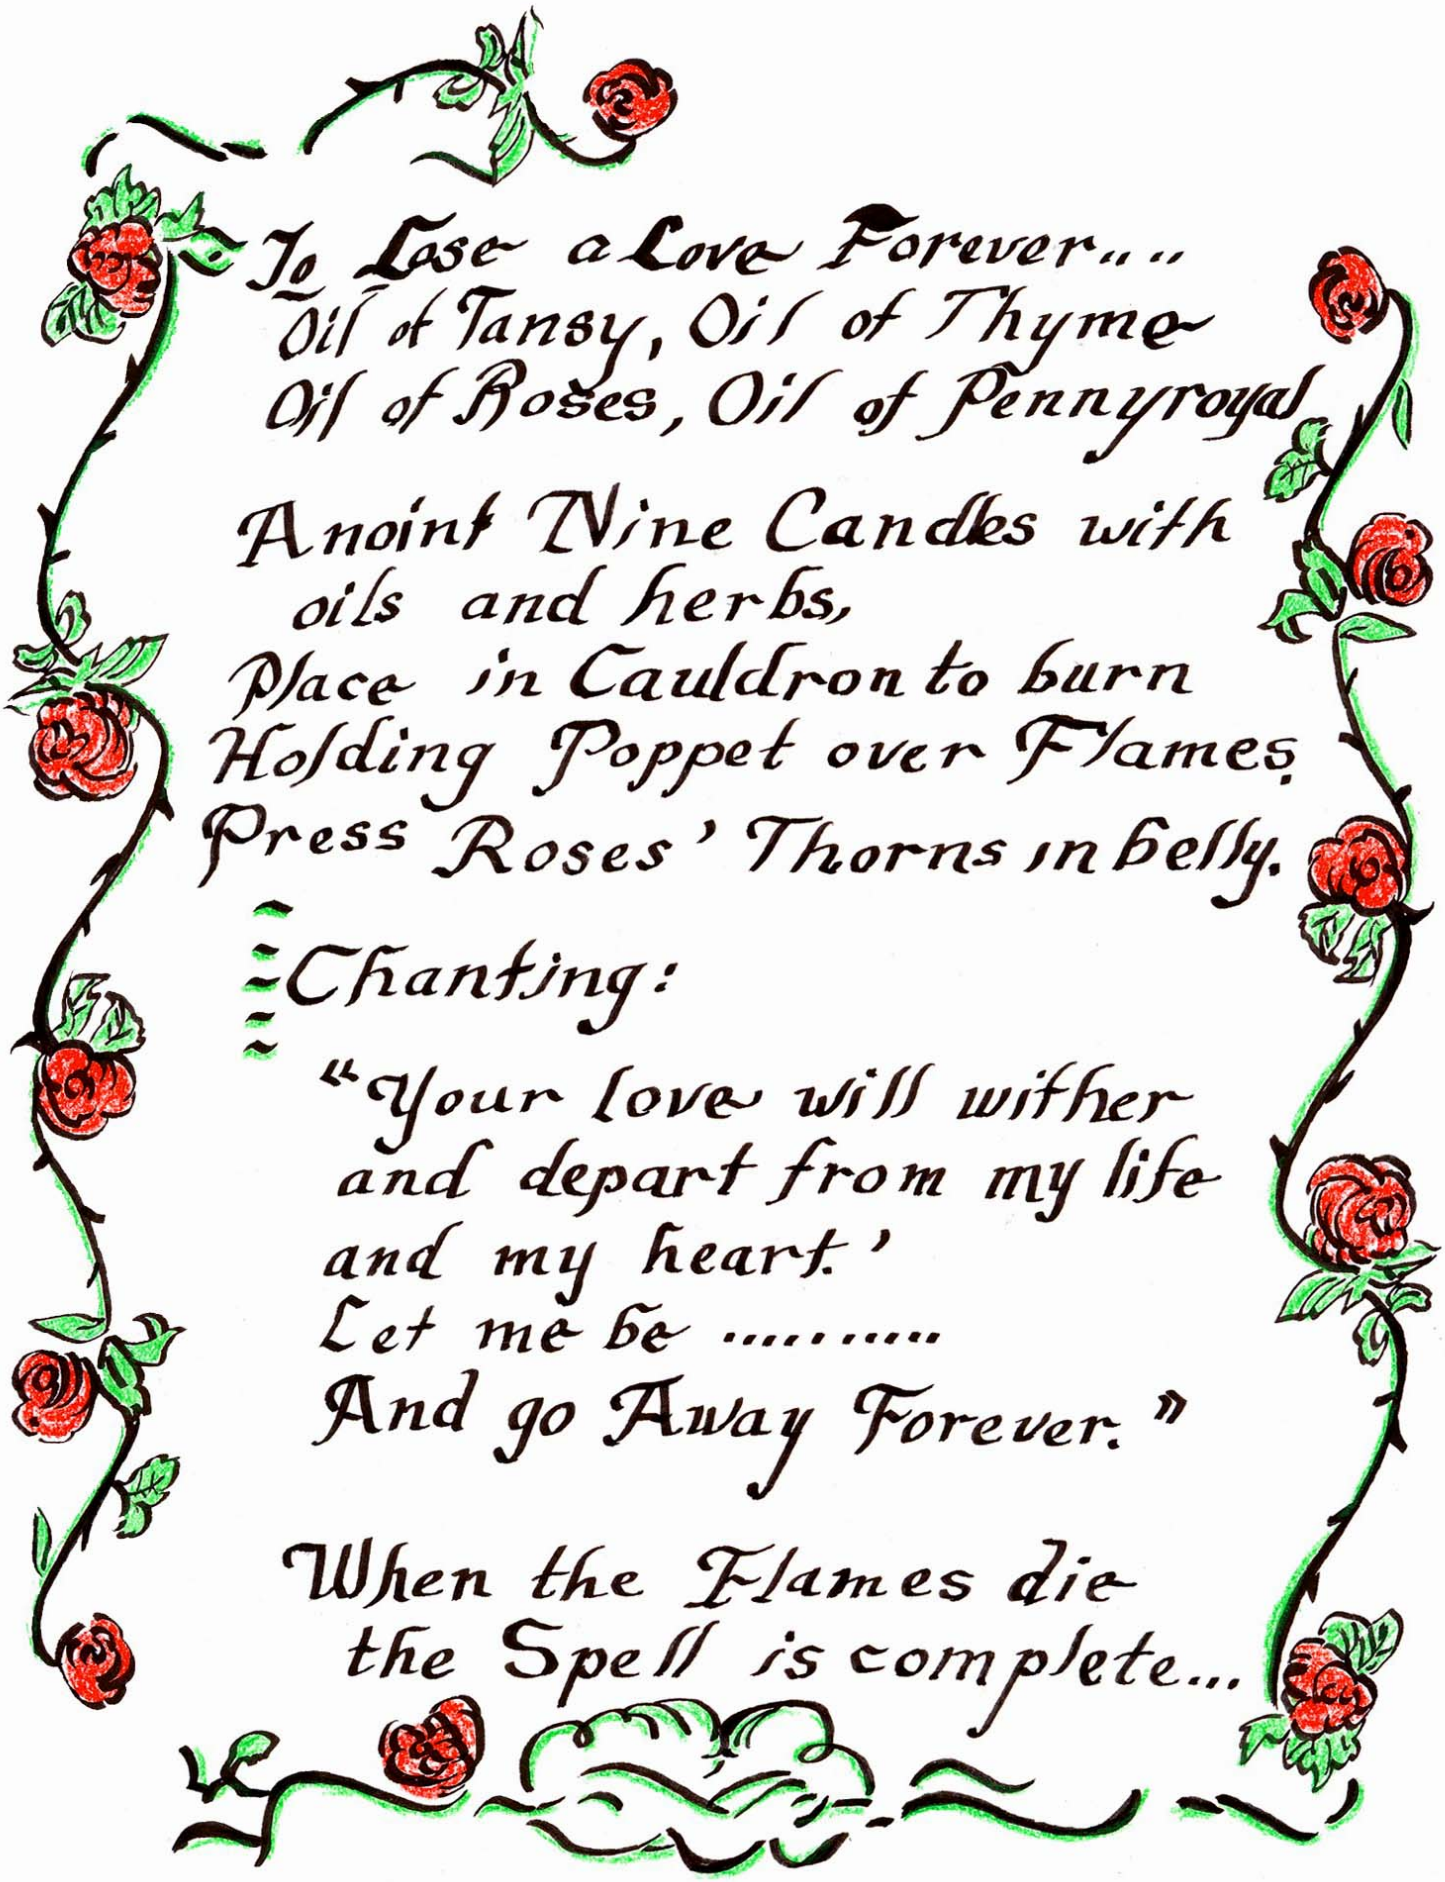

On The Place of Magic In The Rearing of a Child

A child is the frailest and most innocent of all innocents. It is therefore unlawful and unnatural to use magic to change what is in the nature of a child. Before casting a spell that affects a child, the witch must ask herself, "am I doing this for the child or am I doing this for myself?

For the witch who is bothered by the noise of a child and would seek to use magic to bring forth peace and quiet, this tome can only say one thing:

sometimes a baby just has to cry.

To Lose a Love Forever....
Oil of Tansy, Oil of Thyme
Oil of Roses, Oil of Pennyroyal Anoint Nine Candles with oils and herbs,
Place in Cauldron to burn
Holding Poppet over Flames
Press Roses' Thorns in belly.
Chanting:
"Your love will wither
and depart from my life
and my heart.'
Let me be .....
And go Away Forever."
When the Flames die
the Spell is complete...

