

2020

Form from Nature

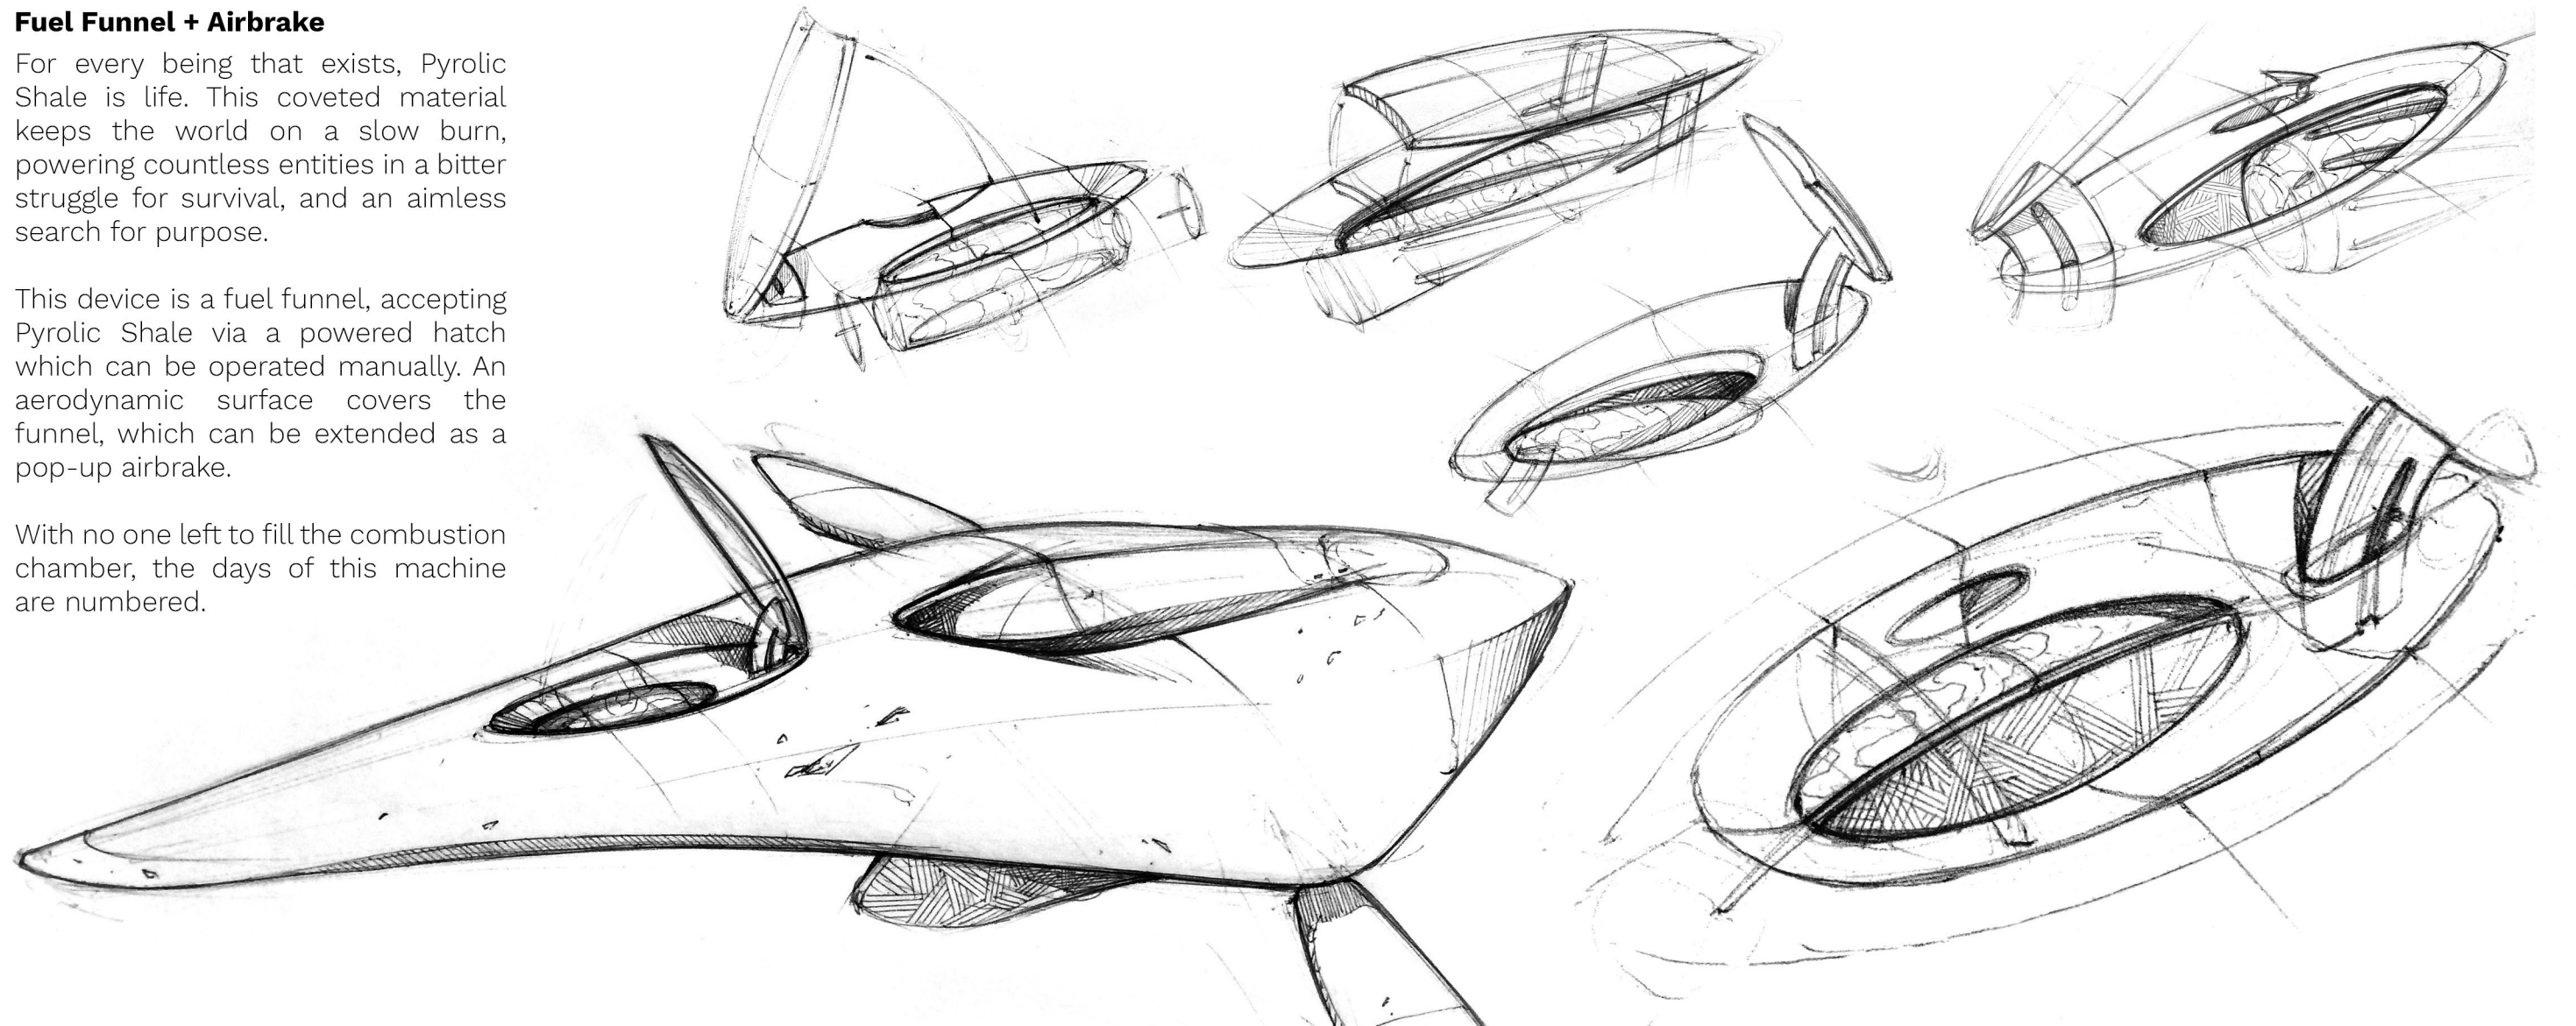

A manmade artifact long forgotten, on a quest to find purpose and meaning after losing everything to the Broken World.

Fuel Funnel + Airbrake

For every being that exists, Pyrolic Shale is life. This coveted material keeps the world on a slow burn, powering countless entities in a bitter struggle for survival, and an aimless search for purpose.

This device is a fuel funnel, accepting Pyrolic Shale via a powered hatch which can be operated manually. An aerodynamic surface covers the funnel, which can be extended as a pop-up airbrake.

With no one left to fill the combustion chamber, the days of this machine are numbered.

Shattered Connection

The forms can only function in pairs of black and white. Without each other, they are nothing. In the unforgiving Broken World, where survival is unlikely enough even with a companion, the White Form must find the strength to go on in the face of the greatest loss imaginable.

$$\left(\begin{array}{c} \text{White Form} \end{array} \right) - \left(\begin{array}{c} \text{Dark Form} \end{array} \right) = \emptyset$$

