

Kindergarten Lesson Introduction to Addition

Today's kindergarten students are already learning addition and subtraction. While many parents may feel that's too early, the fact is that kids are learning more advanced skills at a younger age. This means as parents, you have to be ready to help them with these lessons.

Mathlingo is an easy to use website and app that teaches basic math skills. For young users, Mathlingo offers games that focus on number and shape recognition. It then shifts to subtraction and addition for kindergarten students. The games use only the first ten numbers, so they're not too overwhelming for young learners. Learn more.