To call Blood to Blood

3 sprigs Rosemary for remembrance
2 tablespoons chopped Ground Holly for spirit calling
A pinch of Cypress for longevity
1 shredded Yarrow Root
for contacting relatives

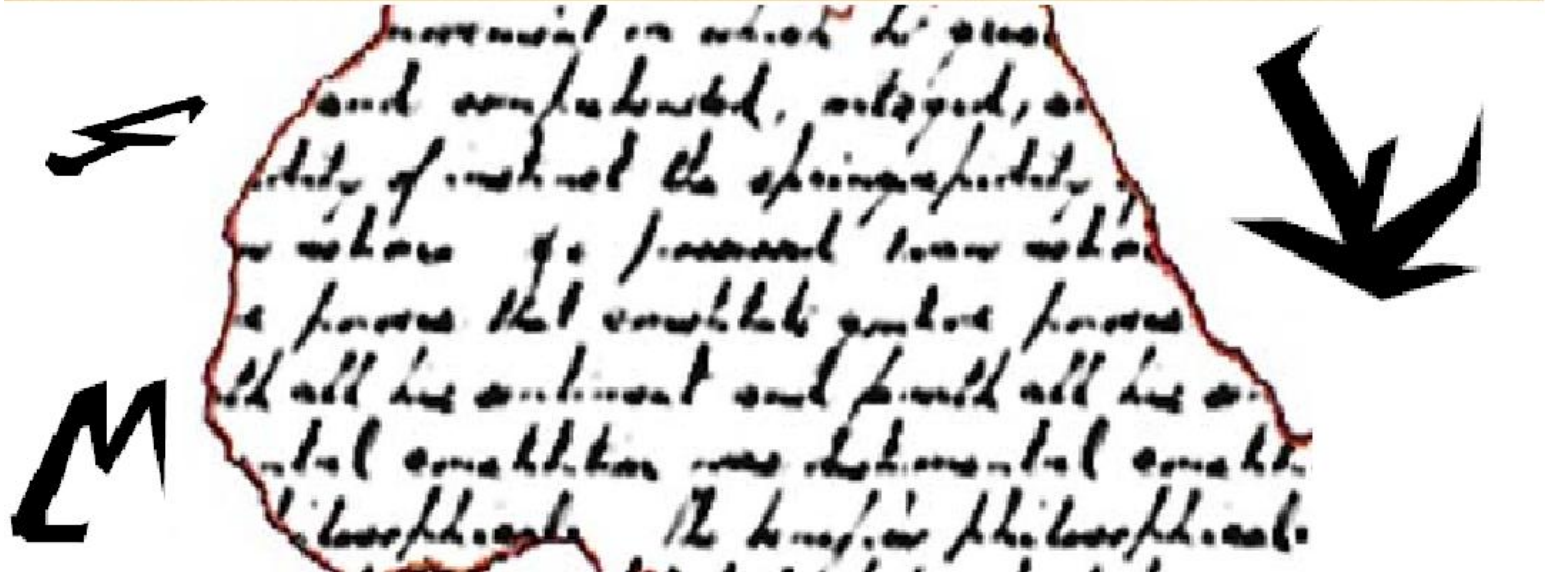

Let the herbs be prepared while the name of the love one is repeated by the preparer. Place the herbs in a silver bowl. Lay in a treasure of the loved one, should one be available.

With a knife, prick the left finger, so the blood will flow straight from the heart. Add the blood to the bowl, calling the name of the loved one and saying, "Blood of our blood, we summon thee." The loved one will be summoned in full wholeness and freshness of life.

To Extract Knowledge

Crush fresh rosemary which has been cut with silver shears.
Mix with the juice of a pomegranate
and cool spring water.
Warm the mixture,
then rub it into your hands
Then place your hands on the forehead of the one who must release the information and recite...

Elixir for remembrance
Releases when warmed by fire.
Put into safe keeping
The knowledge I desire.

You then must rub your hands with amethysts and moonstones to remove the elixir and to transfer the information to the stones for safe keep.

Scrying for something lost

Scrying for Other objects

With the flame of a candle, light a personal object of the person you wish to find and place it into a ceremonial bowl along with the scrying crystal and other personal belongings.

Before the flame subsides, let the wax from the candle drip onto the crystal.

Once consecrated, scry with the crystal for the one who is sought.

Its Strength is determined by the amount of Goodness a Person creates.

Grimlocks:

are white Demons with whirling Red eyes, Underground Demons who roam from city to city killing powerful forces of Good by seeing the unique Auras that surround them, which they are able to do by stealing the sight of innocent Children.

The stolen eyesight will last twenty-four hours, but only if the children are alive.

After the Children's use has waned, the Grimlocks consume them.

To destroy a Grimlock:

Gather a Shisandra Root on a Wednesday of a waxing moon.

Lighting an Orange or Gold candle, Create an infusion by slowly boiling the Root in a Ritual Vessel.

throw the Infusion into the Grimlock's Eyes,

All will melt away to What it Was.

The Triad

The Triad is a collective of powerful upper-level demons. Virtual Emperors of the Underworld, when together the powers of this evil cabal increase exponentially and there is no known method of vanquishing them. Though unconfirmed, rumors persist of splinter groups seeking to carry out their own agendas.

To summon Cryto:

"We call upon the demon Cryto,
Reach back throughout the ages
Humbled by his power
We invite him into our circle."

To vanquish Cryto:

"What a witch has done and then undone Return this spirit back within and separate him from his skin."

n the sixteenth century, Cryto travelled from dukedom to dukedom, preying on people's vanity, bestowing youth and beauty in exchange for their souls.

Cryto was found out and skinned alive by a group of witches, who believed it would keep his spirit from ever being resurrected again.

Cupid is a messenger of love responsible for bringing people together who have a chance at love. Many agents roam the earth using their powers to connect people. Their powers lie in a powerful ring, which allows them to slow time and get between heartbeats where they can then plant thoughts of love. This ring could be a terrible threat in the hands of evil because it could be used to destroy love as well.

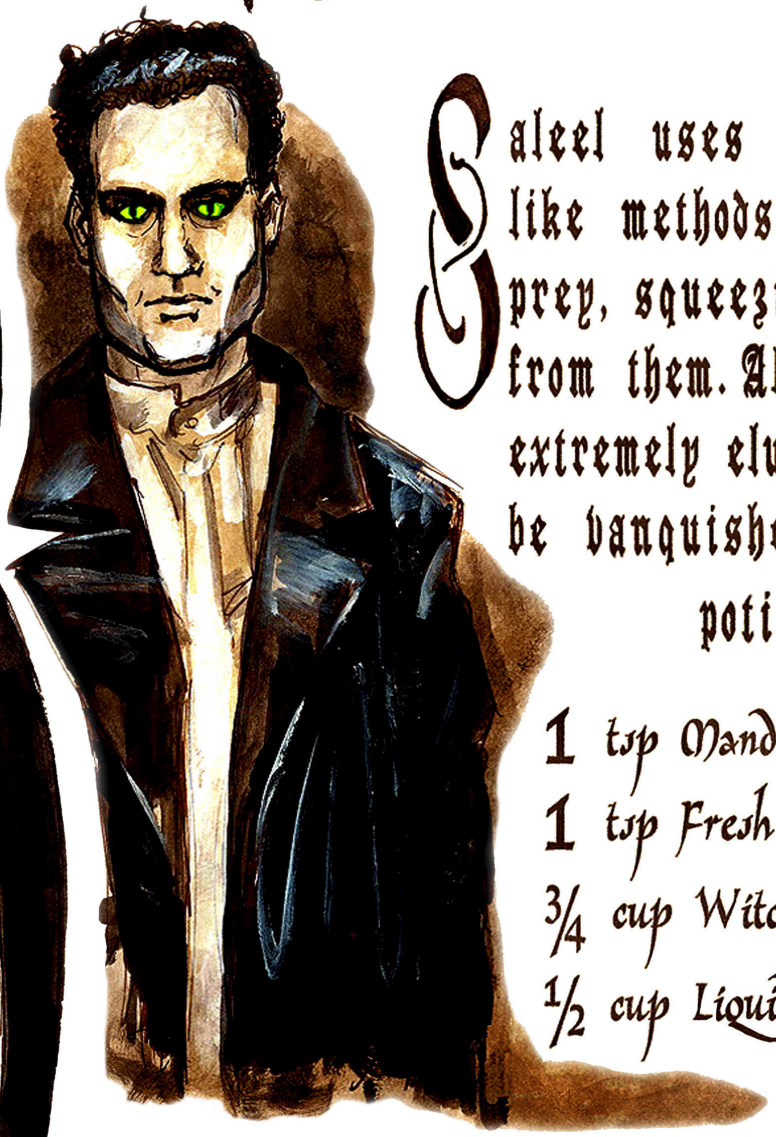

Drazi is a Demon of Hate who fell in love with a mortal woman. Cupid redirected her love towards a mortal man, away from Drazi. This demon then vowed that he would have his revenge on Cupid and all those in love by destroying the bonds of love wherever he may find them.

THE SLAVE KING

Cruel even by Underworld standards, The Slave King has subjected a lesser demon species to do his bidding for centuries. Surrounded by his demonic court, his word is law. Suffering by the thousands, death is the only escape his slaves can hope for.

Hecate, queen of the Underworld, takes human form every two hundred years, coming to Earth to marry a mortal and give birth to the demon child. To do this, Hecate must find an innocent to be her groom, put him under a spell, and marry him in a sanctified wedding. In this way her child will grow up looking normal, but possessing a demon soul. Those reputed to be Hecate's children are significant throughout history.

The power of a fourteenth-century Italian knife called a poignard that bears the inscription "Nec prius absistit quoad protero prodigium" (I shall not rest until the demon is vanquished) is the only way to send Hecate back to the Underworld. Her spell can be broken by a declaration of love saled with a kiss.

Of the tribes of the Underworld, none is more foul than the dark cult known as The Order. With supernatural abilities to see all future events, the ORDER was once an all powerful demonic force in the Underworld, until their leader was destroyed by a powerful witch. The cultists to this day believe that their dead leader will be reincarnated; they alone possess the powers of upper level sorcerers. No witches, demons, or magical beings can stop these driven demons as they have gained even more demonic force and power over the years. Should a vanquish be necessary, it will require this Power of Three vanquishing Spell.

- Pinch of Carrot Seeds
- Dash of Cardamom
- 1 pig's foot (will ignite upon adding)
- 1 cockle shell in it's whole form
- 1 pinch of Juniper Berries

* Important, once these ingredients have blended as one, for the potion to work, you must add a piece of the demon's flesh to the ritual brewing pot. Beware: for when the flesh has been put into the pot, take a step back as the flesh will cause a powerful explosion.

