You can see three types of laser hair removal in the market.

- 1.Alexandrite (fast hair removing)
- 2.Nd: YAG (performing in all types of skin)
- 3.Diode (effective for dark skin)

The above three types have the same basic functions but the performance varies. The first two types are normally used in clinics as they are an advanced version of laser hair removal. Also, if someone has a very hairy body and wants to remove hair from other parts of the body, the Alexandrite is a better device for him/her as it is the fastest hair remover from all parts of the body.

A guide to performing laser hair removal device

If you want to avail this facility, take a look at the following. First of all, you need to go to an experienced and well-trained professional for hair removal as there are sometimes many complexities.

They know how to use a laser in the underarms area as the area is too short to work on it. When you make a decision for laser, you are required not to pluck or wax your underarm hairs for about five weeks as the laser will target the root of the hair and by plucking or waxing the roots are temporarily removed.

You will not go for a cheap laser as it is the matter of your skin and ultimately in case of any misshapen, you will pay for it a hundred times. If you have dark hair, then it is too much effective for you as it works well in dark hair arms.

Many people have the fear of being hurt during the process of hair removal, but if you use the correct tools, you will not feel any pain. It is better to shave the underarms before laser treatment but not to wax it. For a safe side, after treatment, you should take a little bit of medication by the approval of your doctor. This whole treatment will take half of your minute.

Laser hair removal has a complete treatment period, so you have to be in touch with your laser hair removal professional.

After your first successful treatment, you will feel your treated area burnt for some days. But you will not be afraid. Just a little bit moisturizing will help you out. The cost of laser hair removal varies for the area to area. We advise that you opt for the Bareskin device. (much cheaper in the long run and you don't have to leave your home to use it)

If you want to continue with the laser treatment, we suggest you come up with a time table and schedule for the next couple of months. Because it requires a couple of sessions if you want to permanently remove the hair from underarms or other parts of the body.
