

DAdventure - Prototype Test Guide

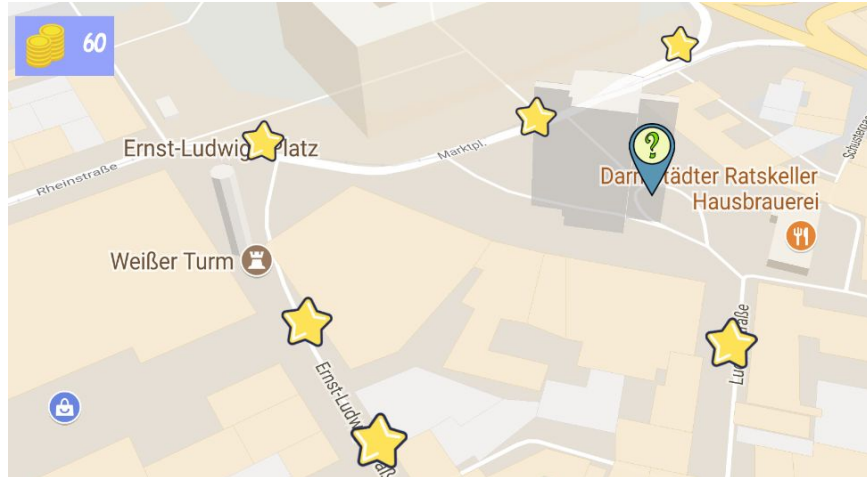

This is the test guide for prototype version of DAdventure, a gamified tourist experience. With the app, you can visit and explore Darmstadt while also obtaining playful, interactive information for points.

Example steps on how to test it:

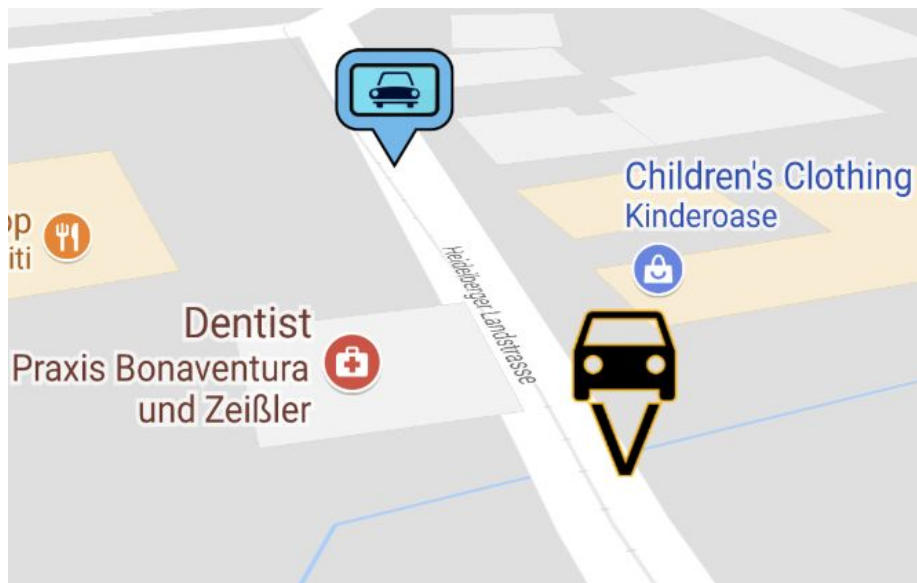

- Open the application and allow access to location data.
Ensure you also have internet connection
- Visit one of the Points of Interest on the map
- Play the games there
- You can also find out hidden Points of Interest when you are on a different mode of transportation
- Visit another Points of Interest if you wish to continue after clearing the game
- Fill out the feedback form