Undead

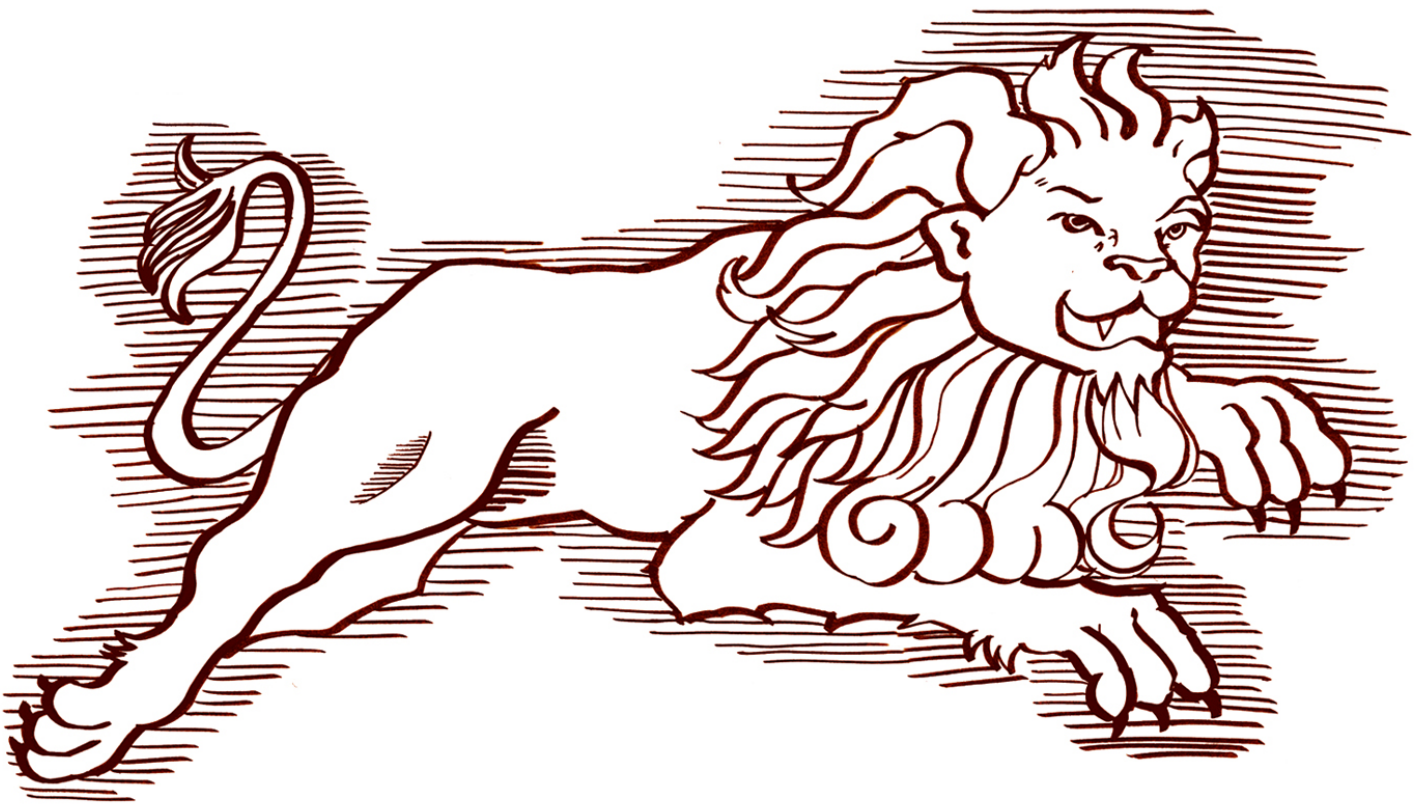

The Demonic Alchemists have the power to control the dead, but not the power to bring them back to life. In order to restore life they need the aid of an Upper Level Demon. Although the animated dead are not very difficult to destroy they should still be viewed as a threat because they usually serve a greater demonic purpose. A basic low level vanquishing potion will send them back to their eternal rest and this spell will vanquish the Alchemist Demon...

Ghosts, Poltergeists Hauntings

The term "ghost" conjures up an image, peaceful or tortured, of the spirit of someone who has died. It is generally assumed that the dead, if restless and returned from the grave, would be attracted either to their relatives, people with whom they had some close association during life or to places that had a special meaning to them. One theory holds that events imprint themselves on the substance of the environment. Because they are trapped in the fabric of time, their images are eternally reenacted. The spirits of the murdered are often said to return to the scene of their death as a reproachful or vengeful reminder Ghosts are not necessarily visible, frightening or ethereal. Indeed, many have been mistaken for solid, physical individuals.

Furthermore, ghosts may be perceived in a variety of ways, though often only visible to psychics, while non-psychics merely "feel" or "sense" their presence. If an individual possesses some psychic faculty, they may perceive the ghost by means of vision, sound or feeling. Ghosts can also be experienced through other sensory perceptions, including the perception of a change in temperature, movement and touch. There may be noises, voices, music or other sounds that suggest the presence of supernatural phenomena. Other indirect "sightings" include the mysterious appearance of writing or apports such as..

Categories of Ghosts and Spirits

Influences: the mildest form of ghost. They manifest themselves in a vague sort of "feeling" which adhere to places or occasionally to objects. often unpleasantly, but in no more tangible form.

Poltergeists: the noisy ghosts. These manifest themselves by destructive outbursts of energy, which cause physical results of various types, usually involving the destruction of household objects or laud noises. A poltergeist may manifest itself by moving or levitating objects.

Apparitions: the traditional ghosts, which are the shadowy figures that appear and disappear. They are often associated with historical locations. Some apparitions have been of the living, and others have been animals and objects, for example ghost ships, phantom animals or mysteriously appearing and disappearing objects.

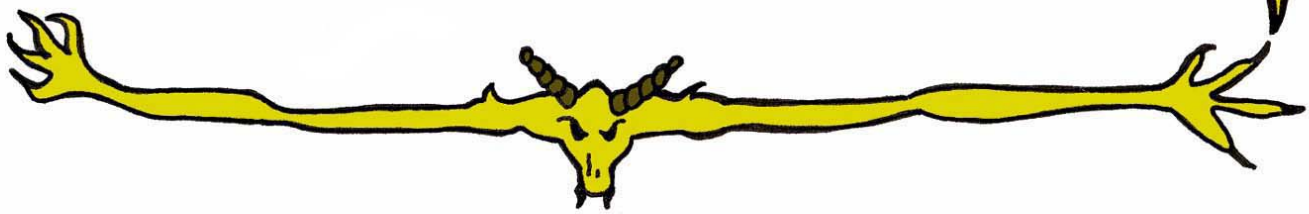

Phantasms of the living: are apparitions of people who are still alive, but who appear in one place while their physical body remains in other. Such apparitions usually indicate: people who are on the point of death, who manifest themselves to some one closely involved with them; or are people who are conveying some message of urgency (for example, the mother who appears to warn her child of danger) or people who are asleep at the time and who project their astral bodies accidently or intentionally.

Haunting: when the characteristics of apparitions and poltergeists are considered to result in psychic phenomena of an alarmingly high rate or nature.

To Send An Evil Ghost to Judgment

To render this potion, the witch who is to conduct the ritual must take a fearless inventory of that which she finds most foul. She must plumb the depths of her resources to concoct a combination of herbs and roots that are, to her own nose, the most grotesque and repugnant combination of odors.

These components, which are unique to the witch conducting the ritual must be boiled in a cauldron until they have become one with each other, and must then be combined with the mandrake root – which must be cut to resemble the broken bodies of the dead.

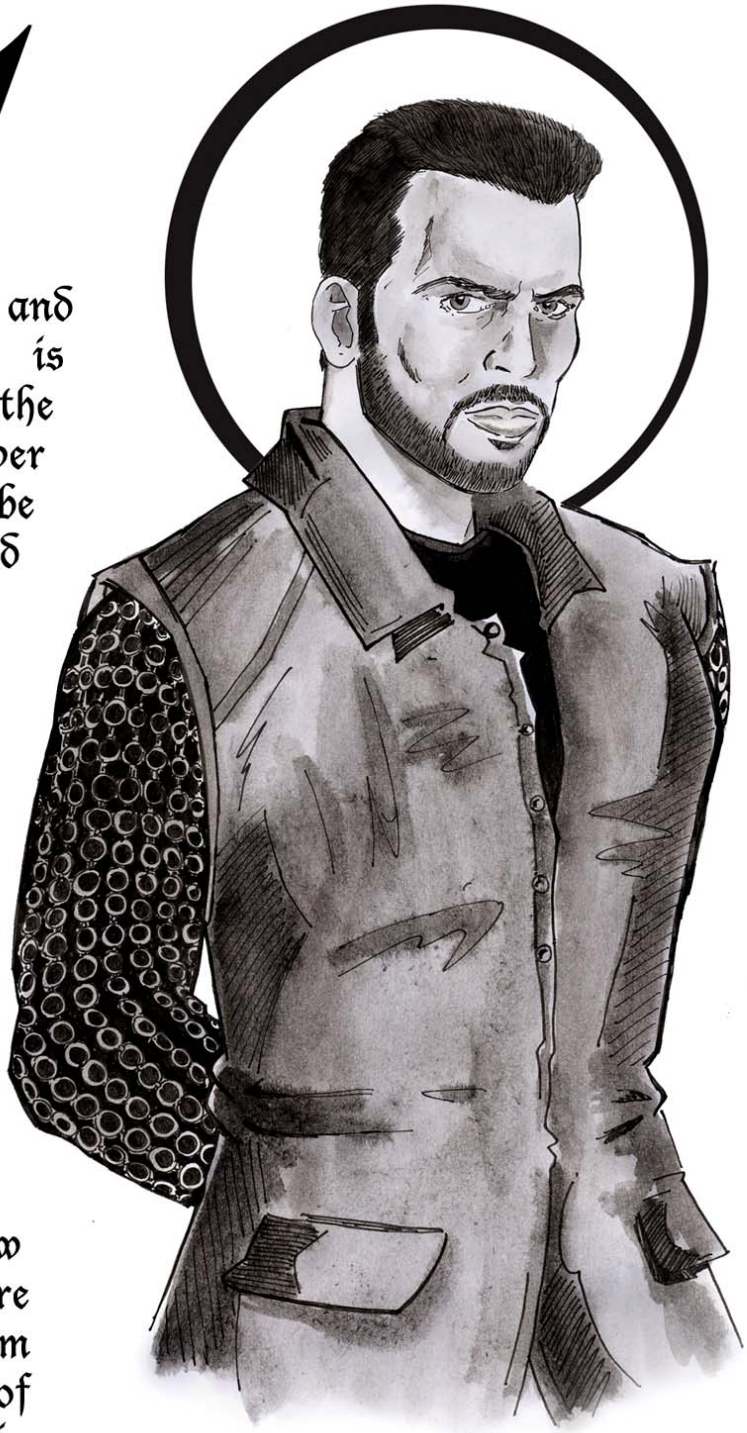

Zankou

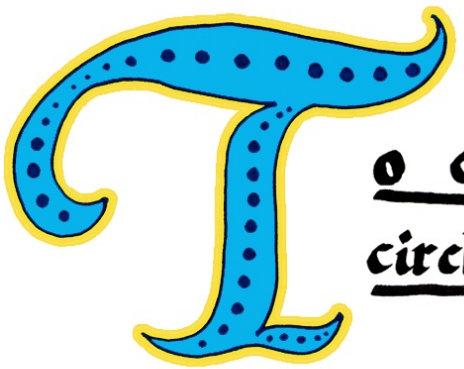

One of the most powerful Demons of the Underworld, Zankou is a threat to all that is good and feared even by his own kind. So great were his abilities and ambitions, he once contested The Source for control of the Underworld. But The Source imprisoned him within a powerful magical barrier. If ever freed, Zankou will be a threat to demons, witches and innocents alike. His powers go beyond the physical because he has the gift of prescience allowing him to know many future acts and giving him valuable knowledge of unfolding events.

Zankou

An extremely ruthless and intelligent demon who is considered to be one of the most vile demons to ever exist. He is known to be the mastermind behind such tragedies in recorded history as the Crusades, the September Massacres, and the Black Plague. Adding to his power, he has the ability to steal powers from other demons. Zankou's powers go beyond the physical because he has the gift of prescience as well, allowing him to know many future acts before they happen and giving him valuable knowledge of unfolding events. His immense power was so feared by the Underworld that The Source imprisoned him within a powerful magical barrier. If ever freed, Zankou will be a threat to demons, witches, and innocents alike. The wise witch will avoid this upper level demon at all costs.

the Demon of Fear

Also known as Barbas, he appears on earth once every 1300 years on a Friday the 13th for twenty four hours, though he is clever and cunning and will break these rules if the opportunity presents itself. He derives his force by feeding off the fears of witches. If he can kill 13 unmarried female witches before the stroke of midnight, he will be able to break free from his eternal bonds and walk the earth for all eternity.