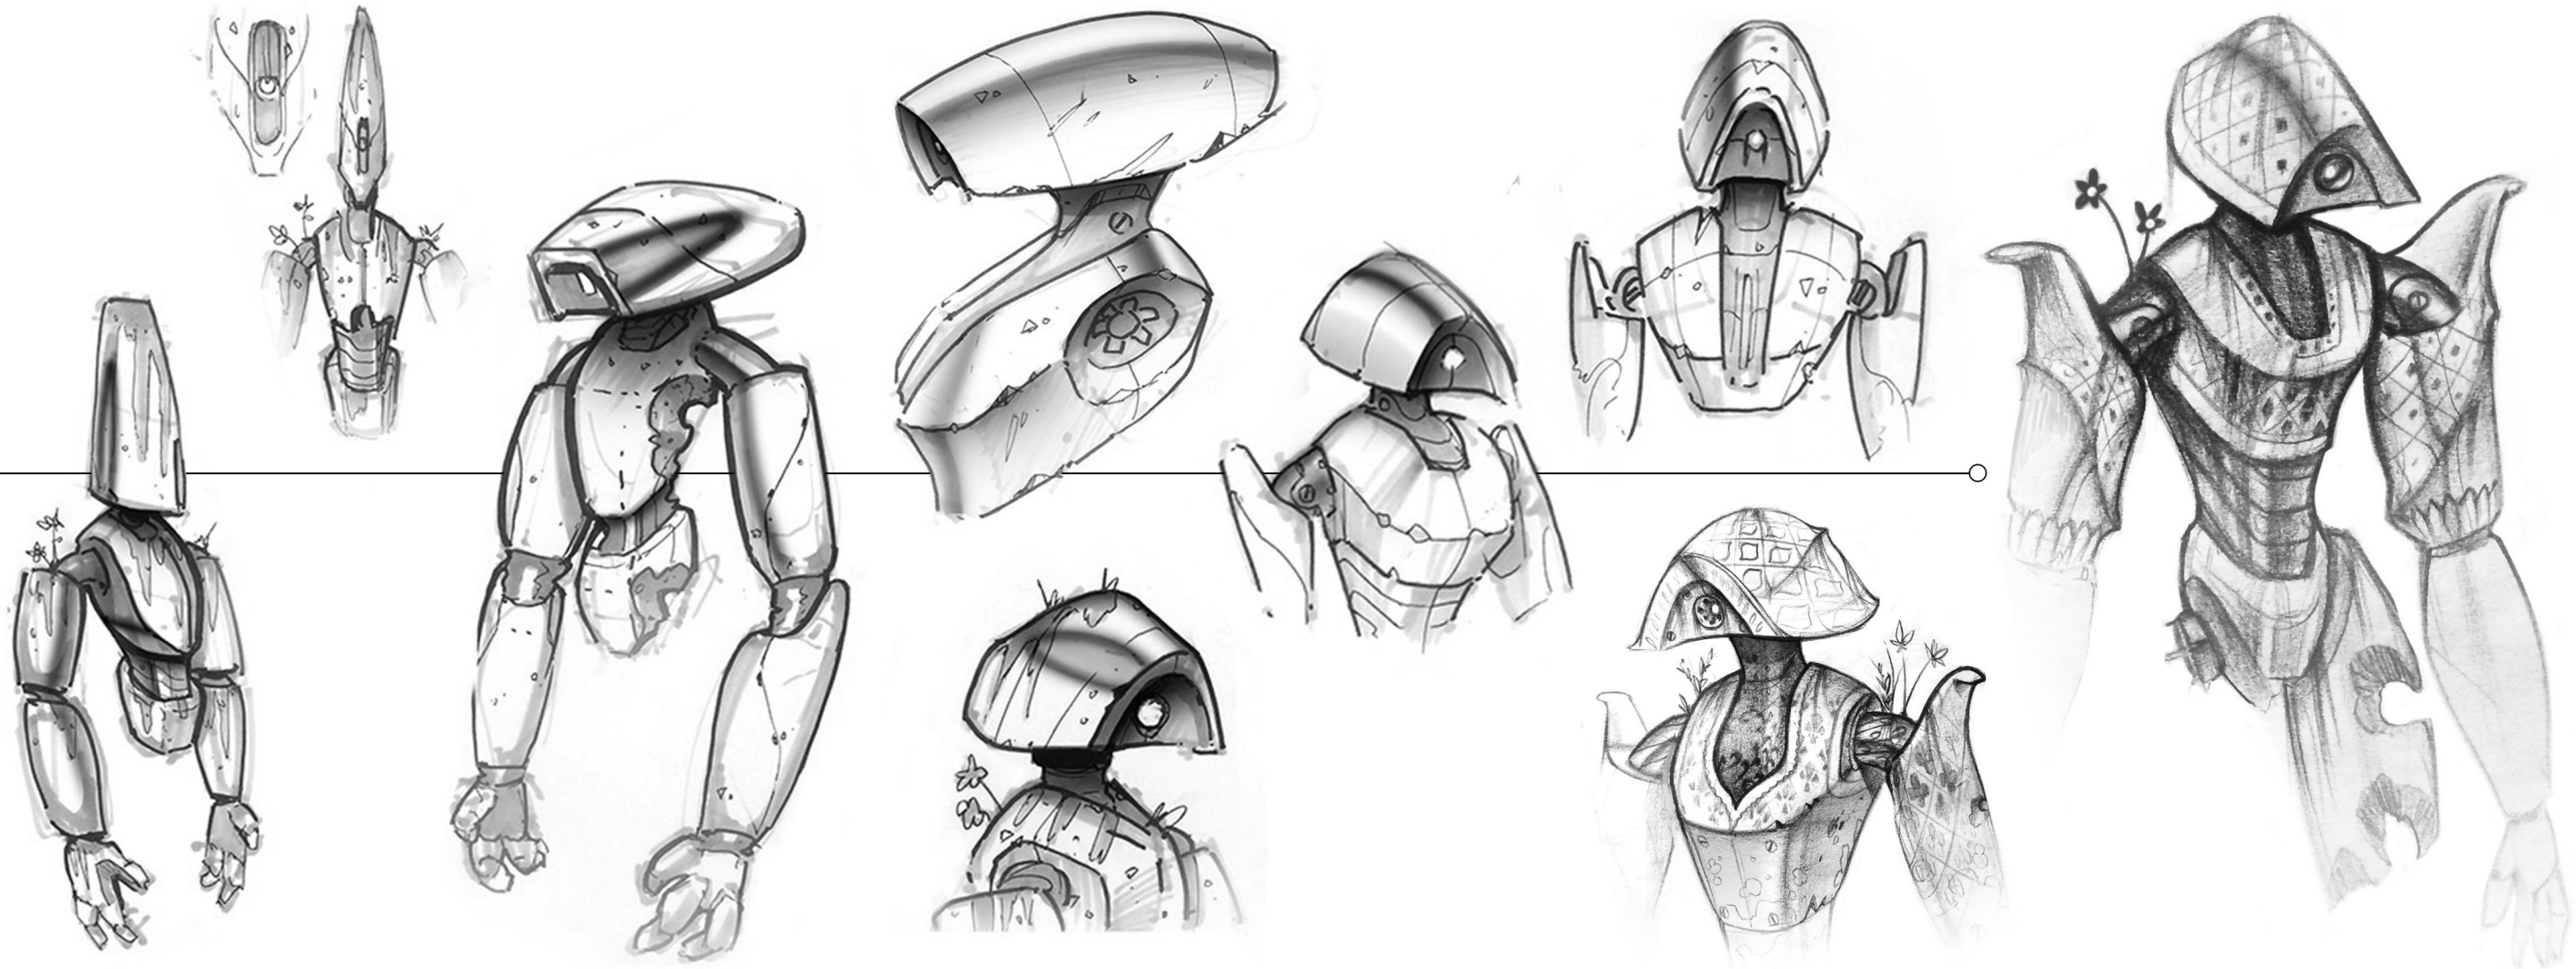

A

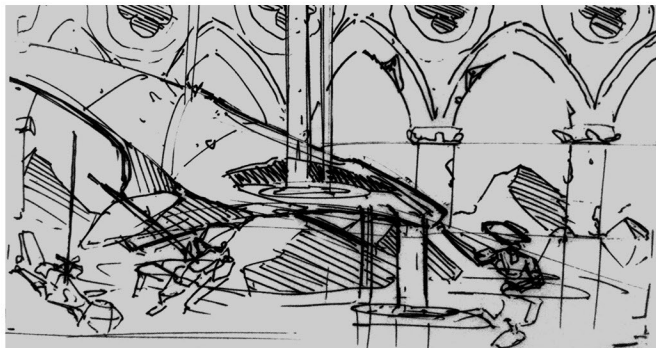

B

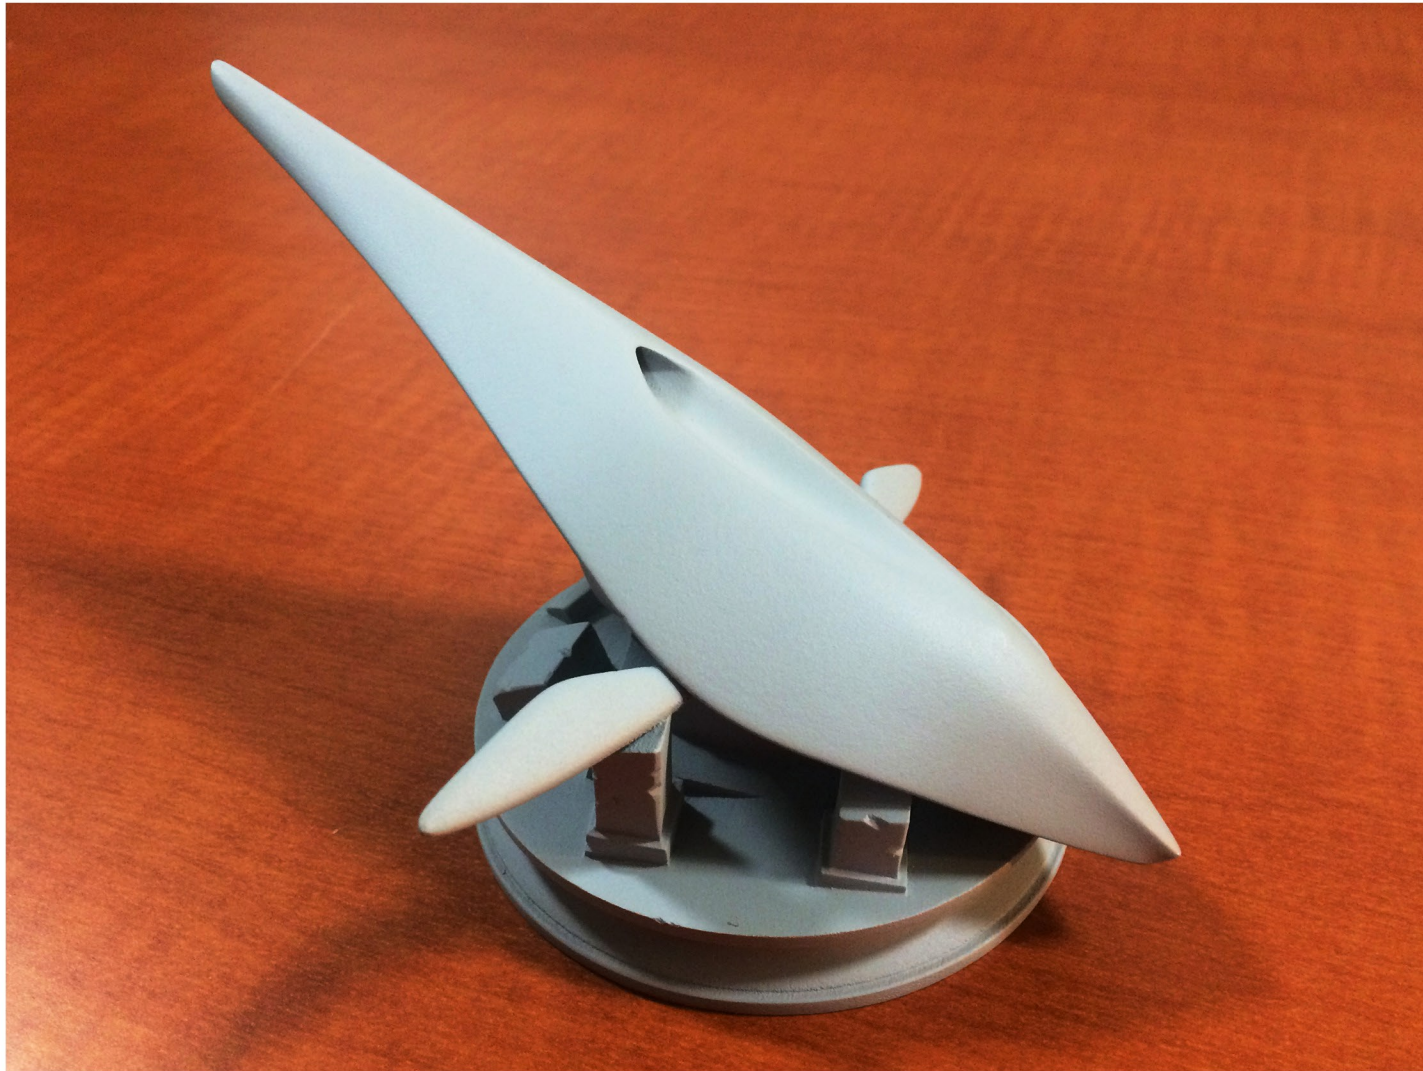

Rock Bottom

Things that no longer live. Things that have lost the will to live. Time and elements carry them all to the depths of rock bottom, eventually. The place where the world ends.

But for the White Form, rock bottom brings new hope for the future: a friend. The Machine Survivor can manipulate anything thanks to his arms, but centuries of corrosion has rendered him unable to walk. The White Form cannot maintain itself, but it is hollow and capable of flight. Their cooperation seems inevitable.

Nothing will replace the Black Form. But this new symbiosis might allow two survivors to soar to new heights, and challenge the Broken World.

Rock Bottom Sculpture

Modeled in Modo, printed with SLA (Objet).

Dimensions 7" x 4" x 4".