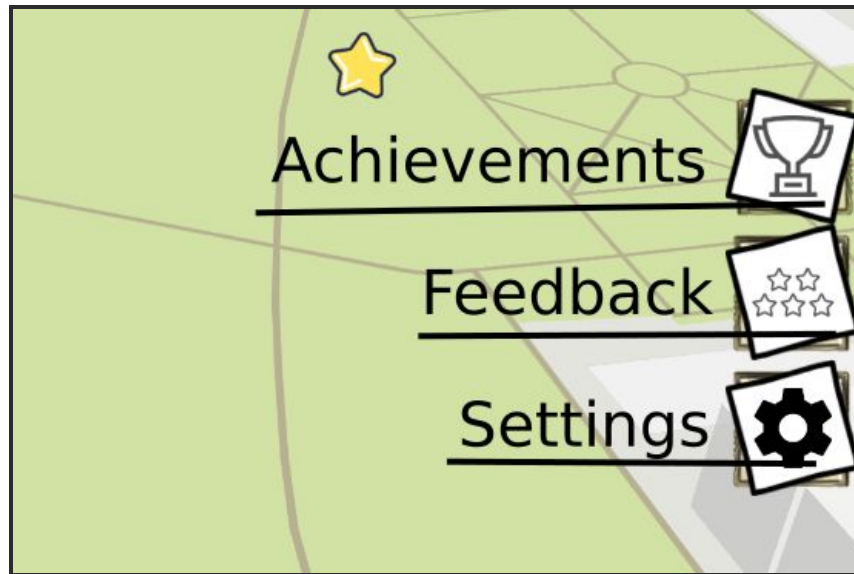

Before you play, please make sure to turn on your GPS, as the game enables content and games based on your location. You also need to have active internet connection to play.

Darmstadt is your playground. Explore, collect stars and points, visit places, and play games there.

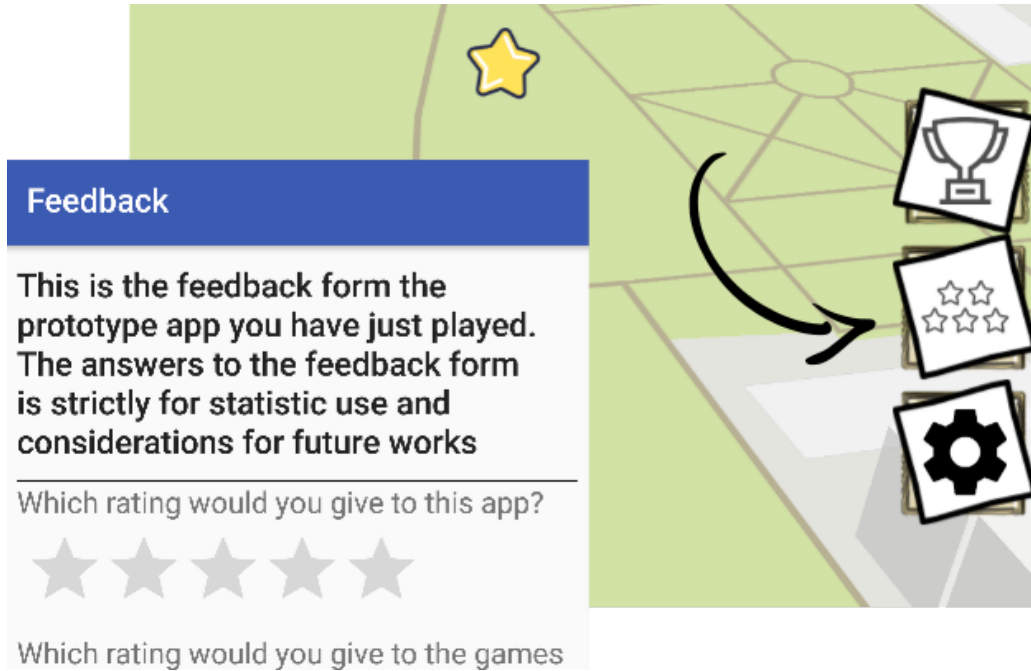

Your mode of transport is displayed on your location. Find hidden games in different transport modes. At this prototype, only vehicles such as car or public transport that can display hidden point of interests.

Your unlocked places as well as user settings can be accessed from the right menu.

Play interactive, informative games when you are nearby a Point of Interest. Earn points for each game you completed

This is a prototype app, so your feedback is greatly appreciated for future works. Feedback form can be accessed from the side menu