A witch's only defense is to identify and then release her greatest fear. Do not rely on your wicca powers for defense, for in the face of your greatest fear, these powers are paralyzed.

Demons strive to improve their positions in the Underworld by destroying Good and promoting Evil. Upper-Level demons have a human form, and bleed red; they can also sense the Source's aura, a reminder of his power and reach. Killing witches and beings of Light allows Upper-Level demons to move up in the hierarchy of the Underworld; and these demons can only be vanquished by a potion of their flesh. It should be noted that fire-throwing is an Upper-Level demonic power.

Demons cannot dream, and have no natural "luck". Unlike their Upper counterparts, Lower-Level demons bleed green. Additionally, a rivalry has existed for centuries between warlocks and demons, though it is forbidden that they kill each other, due to Underworld law.

Krychek Demons

Low level and of little consequence,
Krychek Demons serve as shock troops for their masters in the Underworld.
They are easily identified by the neck tattoos marking their clan affiliation.

The Hand of Fatima

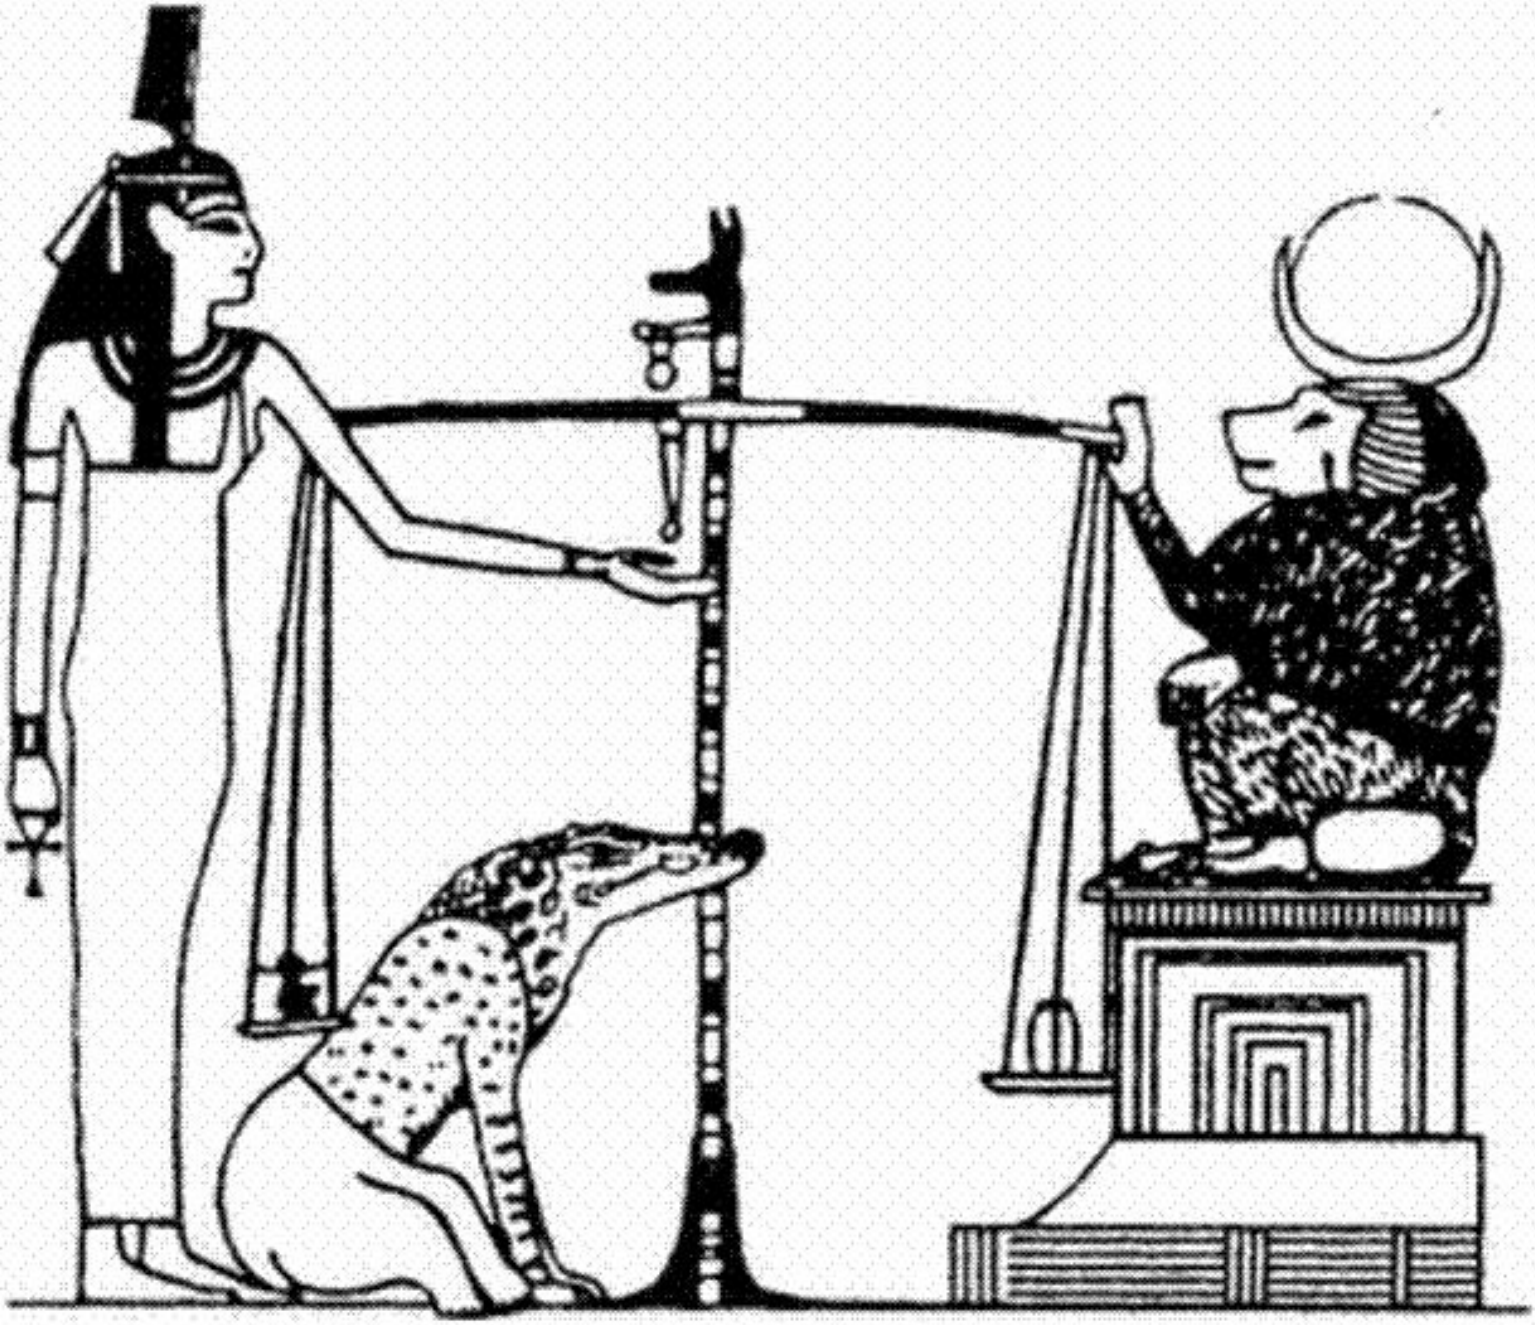

The Demon of Fear, also known as Barbas, appears on earth once every 1300 years on a Friday the 13th for twenty four hours. His appearance is attributed to the universal convergence of negative energies as derived from astrological charts. He derives his life force by feeding off the fears of witches. If he can kill 13 unmarried female witches before the stroke of midnight on the 13th he will be able to break free from his eternal bonds and walk the earth for eternity.

A witch's only defense is to identify and then release her greatest fear. Do not rely on your wicca powers for defense, for in the face of your greatest fear, those powers are paralyzed.

Tuatha, a good witch, in the late 1700s, turned evil and started to use her power against innocents. Fortunately, she was tricked by a Chosen One into a cave and entombed. Lore has it that once the witch is freed, her wand will come into her hands of a Chosen One, the seventh son of a seventh son. This mortal must use the wand to vanquish Tuatha since she cannot be vanquished by the powers of good witches. If Tuatha gains possession of her wand she will become invincible.

The Harpies are hags from hell, vicious shrews repulsive to behold. They torment their victim with unearthly screeches and wails, all the while scratching eyes and tearing flesh with their hideously long fingernails. Ladies of the night, Harpies may take the form of beautiful women to seduce their victims into lustfulness; but inevitably, as passions mount, they will reveal themselves, more often than not causing the death of their victims. If you find yourdelf in battle with one of these creatures be warned: when in battle they can either paralyze or kill their victims. In order to vanquish a Harpy you must use this spell:

"Claws of Pain we have to sever, Demon you are gone forever."

The Wendigo

The Wendigo is a non-dead creature that roams the earth destroying the good-hearted and those in love. His fate is to wander the Earth feasting on human hearts.

The first Wendigo was a mortal who was betrayed by his sweetheart. In revenge for the treachery, he slew his love and ate her heart. Rather than savour the warmth of revenge, his heart was in turn, turned to ice.

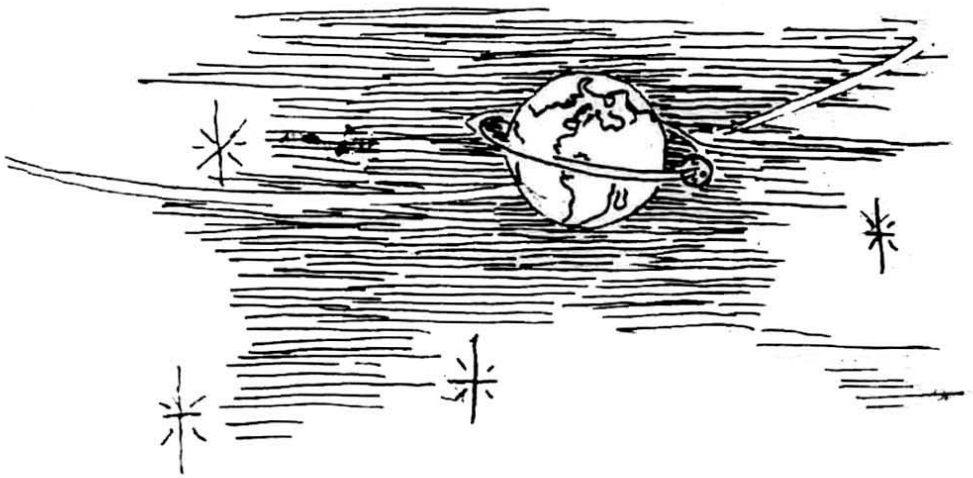

During daylight hours and the phases of the moon, the Wendigo looks as you or I.

Beware the Wendigo on the three days of the full moon when his strength and appetite are greatest.

Beware being attacked and injured. He duplicates himself by slashing, but not killing his prey.

The Seekers

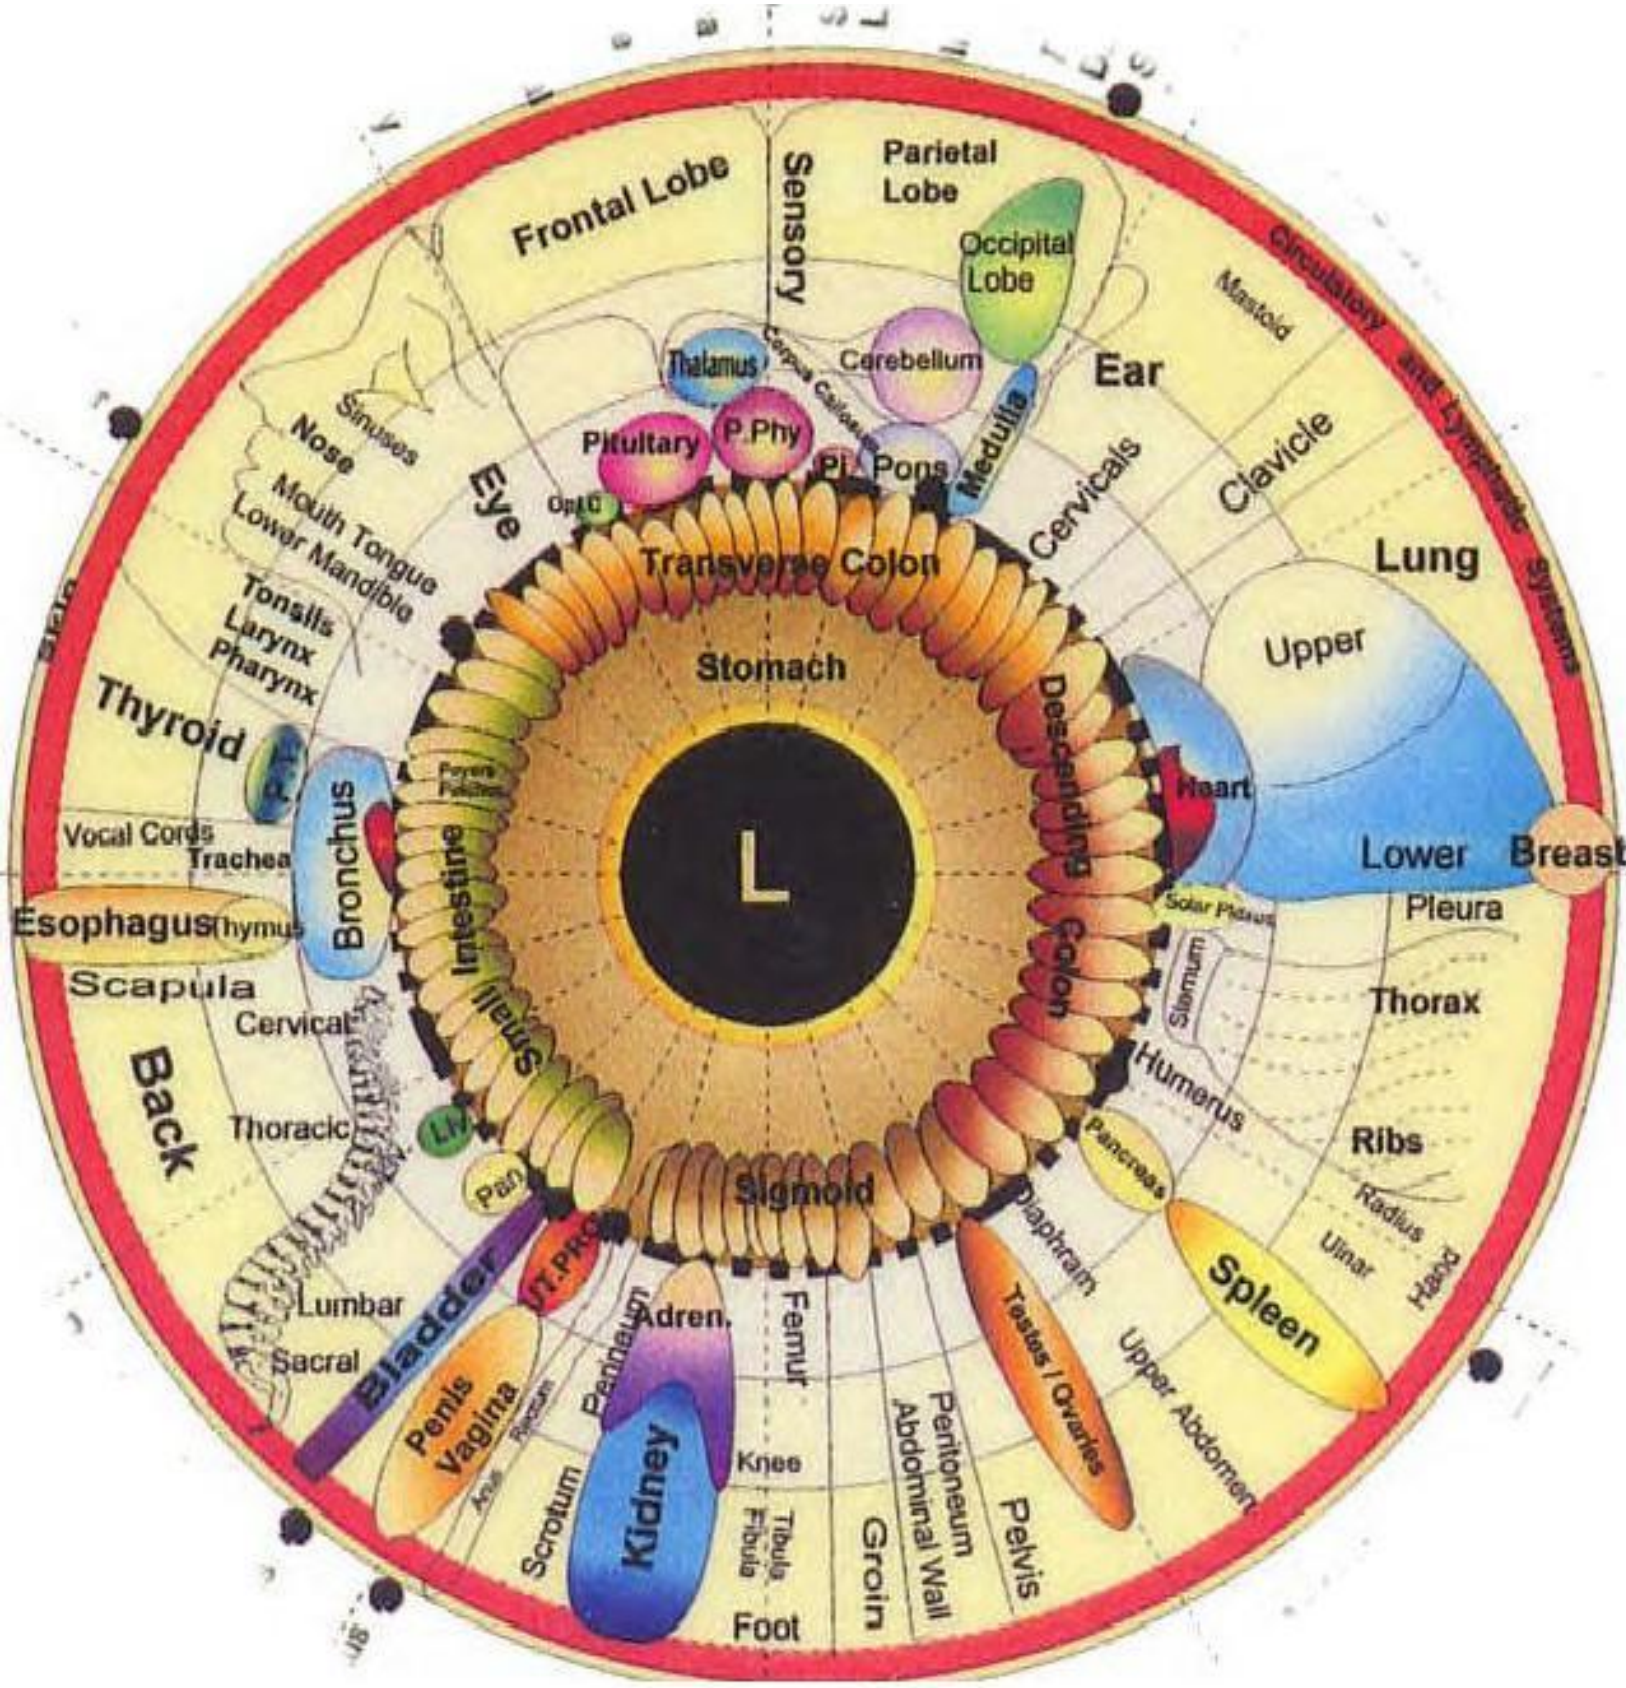

Distant cousins of Vampires, the Seekers gather information by feeding on their victim's brain-stem cells. These demons can be identified by their ability to float through the air and by their long, sharp teeth. A two pronged bite wound at the base of a victim's skull is usually a telling sign of a seeker's attack.

Vanquishing the Seekers requires the power of three and this spell:

Demonic Bounty Hunter

Driven by greed, these heartless low-level demons will stop at nothing to collect their bounty.

They have the power to fire energy balls and/or lightning bolts and can materialize at will.

Bounty hunters track down fugitive demons, but if the price is right they will go after anyone.

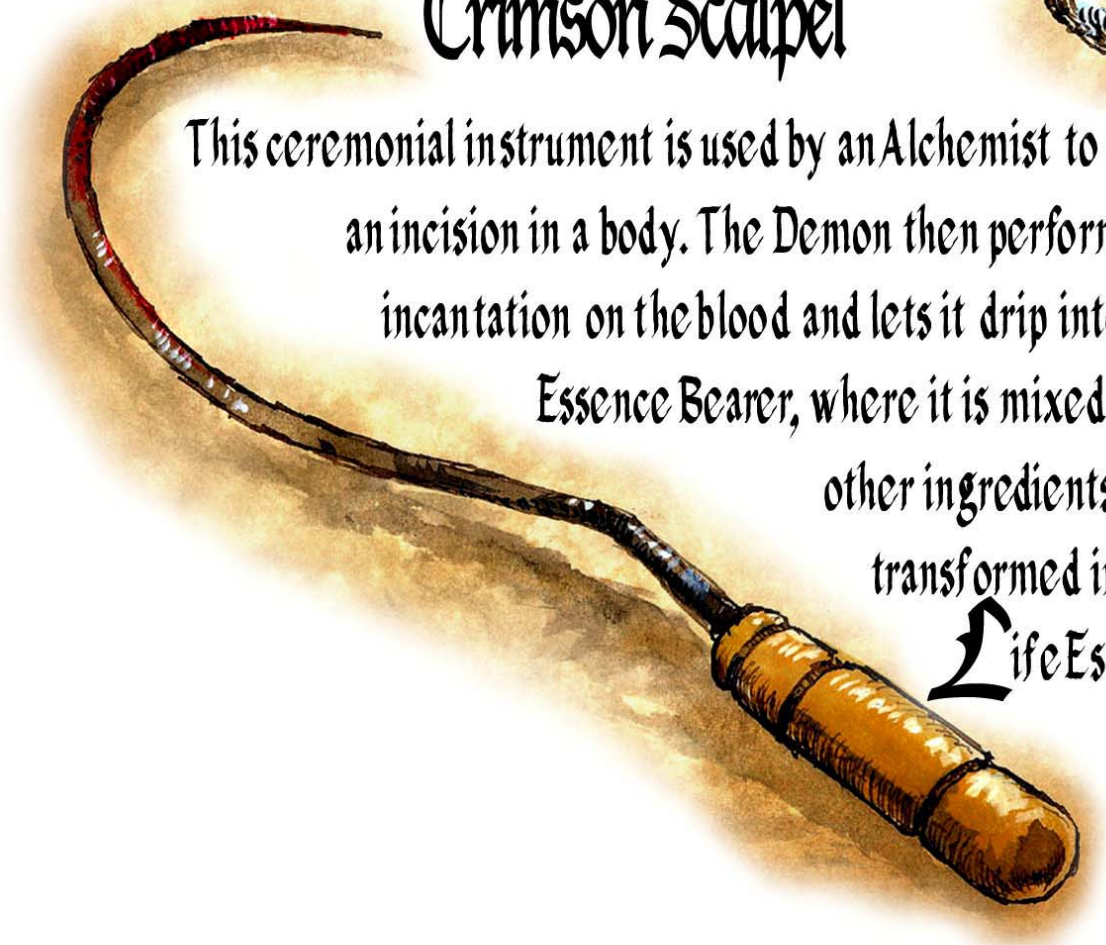

Alchemist's Tools

Essence Bearer

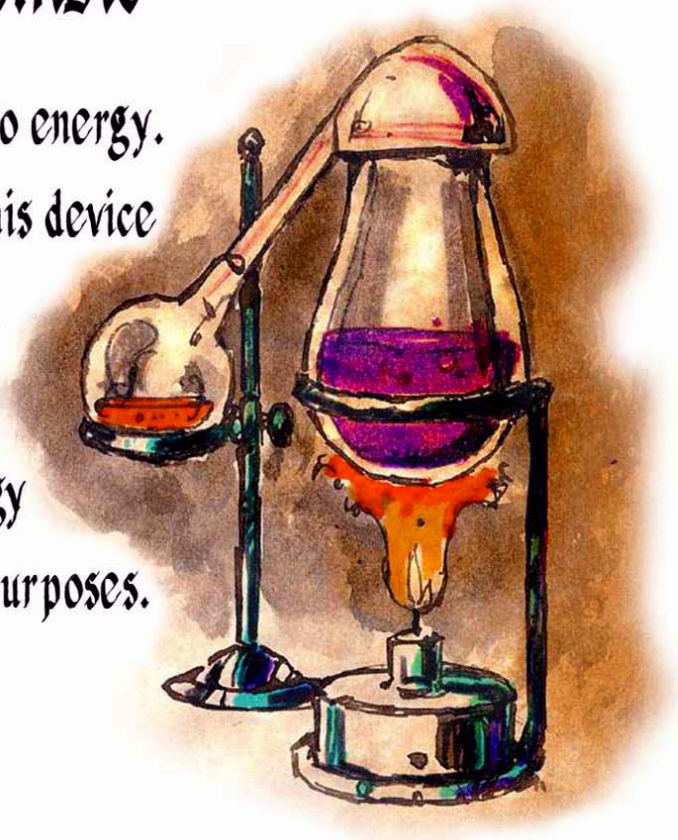

An Alchemist would use a bottle such as this to capture and/or store a Life essence. A Life Essence is comparable to a human soul, but made in a mixing lab. A well made Life Essence can possess any living being but would prove toxic and eventually lethal to the being's pre-existing Soul.

Crimson Scalpel

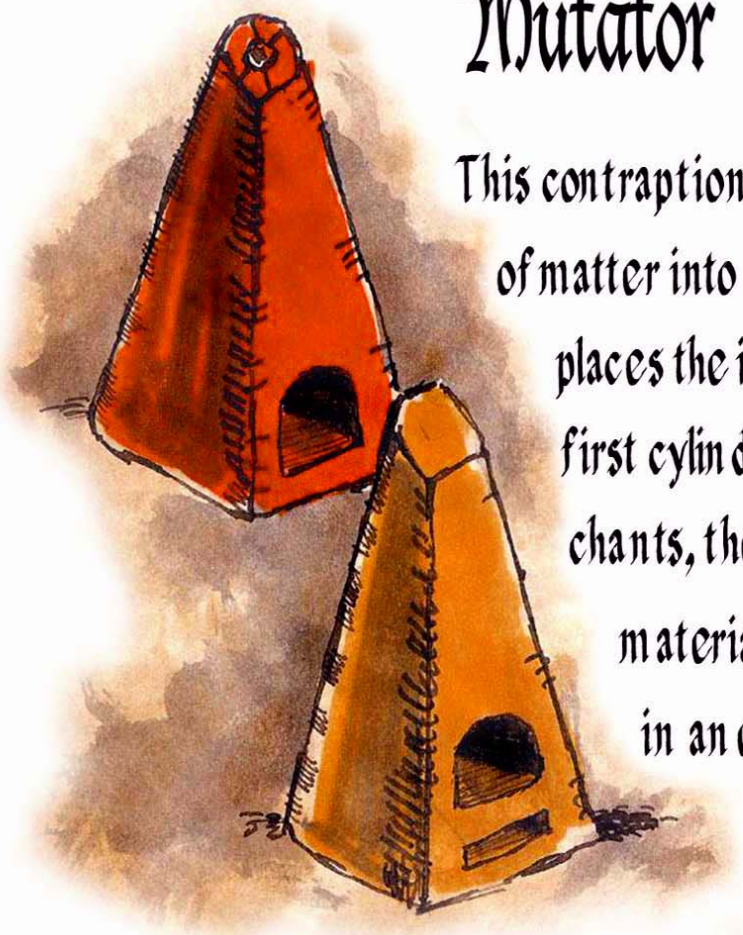

This ceremonial instrument is used by an Alchemist to open an incision in a body. The Demon then performs an incantation on the blood and lets it drip into the Essence Bearer, where it is mixed with other ingredients and transformed into a Life Essence.

Blazing Alembic

This apparatus transforms matter into energy. The Alchemist deposits matter in this device and heats it over a ritualistic flame. After the Alchemist invokes Dark Spirits, the matterdistills into energy which can be manipulated for evil purposes.

Mutator

This contraption transforms one type of matter into another. An Alchemist places the initial substance inside the first cylinder. Then, as the Alchemist chants, the substance magically materializes in the second cylinder in an entirely different form.

Alchemist Demons

Using metaphysical tools and Dark Magic, Alchemists can transform any substance into another.

For example, an Alchemist's evil Powers can turn Water into Gold and Energy into Matter.

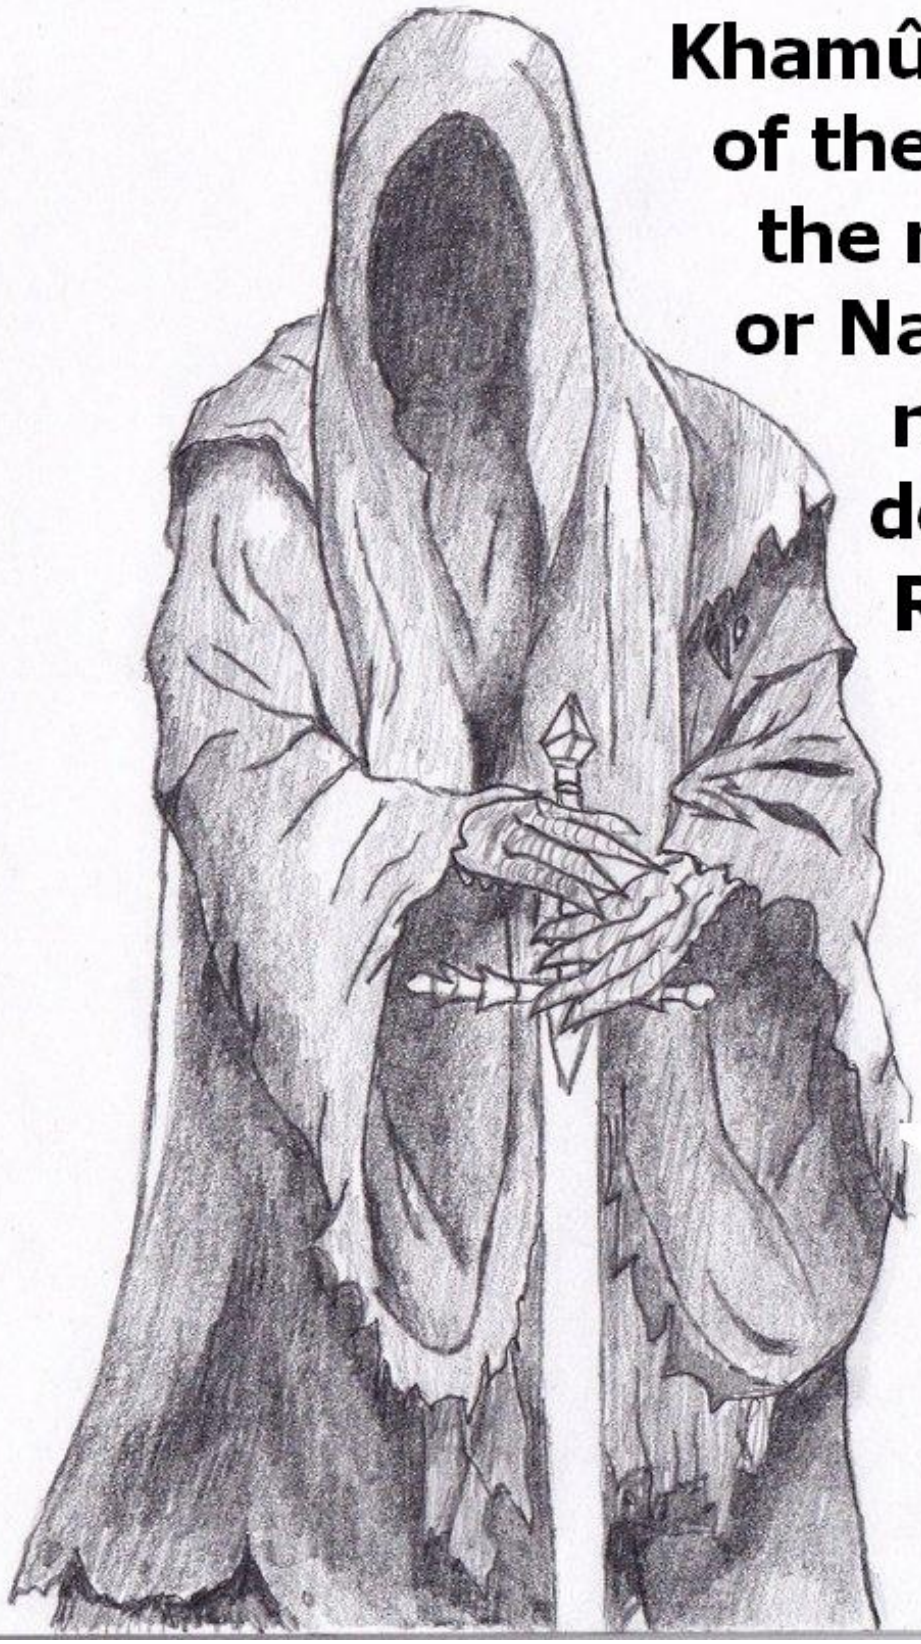

Similarly, these demons also have the innate ability to transform the Dead into the Living by calling the Souls back into corpses.

Hawker Demon

Hawkers prefer to stay in their stall selling but when customers demands and rates are high they are known to go out into the world to collect goods. Their natural prey is anything they can sell

The Ice Cream Man

In the guise of a man selling ice cream, this mortal is responsible for capturing demonic children. To lure his prey, the ice cream man plays the devils Chord which is a series of notes that when sounded together specifically attract demon kids like moths to a flame. Once lured, the ice cream man then sucks the demon youngsters inside the vehicle, where the children find themselves on a magikal playground and trapped in that world, the young demons must face the nothing.

The Nothing

This dangerous force exists in the magikal world within the ice cream man's vehicle. The nothing absorbs both good and evil beings without warning, leaving behind nothing in their wakes. Since this force does not discriminate in it's choice of victims, it targets innocents and demons alike. The ice cream man uses the nothing to vanquish demon children after luring them into his vehicle. Inside that magikal world there is no escape from the nothing. Sooner or later it comes for everyone.

Libris

In the demonic Hierarchies there are none more insidious than those who belong to this order... for the work of the Libris is to keep the world in Darkness and Ignorance. The haunting grounds of these monsters are found wherever humans have the potential to find unequivocal proof of the existence of Demons.

To vanquish one of their ranks a Witch must keep this rhyme close to her heart:

Libris die and leave no trace

the Seven Deadly Sins

Demonic Infectors keep Crystal Boxes that contain balls of each of the Seven Deadly Sins, bottled at The Source and by The Source. These Demons, who were once human and consumed by Sin in Life, use Sin balls to corrupt paragons of Good. Infectors target a victim's predisposition to Sin and magnify it with a Sin ball, leading to the victim's Self-destruction within hours. The Sin balls can only be disempowered by destroying the Infector.

Guardians of the Hollow

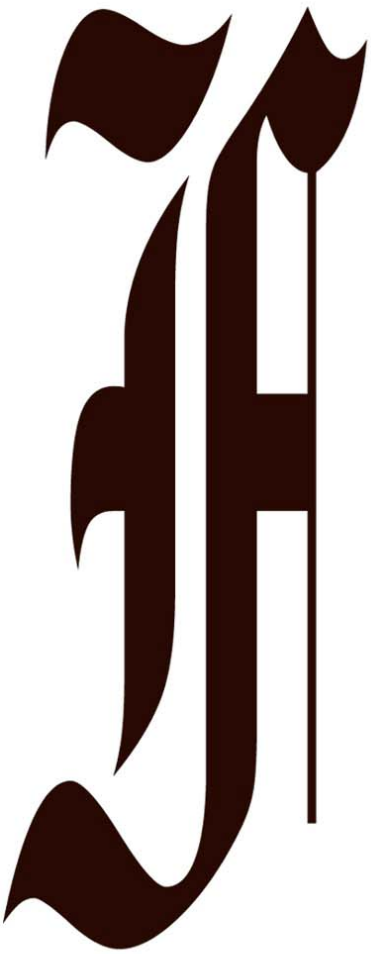

Thirty five hundred years ago, The Hollow was unleashed on the world. The Hollow is a force that has the power to consume all magical powers, good or evil, and is impossible to destroy.

While roaming the earth, The Hollow nearly decimated all magic. Good and Evil had to join forces and combine their strongest magic to contain it.

It was placed in an ancient crypt and is guarded by a representative from both sides, an Angel and a Devil, for all eternity.

the FURIES

like their mythic ancestores, these demonic women act
as judge, jury and executioner to anyone they consider an
"evil-doer".
they disable victims with their sharp talons and kill with poisonous smoke.

Note: when inhaled by a good witch the smoke seeks out a portal of unexpressed fury.
it then causes the fury to build consuming the witche's humanity and ultimately turning her into a fury.

Love spells have been known to backfire on a witch in some cases and cause the subject of the spell to act violent or insane.

If that happens , reverse all of the spells that you cast immediately.

Skeletal Beings are powerful demons extremely difficult to vanquish. Be warned that the last two, and maybe only, witches to successfully vanquish a Skeletal Being died in the process due to the explosive force of energy and power generated by one of these demon's demise.

the Academy

It is our belief that humans who enter into demonic contracts can be recruited into the Academy. This is the means by which The Source creates new Demons. The subject must survive a grueling physical ordeal to be admitted to the Academy. Following admittance, the subject begins a long and brutal training program which destroys Humanity and renders the subject Demonic. Upon completion of the program, the subject must kill an innocent in order to prove that the Demonic Conversion is complete.

Chevrons are earned as training progresses. Five chevrons are earned in the course of Academic study. A Sixth chevron, awarded for the death of an innocent, indicates the Demonic Conversion is complete. Additional chevrons represent great service to The Source and the increased Powers that are Bestowed in return.

Demon of Anarchy

Famous books such as the book of durrow the book of kells and the lindisfarne gospels were written by scribes in the 8th century in insular half -uncial or uncial script, executed with such mastery, the quill seems to move over the page with apparent ease. the scripts were written with the quill held at a flat angle to the vellum. they have pleasing roundness to the eye, are quick to write and easily read these monks leave us such a fine example of calligraphy and beautiful illumination that even by today's standards they cannot be equalled.

Jeric

A Demon known not only for his witch killing, but also for his rituals of mummification. His evil dates as far back as ancient Egypt and in the past few decades he has surfaced in the Middle East, Cairo, Istanbul and Tripoli.

He can be identified by the sand that is left behind in the wake of his dematerialization.

The Autumnal Equinox is one of the more powerful Wiccan days of the year. When the sun crosses over the equator it creates a unique connection to nature, to ourselves, and to other planes. Witches believe there are seven planes of existence and this day allows them to coexist with all of the planes, to be as one.

The Spring Equinox, Summer Solstice and Winter Solstice are similarly celebrated.

The Mothman

Andras

Andras, the Spirit of Rage, uses anger as a portal to enrage his victims until they commit a grievous act of violence. Although the rage leaves the victim after the act is committed, the violence usually serves a greater purpose, making Andras a powerful foe, The Spirit of Rage has used his abilities to incite wars that lasted for decades and redefined continents.

In addition, due to the insidious nature of his work, Andras can be extremely difficult to detect. But because he has not yet ascended to full demonhood, this low-level spirit is vulnerable to the powers of greater supernatural beings.

To Promote Compromise

eflection

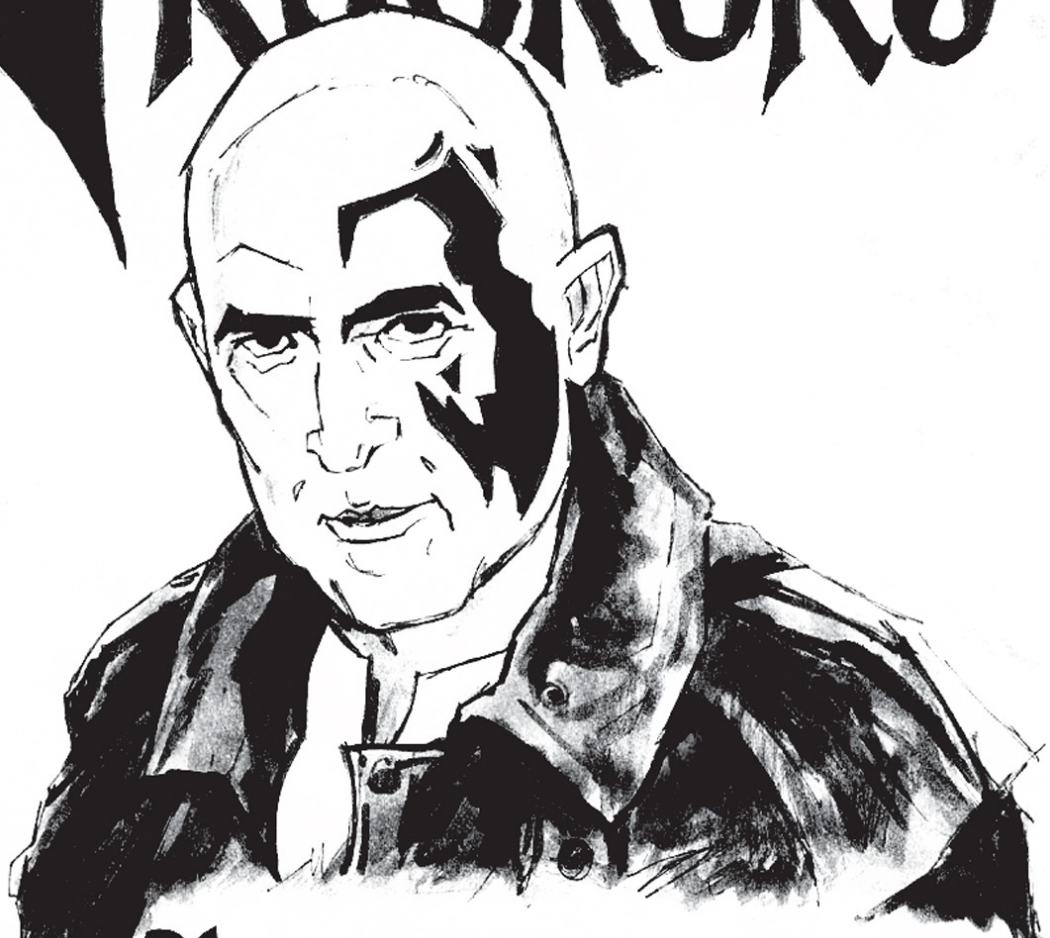

Bestowed upon one witch in a generation, the Power of Deflection is a witch's best shield against the forces of Darkness. Deflection can be used against all Supernatural powers, including those of Good, and, potentially, it could be manipulated to defend Evil as well. Like a shield, the Deflection power must be consciously activated; therefore, a Witch with this power is vulnerable when unaware of an impending supernatural attack.

The Source, or Source of all evil, is the antithesis to all good; the demonic opposite to the Elders. The Source rules the Underworld and holds power over all the evil within. The Source is not a single, eternal entity; rather, when a Source is vanquished, a coronation ceremony is held to raise a new Source from the ranks of his minions.

The victims slowly become more and more unstable, and depending on the victim, their inner problems will begin to surface as realistic hallucinations. However, when the wraith is killed, the venom has no longer effect.

Wraiths are relatively easy creatures to vanquish, mainly because of their extreme weakness to silver and basic potions.

to be chanted thrice.

The power of invisibility is a great gift, not to be taken lightly. It can be used as a formidable weapon against Evil in all it's guises. Though, if you do not possess the power by nature, use this spell to cloak yourself:

"Powers of Magic, far and wide,
I beg thee now, help me to hide,
By the words of the Sisters three,
Grant upon me, the power of invisibility"

Should the power become a problem, or if this gift was placed upon you in wrongdoing, you can use this spell to reverse it, although, not always is the power removed, but shifted to another magical being:

"Let the unseen one, now be seen
Hear my call, let her now return
So that her existence is reaffirmed"

Harpies follow their queen through her trials and tribulations to gain more footing in the demonic ranks of the Underworld. These leather-clad warriors attack their intended innocent with the ability to shoot light darts powerful enough to penetrate your very bones. These demons also possess sharp, talon-like claws, which they use to shred flesh. Immune to the powers of witches, the harpies also possess excellent fighting skills, and can only be vanquished by the power of three, and by the adjoining spell:

If that happens , reverse all of the spells that you cast immediately.

...Phoebe had become somewhat of an expert on the subject. As for me? Life without demons opened up similar avenues. Henry, of course, continued to look after his parolees, even if they didn't want to be looked after, while still making time to help me with Little Henry and the twins -- which allowed me time to finally embrace my inner Whitelighter...and to help the next generation of witches come into their own...

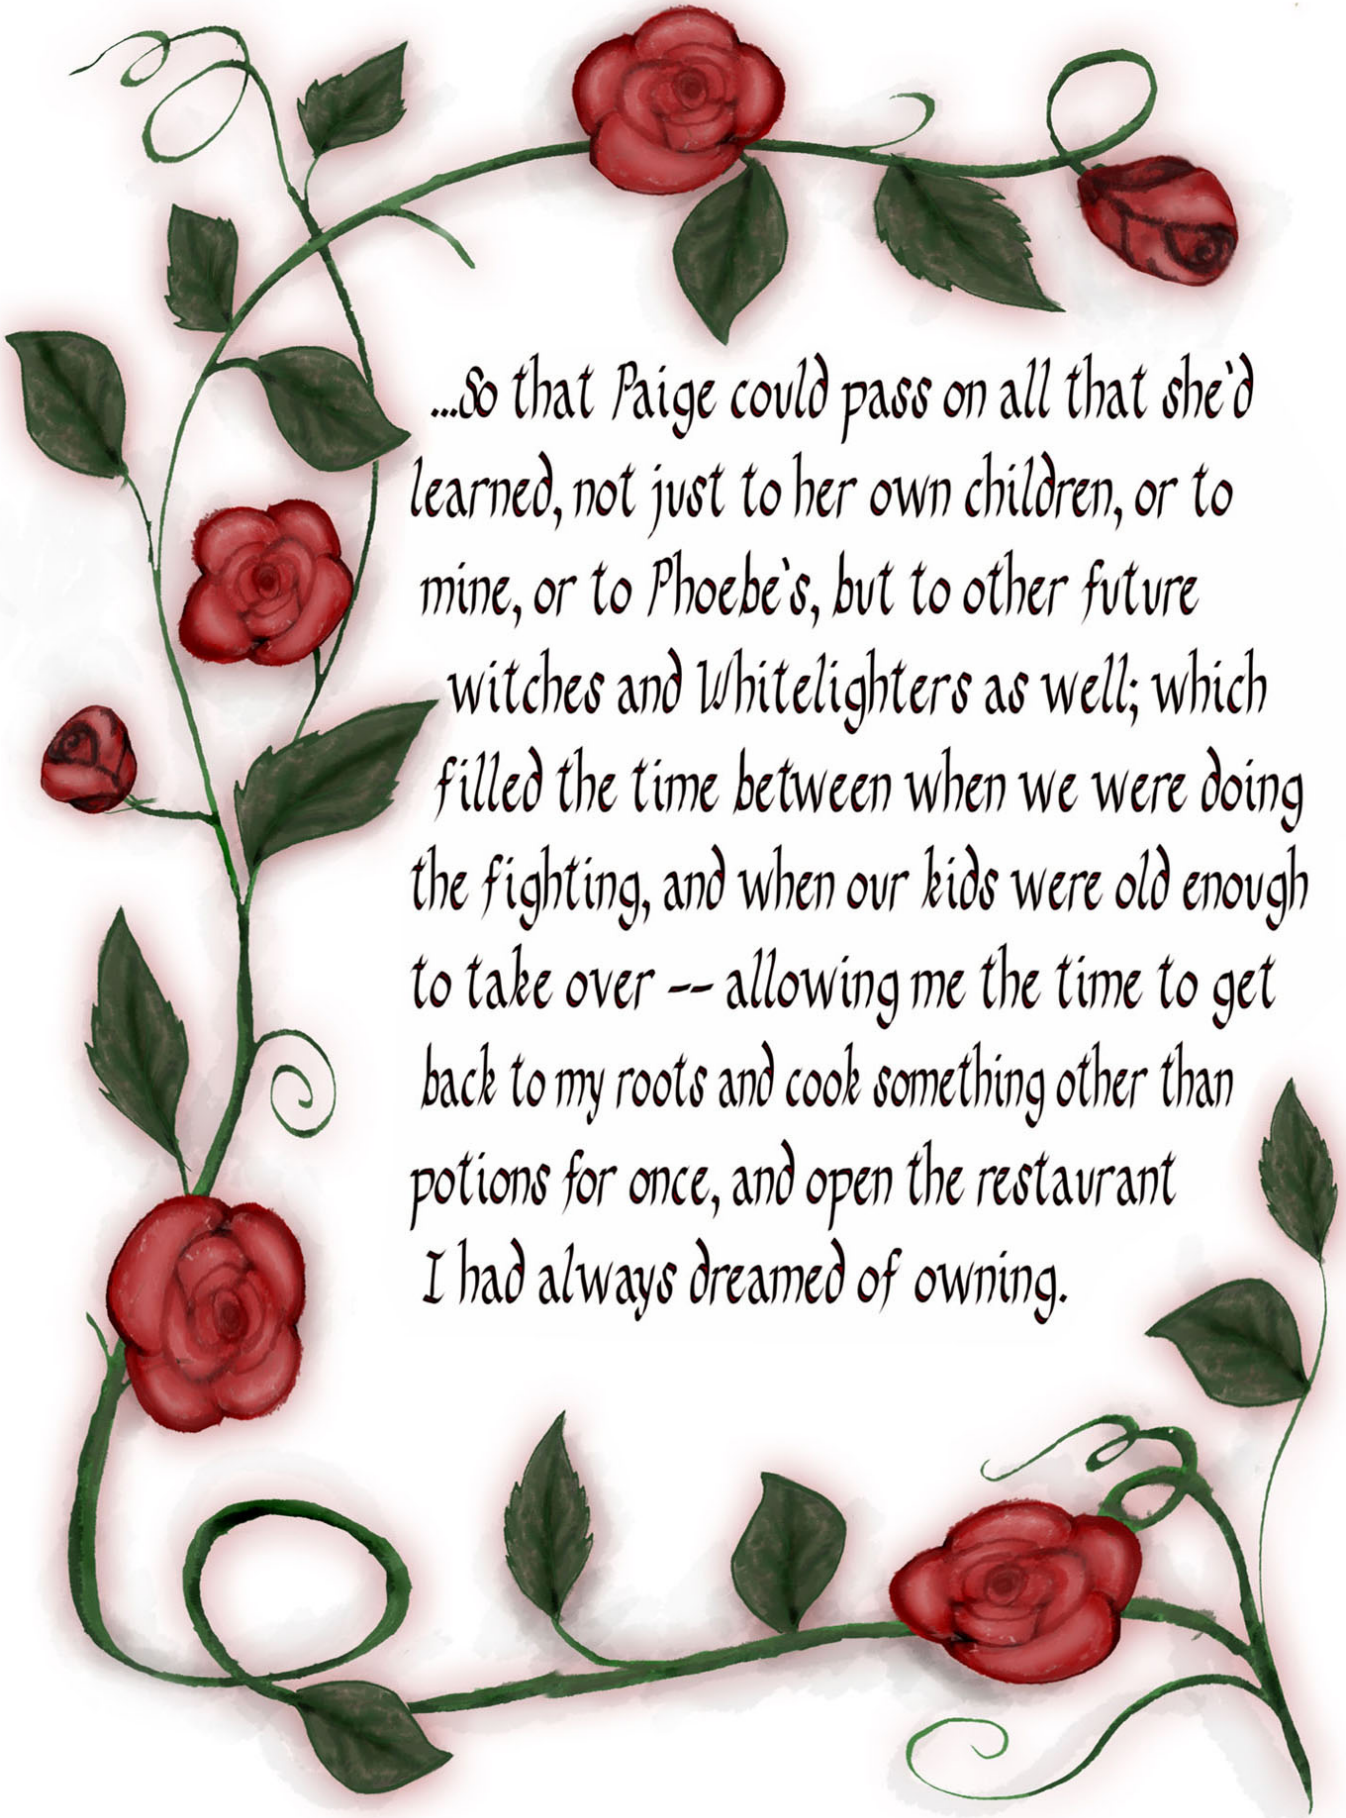

So much has happened over the last eight years; so much has been gained -- and lost.

Still, in some ways, I feel like my life is really just beginning. And it was.....

For though I had loved before, I'd never really known love until I met Coop: a man who I shared this special little girl I had long ago foreseen, but feared I might never have...along with two other special little girls I had not foreseen. I was suddenly so blessed to have a new family of my own, and old friends to share it with.

And though I kept working and giving advice to those who asked, I was more interested in helping them find love, since finally having been loved....

...So that Paige could pass on all that she'd learned, not just to her own children, or to mine, or to Phoebe's, but to other future witches and Whitelighters as well; which filled the time between when we were doing the fighting, and when our kids were old enough to take over -- allowing me the time to get back to my roots and cook something other than potions for once, and open the restaurant I had always dreamed of owning.

As for Leo, after we reclaimed
Magic School, he went back to teaching, which he continued to do until it was time to

And although we certainly had our struggles and heartaches over the years, we're a family of survivors, and we will always be...
which is why we've truly been...
Charmed.
